ULSTER UNIONISTS QUIT HOUSE.

LONDON, March 2.—After declining an amendment proposed by T. R. Buchanan (Liberal) to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, declaring that the national expenditure is excessive and burdensome, the House committee spent the night in debating another Irish amendment, proposed by A. J. C. Donelan, regretting that the speech from the throne contained no promise to deal during the present session with the pressing need of improvement in the condition of laborers in Ireland. When the division was called the Ulster Unionists left the House amid Nationalist jeers. Mr. Donelan's amendment was rejected by the vote of 228 to 134. Premier Balfour then moved a closure, under which the address in reply to the speech from the throne was adopted, 235 to 175.

CROCKET SUGAR REFINERY SOLD.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—It is authoritatively announced that the Crocket Sugar Refinery has passed into the hands of the Hawaiian Sugar Factory Association, which has held the controlling interest on the concern for months past. The association, which is a combination of all of the leading sugar planters on the Hawaiian Islands, practically controls all of the cane production there. The plant at Crocket, which has been idle for years, will shortly be reopened. It is on a large scale, and can handle the cane product controlled by the association. The present transfer involves about $3,000,000.

CHEMISTS PROBING THE STANFORD CASE.

Dead Woman's Trunks are Searched but No Poison is Found.

Opinion of Most of the Honolulu Investigators is That the Crime, if Any, Was Committed in San Francisco. Police of Latter City Ready to Take up Any Clew That Offers—Bottle Came from Australia.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HONOLULU, March 2.—[By Pacific Cable.] The police investigation into the death of Mrs. Jane L. Stanford is practically at a standstill tonight. High Sheriff Henry is without a theory as to the cause of her death. It has been expected that the report of the chemists on their analysis of the contents of her stomach would be made tonight, but the chemists announced that they had not concluded their investigation and would not be ready to make a report before tomorrow morning. It is probable that the inquest will commence tomorrow afternoon.

High Sheriff Henry said: "I am utterly unable to formulate any theory that would account for this tragedy. The San Francisco papers which have just been received, containing fuller accounts of the alleged poisoning case of January 14, have not been of any help to me. I am awaiting results. The analysis of the stomach and the contents of the bicarbonate of soda bottle, together with the inquest which will follow, may develop some new facts. When these chemical analyses have been completed, I shall have all the other medicines of Mrs. Stanford similarly analyzed. Her medicine chest contained a number of bottles, but I believe that the bicarbonate one was the only one in which it was possible to conceal strychnine."

This afternoon, Sheriff Henry, Judge Stanley and Miss Berner at the Hotel Moana went through all of Mrs. Stanford's trunks, which had been packed, locked and sealed preparatory to shipment. A theory suggested here is that Mrs. Stanford accidentally took a wrong dose of medicine by mixing the strychnine with the bicarbonate of soda. Sheriff Henry says that there was no strychnine among Mrs. Stanford's medicines found in the chest.

The opinion of most of the investigators here is that if there has been a crime at all it was committed in San Francisco, and possibly at the same time that strychnine is said to have been placed in the mineral water.

POLICE IN READINESS.

CAN INVESTIGATE IF REQUIRED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The police authorities of this city were tonight expecting a cablegram from Honolulu informing them of the result of the chemical analysis of the contents of the stomach of Mrs. Stanford, and until that report is in their possession no active move will be made and not then unless there is strong indications that a crime has been committed. Yet the police have not been idle in the matter, and every preliminary detail has been attended to, so that if developments warrant, systematic and direct investigation may be immediately made. The names of every attainable witness have been secured, and the death of Mrs. Stanford, together with the earlier stories of poisoning, have been quietly probed into, but no formal action has been taken.

Captain of Detectives Burnett said tonight: "I have a number of men in readiness to start out at once should the report of the Honolulu chemist justify such action. But as yet we do not know positively the manner of Mrs. Stanford's death, and I do not like to place the department in the position of pursuing a murder investigation when the facts to come may demonstrate that a crime has not been committed."

The statement that there was no less than 662 grains of strychnine in the bottle of bicarbonate of soda from which Mrs. Jane Sanford took a dose shortly before her death has aroused the detective force. The bottle containing the bicarbonate of soda and its death portion originally were purchased in Australia. But, according to Miss Bertha Berner, Mrs. Stanford's private secretary and the maid, May Hunt, the bottle was refilled in this city at a local drug store.

Dr. G. W. Stevens, a medical expert, today made this positive declaration: "Six hundred and sixty-two grains of strychnine easily would kill 662 persons. The maximum dose administered is only one-fifteenth of a grain, while the average is one-fortieth of a grain."

Louis Falkenau, who made the analysis of the mineral water drunk by Mrs. Stanford last January, and which was poisoned with strychnine, said today: "Strychnine and bicarbonate of soda cannot be detected easily. Soda has a crystalline appearance and looks something like strychnine. It would require an expert to detect the presence of strychnine, but it could be done very readily."

The finding of the large amount of poison in the bicarbonate bottle puzzles Mrs. Stanford's relatives and attorneys in this city. Mountford S. Wilson, chief counsel for her, and C. C. Lathrop, her brother, today declined to make any statement until they had received direct advices from Honolulu. They held an extended conference with D. O. Mills, but would not discuss the matters under consideration, though it is intimated that Mrs. Stanford's will was mentioned.

BOTTLE OF STRYCHNINE.

LAY UNPACKED FIVE WEEKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HONOLULU, Mar. 1, 10:20 p.m.—[By Pacific Cable.] (Delayed in transmission.) Mrs. Highton, wife of Henry E. Highton, the well-known San Francisco lawyer, says that Mrs. Stanford cried when telling her of the attempt which had been made to poison her in San Francisco, and said that she could not conceive why anyone should try to do so. During a discussion of spiritualism, Mrs. Stanford said she believed in spirits, and intended to establish a department at Stanford University for the investigation of psychic phenomena.

Miss Berner, her secretary, says in regard to the alleged attempt at poisoning in San Francisco, that Mrs. Stanford drank a glass of Poland mineral water with the bi-carbonate of soda, the strychnine in which made her violently ill, so much strychnine being absorbed that the stomach rebelled and she finally recovered. Miss Berner says, and Mrs. Stanford's maid, May Hunt, agrees with her, in their statements to the police, that the bottle containing the strychnine was packed up in San Francisco five weeks ago preparatory to coming here, and that it remained unopened since then until it was opened last night by Mrs. Stanford herself, before taking the dose.

On arriving here after leaving San Francisco on the mail steamer Korea, Mrs. Stanford said that she had left San Francisco unexpectedly and in a great hurry.

The police here will not express any theory regarding the unfortunate occurrence, but there are indications todays that they suspect a member of Mrs. Stanford's household of having placed strychnine in the bottle of bicarbonate of soda, a dose from which she took before retiring Tuesday night. High Sheriff Henry says that there have been no further developments in the case, and that there are likely to be none before the holding of the inquest.

The body of Mrs. Stanford has been embalmed, and it will probably be taken to San Francisco on the Pacific Mail Company's steamer China, which will sail from Honolulu March 10, and is due to arrive March 17.

J. F. Hackfeld has been appointed representative of the Stanford interests here, with former Judge Stanley as counsel. Dr. H. V. Murray, one of the physicians who conducted the autopsy, says that death was due to strychnine poisoning.

Mrs. Stanford had in her possession when she arrived here, jewelry valued at about $75,000. This was found apparently intact, and has been taken charge of by Mr. Hackfeld. Two years ago Mrs. Stanford went to Australia on a visit to a brother of her late husband, Thomas Stanford, a wealthy resident of Melbourne.

A meeting of natives of California resident in Honolulu has been called for next Monday evening, at the Young Hotel, for the purpose of taking measures to show respect for the memory of Mrs. Stanford. It is probable that special funeral services will be held and that a procession of mourners will accompany the body to the steamer which will bear it to San Francisco.

HER MIND WAS CLEAR.

SO SAYS PROF. JORDAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Mar. 2.—David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford University, said today: "Mrs. Stanford's mind was perfectly clear the last time I saw her, January 15 last, the day after the reported poisoning in San Francisco. Since then I have had several letters from her in her own handwriting, and I defy anyone to say they are not perfectly logical and clear. The only time Mrs. Stanford mentioned the reported poisoning was the day after it occurred, as she came down on the train with me. For my part, I do not think she drank any poisoned water. Strychnine might have been introduced into the water afterwards for spiteful purposes, possibly a petty quarrel of servants. This is only my own theory of the matter."

President Jordan said that Mrs. Stanford's death would not have any immediate effect in regard to the university, as she was fully in harmony with the policy of the board of trustees. Pending her funeral, most outside activities will be suspended, but recitations will continue. When asked regarding his connection with the university, Dr. Jordan said: "I expect to remain here so long as, in the judgment of the board of trustees, my services are helpful to the institution."

SALVATION LANDS.

Rider Haggard Comes to America as a Commissioner from British Colonial Office.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—Rider Haggard, the author, who comes here as a special commissioner to inquire into the conditions and character of the agricultural and industrial land project organized in America by the Salvation Army, arrived today on the steamer Teutonic. The trustees of the estate of Cecil Rhodes are paying the expenses of the inquiry to be made by Mr. Haggard, under the auspices of the British Colonial Office, with the view of applying the scheme to South Africa.

MENACING LETTERS.

Banker Morosini's Beautiful Daughter Has Received Three, Demanding $200,000 and Elopement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three threatening letters, demanding $200,000, have been received by Miss Julia Morosini, the beautiful daughter of Giovanni P. Morosini, the millionaire banker, at her home in Riverdale, and the police were asked today to put detectives on the case. The third of the letters received was turned over to the police today. It read:

"Dear Miss: Excuse my not keeping my last appointment. Now meet me Thursday morning, March 2, at Riverdale depot. Have with you $200,000 in either gold or silver. We will elope. If you don't appear, watch out."

Miss Morosini is athletic, a noted horsewoman, full of self-reliance and courage. She was disposed to treat the letter lightly, but showed it to her father, who became alarmed. The wealth of the young society beauty, the prominence of the family and the threatening contents of the letter seemed to the banker to warrant police investigation.

As a result, Mr. Morosini kept his daughter in the house today, practically under guard, while the police held guard. Morosini declared he believed the writer of the anonymous epistle to be merely a crank, but that he would take no chances.

Miss Morosini is one of the most dashing and beautiful women in New York society. She is a familiar figure in Riverdale, where she drives splendid horses, taking her father to the railroad station each morning and meeting him each evening. The banker is devoted to his daughter.

NEW YORK SUCKERS.

Pay Ten Thousand Dollars Daily for Privilege of Being Hoodwinked by Fake Fortune Tellers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] District Attorney Jerome is determined to rid the city of fraudulent mediums and brazen fortune tellers who openly boast that the countrymen who "come on" and buy a gold brick are the personification of caution in comparison with the average Gothamite. New Yorkers like to be buncoed, and vulgarly buncoed.

There are more than two thousand so-called mediums and charlatans in the city who do a combined business of $10,000 daily. This startling declaration was made at police headquarters today, when the recent purchase by Dr. Isaac K. Funk, the noted theologian and psychic expert, of alleged "spirit pictures" from the Bangs sisters of Chicago, was discussed.

District Attorney Jerome, when shown the figures, declared that he was powerless to stop what, to all intents and purposes was a gigantic fraud upon the public, unless he has the cooperation of the police.

"This matter is strictly up to the police," said Jerome, "and I, for one, am going to make an effort to compel someone to get busy and put an end to the fast-growing evil. Of two thousand or more knaves who get money from credulous people in the guise of palmists, astrologists, trance mediums, card readers and crystal seers, you can safely estimate that each one makes an average of $5 a day. That means, the people of New York willingly pay more than $10,000 a day for the privilege of being hoodwinked. My department will do all possible to put an end to the business of fake fortune tellers in the city of New York."

BRITISH GOVERNMENT SCARE.

LONDON, March 2.—The House of Commons tonight, in Committee on Supply, considering the additional army estimate with a reduced attendance, gave the government a majority of only twenty-six on a minor amendment. The result of this division was received with an outburst of cheering by the opposition. This majority was greeted with cries of "resign." In subsequent divisions, the government hovered around 26 to 28, and the matter excited comment in the lobby.

CLAY A MINISTER.

LOUISVILLE, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Word was received here today that the President had appointed Brutus J. Clay of Richmond United States Minister to the republic of Switzerland. To represent America as Minister to Switzerland has been the ambition of Clay's life. Clay is 58, the son of the late Gen. Cassius M. Clay, United States Minister to Russia under Lincoln.

MUKDEN, March 2.—[By Asiatic Cable. The thunder of cannon is heard from all positions. Lone Tree and Novgorod hills are hidden by the smoke of the guns. The bombardments were resumed after the repulse of an infantry attack by the Japanese.

A heavy bombardment is also in progress in the neighborhood of the Shakhe River, apparently in preparation for an attack in that quarter. The weather continues fine and warm.

ALMOST TO MUKDEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEWCHWANG, March 2, Noon, Via Tien-tsin.—Chinese from Mukden report that the Japanese have advanced almost to Mukden.

The Russians, having been reinforced, have recaptured several positions out of which they had been driven.

The battle is still raging.

The Japanese bivouacking on the outskirts of Siamintin withdrew this morning, leaving only a picket.

The Russian station at Changtan has been reinforced.

Strings of Chinese carts are moving toward Mukden.

Foreigners are still at Mukden.

Owing to the absence of traffic, merchants are going to Tien-tsin.

Refugees from the battle area are arriving here.

DETAILS OF ATTACKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 3, 12:45 a.m.—In a long dispatch from Gen. Kouropatkin, which was received here yesterday, the commander-in-chief gives details of various attacks by the Japanese, the last few days.

The Associated Press correspondent at Mukden in a dispatch received at midnight, indicates a continuation of the artillery duel.

ADVANCE ON TIE PASS.

KUROKI FIGHTING HIS WAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LIAO YANG, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In a blinding snowstorm, the Japanese right army began its advance last night north to Tie Pass, the extreme eastern division turning into the Kiang Mountains after capturing Sichungli, and closing in the northwest, on the enemy at Wulachotzu.

Behind the Russians was a splendid range of mountains for defensive purposes, which undoubtedly they could have defended in any day attack, but Japanese attachments, split into small parties, broke through the mountain passes in bayonet fights and before dawn this morning had driven the Russian forces from the easterly range of the Irdeng Valley, forcing the left flank upon the center.

At that time, the center was being attacked from South Gauto Pass by two divisions of Kuroki's troops and at 10 o'clock this morning the left and the center of the Russian left army was retiring, fighting a stubborn rear-guard action. The net result was a gain of more than five miles by the Japanese right army.

KUROKI MAKING PROGRESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2, 6:10 p.m.—The position of Gen. Kouropatkin's army is regarded as being more or less critical. The real turning movement which Gen. Kuroki is operating in the mountains forty miles eastward of Mukden seems to be making progress.

Gen. Kouropatkin is making desperate efforts to check Kuroki, one of whose columns has succeeded in working around the extreme Russian left, and reinforcements have been dispatched in a northeasterly direction.

Gen. Rennenkampff is slowly retiring, fighting, taking advantage of the broken, hilly country and contesting every inch of ground.

JAPS SUCCEED WITH BAYONET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—A dispatch from Gen. Kouropatkin dated March 1, says:

"In a third attack on the Russian detachment near Oubenepusa the Japanese charged with the bayonet and succeeded in occupying the central height, forcing the Russian advance guard to retire to the neighboring crest.

"The Russians at 9 o'clock at night, February 28, were still holding a position near Knodiasza against the Japanese attack.

"The Japanese made a fresh attack on the Guatawa Pass position at 3 o'clock in the morning of March 1. After repulsing several attacks, the Russians were forced to abandon two intrenchments which had been demolished by the Japanese artillery."

DISLODGING THE RUSSIANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, March 2, 5:30 p.m.—Advices from the headquarters of the Japanese armies in Manchuria show that the Japanese activity on the extreme right continues. That wing is pressing forward and is dislodging the Russians.

PURSUING SLAVS NORTH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, March 2.—The following report has been received from the headquarters of the Manchurian armies:

"Our force in the direction of Singching, after occupying Tsinkhetchen, is now pursuing the enemy to the northward.

"We captured large quantities of provisions at Tsinkhetchen.

"Our force in the direction of Pensihu is gradually dislodging the enemy from its position, thirteen miles to the northeast of that place, and from another position seven miles to the northwest.

"March 2, we pressed the enemy to the northward of the Shakhe River and our force occupied Sunmupaotzu and Tiaochienhutun. Sunmupaotzu is three miles north of Waitao Mountain."

KUROKI TAKES VILLAGES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

GEN. KUROKI'S HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD, Via Fusan, March 2.—During the night, Japanese infantry swept forward from the hills and took three small villages near Waitao Mountain, on the plain near the river, which has been the scene of many outpost affairs. One column advanced northeast and captured the town of Kodaise, thirteen miles from Witoftsan. The engagement there was not severe.

An artillery duel is still in progress in the east. It is most active about Waitao Mountain but while the cannonading is without cessation, it is not heavy as heard from the westward.

The batteries of both armies have maintained their positions and are exchanging volleys of shrapnel across the villages. One village occupied by the Japanese was subjected to a fierce bombardment of solid shot, but the two companies there stick to their positions.

TIMELY RELIEF COLUMN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SHAKHETUN (Manchuria) March 1, Wednesday.—A stubborn fight is waging on the left wing. Vigorous attacks of the Japanese on the village of Kudaza have been repulsed and the Russians maintain their position, thanks to the intervention of a relief column, which attacked the Japanese from the west after two passes had been occupied.

This column was hard pressed by the Japanese and suffered great losses. It advanced in detachments to the neighborhood of Ubenupusa and was attacked thrice during the night—at 11, midnight and at 1 a.m., but repulsed all the Japanese onslaughts.

To the westward the Japanese made a night attack on Kutai Pass. Some of the assaults were repulsed, but at 9 a.m. the Russian advance guard vacated two outworks, which had been destroyed by the Japanese artillery and retired to adjacent positions.

The Japanese attacked Nanshaupu in Khandiensan district, at 6 a.m., but were repulsed.

RESULT IN DOUBT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—On the left flank, near Kondiasia, the Japanese attack led to fierce fighting, the result of which is not known.

A Russian detachment sent against the village of Tomagou dislodged the Japanese from a pass about three miles southwest of Tomagou Mountain.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. RENNENKAMPFF, near Madydayni (Manchuria) Feb. 8, via Mukden, March 2.—All the Japanese attacks today on the new Russian positions, a few miles north of Oubentpusa, were successfully repulsed, but the forces defending the Russian left flank were unable to withstand the advance of the Japanese, who enveloped the front and left.

The village of Kudyzi, north of Hamanda Pass, a few miles east of the highway, was captured by the Japanese during the afternoon.

The retreat of the division of Madydayni is seriously threatened.

LONE TREE HILL SUFFERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—The Japanese throughout February 28 vigorously bombarded with field and siege artillery the Russian positions between Sadehepu and Kaotou Pass. Lone Tree Hill suffered especially from a fierce bombardment of eleven-inch guns.

The Russian scouts retain the entrenchments which they occupied February 27, having repulsed a night counter-attack by the Japanese.

BATTLE FAVORS KUROKI.
IN HILLS BEYOND SHAKHE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GEN. KUROKI'S HEADQUARTERS March 2, Via Fusan.—The battle is progressing favorably for the Japanese although a snowstorm is swirling over the hill tops.

The gunners get glimpses of their targets only when the clouds lift a few moments. The Japanese made great gains by night advances against the Russian position on the extreme left and they occupy a part of the first line of the triple line of defenses in the hills beyond the Shakhe. The Russian trenches here run northeast on the crests of the low line of hills following the bend of the river. The main defense lines are higher in the hills beyond.

The Japanese right forces, pushing forward under cover of the night, gained Ofurei and Taka Mountain, surprising the Russians and meeting with but little opposition.

At Ofurei, the Japanese found trenches encircling the hill. They attacked from three sides and entrapped the Russians, capturing sixty. These were partly dressed in Chinese clothes and looked as though they had been leading a hard life.

The Japanese forces directly west of Waitao Mountain took advanced positions close to the river during the night. The Russians made feeble and ineffectual attacks on the villages near the river.

A tremendous bombardment is being made westward today. Great clouds of smoke are ascending near the Wanpaosan hills, where the Japanese fire is directed. The cannonading about Waitao Mountain was suspended this morning.

The Japanese right is shelling the Russian works on the higher hills and at noon the Japanese batteries near Waitao Mountain resumed work, cooperating with them.

Tuesday, sixty Russian guns were working. Opposite Waitao Mountain, yesterday, there were only thirty.

The Japanese casualties in the right army have been very few compared with the results gained.

Those regiments camping in the open ground or making night attacks muffled in heavy clothes are put to the hardest tests that soldiers could endure.

MUKDEN, March 2.—Russian cavalry has been dispatched northwestward in the direction of Kaiama to interpose a barrier against the attack of the Japanese columns advancing from the Liao River valley.

JAPS RAID SINMINTIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEWCHWANG [Via Tien-tsin,] March 2.—A detachment of 400 Japanese with one gun raided Sinmintin, about thirty miles west of Mukden, this afternoon. With the gun trained on the main street, the troopers ransacked the Chinese inns. For months, Sinmintin has been the headquarters of contraband trade and the Japanese heretofore have not interfered with it.

Upon the arrival of the Japanese, the streets were quickly cleared. Chinese went into hiding and the great crowd of Greek and German traders, became panic-stricken, but the Japanese did not touch their carts, which were waiting to make a night trip to Mukden.

Three Cossacks were discovered. One of them was killed. The other two escaped.

The Chinese report that previous to their entry into Sinmintin the Japanese dispersed a small body of Russian scouts, capturing fifteen of them.

On the completion of the examination of Sinmintin, the Japanese withdrew to Pauchiatun. An engagement is expected, as it is known that Cossacks are not far distant.

Ten thousand Japanese troops are reported three miles south of Pauchiatun and numbers of Japanese in Chinese clothes are along the Koupantse line.

It is possible that the Japanese may seize Sinmintin as it has been deneutralized, owing to Russian traffic there. There are large accumulations of stores at Chenkow and Koupantse.

Sinmintin is now quiet.

The Japanese hold all the roads.

On all sides, are groups of Chinese whispering together and expectant camp followers, who are anxiously awaiting instructions to pass out with their laden carts.

MEN FIGHTING FOR WORK.

Over Three Hundred New Yorkers Scramble for the Opportunity to Shovel Snow.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—A newspaper advertisement, offering a day's work to fifty snowshovelers, brought such a crowd of applicants to a point in Fifth street today that the police reserves were called out to check the scramble for work. More than 300 men who came in answer to the advertisement were in waiting before daylight, when the man with fifty checks, each of which would entitle the holder to a day's work, appeared on the scene.

The sight of the checks was the signal for a rush, in which everyone of the 300 joined. Men were tossed right and left in the scramble to reach the holder of the checks, and within a minute every one of the bits of pasteboard had been given out. This did not stop the trouble, however, and when the police reserves, who had been summoned at the first rush, appeared, more than a score of individual couples were fighting hand-to-hand for the right to shovel all day for $2.

FIGHTING TAMMANY.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company Begins Contest to Wipe Out Aldermen Who Block Wheels of Progress Fifty Million Dollars Worth.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 3.—"Not a cent, not a contract, not a concession that cannot be made 'in the open.' This shall be fought out on its merits. Block this great work, and we will appeal to public sentiment."

With this ultimatum, the Pennsylvania Railroad has begun its fight to obtain a franchise for a New York connecting railroad company without paying a cent or promising a contract to the New York Contracting and Trucking Company. A bill depriving Aldermen of all voice in granting franchises and vesting this power in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment will be introduced at Albany within a week. A general campaign to arouse public sentiment to the importance of great improvements is to be begun and powerful efforts made to force Aldermen to act.

At a meeting to be held by the Transportation Reform League, today, the first move in the battle will be made. Plans to force Aldermen to report the franchise out of the Committee on Bridges and Tunnels, where it has been held up for nine months, will be adopted.

One result of the meeting is to be a mandamus to force aldermen to report the franchise. Measures will be adopted for urging the passage of the this bill at Albany. President J. Edward Swanstrom of the league declared yesterday that the organization has begun a finish fight to force the franchise out of committee.

"Little Tim" Sullivan, chairman of the committee which has held up the franchise for nine months, took up the gauntlet thrown down by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He accuses the Pennsylvania of trying to "sneak" through a franchise in perpetuity and indicated that he was ready for a fight to a finish. These mutual defiances mark the beginning of a terrific struggle. Driven to desperation by the attacks with which Tammany has obstructed every step of its $50,000,000 improvement, the Pennsylvania has determined to fight to wipe out the aldermen as the chief source of all its troubles, and the great railroad company will take the contest to the polls in November.

EQUITABLE'S POLICY.

Steps for Mutualization Have Been Taken and a Committee Will Look After Affairs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The policy holders of the Equitable Society have taken steps to secure mutualization and all that it implies, and a sufficient number of members have signified willingness to join in an appeal to the Legislature. A meeting will be called at which action tending to that end will be taken.

John D. Crimmins and six other well-known men, five of whom hold policies in the Equitable for $100,000 each, have constituted themselves a voluntary committee to look after the interests of the policy holders. Letters have been received from a large numbers of policy holders, sanctioning the work of the committee. The members of the committee are John D. Crimmins, Henry Morgenthau, E. H. Outerbridge, E. W. Bloomingdale, Charles Bulkley Hubbell, John B. Stanchfield, R. S. MacArthur and Edward Warfield.

Crimmins said: "While the action of the committee is intended to be conservative, and we have no desire to do anything that would be prejudicial to the interests of the Equitable, we have concluded the time has arrived for people who are putting money into the company to do something to insure protection of interests. Our intention is to frame a law that will insure such strict supervision of investments of insurance companies that ventures of a speculative nature, or ventures that will enable those who are in control of funds to make large profits for themselves, while the returns to the coffers of the institution are comparatively small, will be stopped."

Government Shuts the Gate to Yosemite Valley.

Surveys Make Squatters' Efforts All Vain.

Fire on the Oregon Put Out. Raining in Arizona.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Receiver George A. McKenzie of the local land office received today a lengthy telegram from Commissioner Richards of the Department of the Interior notifying him that all of the land in Yosemite Valley had been withdrawn from entry by the government in case the recession bill is signed by Gov. Pardee. The object of the commissioner is to avoid any complications, in case notice had not been given, as there are several settlers in the valley, and they would probably claim the usual squatters' rights and might cause litigation. The order completely shuts them out.

The valley has been surveyed, and it would be impossible for anyone to make entry on the land until it has been properly platted and a map drawn up for use for the government officials. It was reported here today that several parties who have been in the valley have been closely watching the procedure of the Legislature, and were prepared to claim title to some of th land as soon as the bill was signed, but the Interior Department proved too clever for them.

STEAMER OREGON FIRE.

DAMAGE IS VERY GREAT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

EUREKA, March 2.—The fire on the steamer Oregon was quenched this morning. At 9:30 the vessel was floated, Capts. Pillsbury and Tibbetts, representing the marine underwriters, are now aboard the steamer. The condition of the Oregon is such that many thousands of dollars will be needed to put her in repair. Capt. Warner's opinion is that the fire originated from spontaneous combustion. He says he will bring the vessel to San Francisco.

Last night holes were bored in the side of the Oregon and the space between decks was flooded. This proved the best method yet employed for fighting the flames and good progress was made until 2 o'clock this morning, when a fresh disaster threatened the vessel. At that hour, while the crew was engaged in the desperate struggle to save the ship, fire was discovered in the forward hold. A large quantity of tinned phosphorus was stored there and it was believed that the heat ignited it. An alarm was immediately sounded and all work on the fire aft abandoned to meet the new danger. After a struggle of two hours, the second fire was gotten under control by flooding the forward compartment. Much damage was done to this section of the ship by fire and water, estimated at $5000.

With this fire quenched, the crew returned aft and redoubled their previous efforts and by daybreak the last spark was subdued. The work of flooding the steamer continued another hour, and then the hatches were opened. It was found that the entire after compartment of the vessel was ruined.

The cargo is a total loss and the steel girders and framework are warped and twisted beyond repair. The officers state that the damage in sight may reach anywhere from $25,000 to $75,000, but it is impossible to tell with any degree of accuracy owing to the fact that the hold is still hot and smoking and it is impossible to closely examine it.

The task of floating the vessel was then proceeded with and it was easier than was supposed, the stern being deep in the water, while the steamer's rose rested lightly in the mud. The pumps were set to work, the ports were opened and the water between decks allowed to discharge while the hold was pumped out.

The vessel still has a heavy list to port, the cargo having shifted and it will be difficult to right her, although not much in the way of repairs will be attempted at this port.

At noon the Oregon was partially pumped out and steamed up the harbor to the railroad wharf, where she was made fast. Capt. Pillsbury stated that the damage to the stern was extensive. He could give no definite estimate, and opinions among shipping men as to the loss vary, although it is generally believed that $50,000 is a small figure, taking into consideration the loss to the cargo.

It seems to be impossible to right the ship and her list is even more pronounced than this morning, due doubtless to the fact that the water, which has assisted in holding her as level as possible, is being discharged at a rapid rate.

The steamer St. Paul is to take the place of the burned steamer Oregon, on the northern run, and will sail on her first trip March 8.

TRANSFERRED TO ROANOKE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EUREKA, March 2.—The perishable freight on the Oregon, mainly butter and consigned to northern ports, was transferred late this afternoon to the steamer Roanoke. Much of the butter had been melted by the heat, but a quantity stored forward is in a fairly good condition. The pumps are still at work, clearing the water in the hold, and it is doubtful if the steamer sails south tomorrow as anticipated.

Capt. Warner is desirous of straightening the steamer up before putting to sea, and as pumping water fails to accomplish this, it will be necessary to shift the entire cargo of 200 tons. The vessel is badly buckled above and below the water line. An inspection shows the cargo to be very inflammable, consisting of paints, oil, fireworks and phosphorus. The damage to the cargo by the phosphorus fire turns out to be more serious than first reported. The phosphorus could not be put out, and finally the entire lot of twelve or fourteen cases had to be thrown overboard to prevent firing the whole forward compartment.

Capt. Pillsbury, the marine underwriters' representative, is still unable to estimate the exact loss, but admits that it will run into many thousands of dollars.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

CHICAGO, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] March, made its first bluff today. It threatened to rain, snow and blow, and early indications pointed to a big drop in temperature tonight. None of these will make good, according to Prof. Cox. The temperature ranged from 27 to 37 degs. Unusually high temperature prevails in the Northwest, extending as far as the Alaskan boundary. At Havre, Mont., near the Canadian border, a temperature of 66 degs. was reported, 16 degs. warmer than Jacksonville, Fla., at the same hour. Sault Sainte Marie retained its grip as the coldest spot, with 10 degs. below zero. Middle West temperatures:

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prominent women, including Miss Florence Hayward, the only woman commissioner of the World's Fair, today expressed their views concerning the divorce evil, and declared in favor of a national divorce law. Among the causes for divorce was set forth the bad example of New York's "Four Hundred." "The people wanted a National Bankruptcy act and they got it," said Miss Hayward. "When they want a national divorce law they will get it. Their morality is the test."

CHICAGO TEACHERS' ACTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By a unanimous vote, the Board of Education repudiated all acts of the Chicago Teachers' Federation, and urged that the children of Chicago should not be made to suffer on account of its "indiscretions." The denunciation was made official by a vote approving in toto a letter from President Clayton Mark, in which he referred to the action of the Teachers' Federation in urging an increase from $1000 to $1500 in the maximum salary paid to teachers.

Woman Who Cheered Hidalgo Passes—Son Aged Eighty Now in Jail.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 2.—Mrs. Elisa Escovera, who when a girl of 10, cheered the brave Miguel Hidalgo and his patriotic hosts, who in 1810 participated in the Mexican revolution, and who eleven years later was one of the enthusiastic multitude to greet the victorious leader of the Mexican army, Gen. Iturbide, died here last night in an old wagon, at the age of 105.

Although her last years were spent amid squalor and although there was often nothing to eat in the old tumble-down wagon, where she lived, she was yet always ready to recount the story of the struggles of the Mexicans of ninety years ago.

Last month her son, 80 years of age, got into a cutting scrape, and although weighed down with years, he was sent to jail for six months, having cut off a man's nose. This left his mother with no one to look after her, and a day later the Mexicans found her in the wagon, stretched out on a lot of old rags. The Mexicans cared for her till she died.

THAT ST. LOUIS FAIR.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Among the investigations which the Federal government has on hand and contemplates is the management of the St. Louis Fair. Some grave complaints have been heard here in the last few days, and they will be included in the report to Congress on which the government commission, of which Senator-elect Thomas H. Carter of Montana is chairman, is now working and which will be completed by June 1.

The most serious of these complaints are: That the management of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company recently sold property, in which the government has a third interest, for about one-quarter of what it was worth; that while the bidding for and the sale of the property was to be made "in the open," it was in reality a secret transaction, and that the property transferred includes much more than was advertised.

It is officially announced that the Earl of Selbourne, First Lord of the Admiralty, will succeed Lord Milner as High Commissioner in South Africa.

MOVE FOR FREE RELIGION.

MINISTER'S FORWARD STEP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 2.—The Committee of Ministers, after discussing the status of religious dissenters and considering measures to remove the grievances of that class, has decided in favor of repealing all regulations of a vexatious character proposed by the Minister of the Interior within three months, and to order the abolition of all measures interfering with religious belief, except such as may be considered indispensable, which should receive the sanction of the Emperor.

The Committee of Ministers has also decided to direct the Minister of the Interior to forbid the enforcement of regulations dealing with protection, or state or police surveillance of religious matters. The Committee of Ministers also calls upon the heads of Ministerial departments and the Procurator General of the Holy Synod to present reports to the Emperor and requests that all sentences of exile and imprisonment for religious errors should be quashed.

WORKMEN RATIFY DEMANDS.

GENERAL STRIKE THREATENED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—Workmen representing nine groups met again today at the People's Palace and ratified the demands drawn up March 1 by the representatives of seven groups and decided to meet at the same place at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and await a reply until noon. If at that hour a satisfactory guarantee is not forthcoming, the delegates will leave the hall, decline to elect members to serve on the mixed committee of which M. Schidlevski is president, and proclaim a general strike.

About 400 men were present at today's meeting. The proceedings were more formal than yesterday. A number of the speakers reviewed the situation, showing thorough familiarity with strikes, revolutions and the history of other countries. They described the benefits of constitutions and parliaments and declared that the Russians would be content with nothing less than a representative government. The speakers were steeped in socialistic literature. The meeting enthusiastically applauded accounts of victories gained by the proletariat in other countries.

One speaker in particular delivered a carefully prepared address. Standing on the platform, his flaxen hair hanging to his shoulders, wearing a loose red shirt and high Russian boots, he looked the picture of one of Maxim Gorky's types. He said the proletariat alone could achieve positive results. The Liberals used the masses to crush dynasties and then turned on the masses. The Liberals had done little for Russia. He appealed to the audience to stand together and demand a people's parliament, which was the only solution now possible. He added:

"We went out into the streets one day and were shot down like dogs. We are on the eve of great events, perhaps a fearful drama. No matter. We must be firm and steel our hearts to fulfill the watchword—fight."

The speech was greeted with tremendous applause. Amid intense enthusiasm, the assembly unanimously adopted resolutions reaffirming the resolutions of March 1, and after agreeing on the hour for tomorrow's meeting, dispersed at 6 p.m.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—At a final meeting of the conferees on the Panama Canal Bill today, after the Senate conferees had reported verbally the inability of the representatives of the two houses to get together and were sent back to try again, the futility of attempting a compromise was admitted and the conferees decided to ask for their discharge. If this decision is accepted by the two houses, and it is the general impression that it will be, the result will be to kill the canal bill entirely.

WASHINGTON.

INAUGURAL DAY PARADE.

Grand Marshal Issues Final Order on Subject.

Capital City Crowded With Sight-seers.

Senate Passes Supply Bills. Circular on Trusts.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—All the incoming trains today brought in large crowds of inaugural visitors. The hotel lobbies are crowded and the streets are filled by the strangers. The snow which fell yesterday has practically disappeared, and the reviewing stands are in readiness.

The Rough Riders' organization held a meeting today, and arranged for a drill to be held this afternoon at Fort Meyer to train the mounts to be used by the Rough Riders. There will be thirty or more of these men to escort the President, and they will be headed by former Governor Brodie.

Several of the Rough Riders will be introduced to the President today by Col. Brodie. They are inclined to be facetious over the assignment to them of artillery horses to ride in the parade. They wish now they had brought their own ponies with them.

Admiral Dewey will not be able to take any part in the inauguration ceremonies. He has been seriously ill with the grip for four weeks, and although much improved, he is still too weak to leave the house. It is expected that the admiral will be restored to his usual good health in a few weeks.

The following is the order of the inaugural parade:

The detachment of First United States Volunteer Cavalry, remaining in line until their front is cleared by the Presidential party in carriages, will dispose themselves equally on both sides of these carriages at five yards distance.

The marshal of the veteran division and staff will assemble at 9:30 o'clock on New York avenue, facing west, the marshal at Fifteenth street, prepared to follow immediately in rear of the Presidential party in carriages and the First Volunteer Cavalry detachment.

The Spanish and Civil War veterans will, by successive posts from the left, wheel to the right by platoons, and stand fast until the right flank of the division is uncovered by the Presidential party, when the division will take up its march to the Capitol, immediately following the Presidential party. CIRCULAR ON TRUSTS.

SENT TO DISTRICT ATTORNEYS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Attorney-General Moody sent out to United States district attorneys throughout the country, dated February 24, a circular letter in connection with the investigation of the alleged beef trust, instructing them as to the action they should take. Following is the text of the letter:

"A special grand jury will meet in Chicago on March 20, 1905, to hear evidence against the alleged 'beef trust.' You are instructed to make diligent inquiry in your district and obtain whatever evidence you can tending to show that the producers of fresh or cured meats have entered into a combination in violation of the Federal Anti-Trust Act.

"Report the results of your inquiry at the earliest possible date, and not later than March 15, to S. H. Bethea, United States attorney, Chicago. This report should contain at least the names and addresses of prospective witnesses and a short statement of what each will testify to."

THE CONGRESS.

CLOSING SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—SENATE.—The Senate began its session today by passing a bill for the incorporation of the American Academy at Rome.

When Mr. Bailey's resolution for the discharge of the conferees on the Statehood bill was laid before the Senate, Mr. Bailey said: "I understand that there is a bare hope of an agreement by the Conference Committee, and so I will not press the resolution."

The resolution remained on the table.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill was then laid before the Senate and the provisions which was passed over last night were considered. The first of these was that relating to the expenses of judges of Circuit Courts of Appeals, holding court outside of their circuits. The House provision allowed "not exceeding $10 per day." Mr. Platt of Connecticut suggested a substitute providing pay for "reasonable expenses actually incurred for travel and attendance," and making it applicable to all "justices or judges who shall attend the Circuit Court of Appeals held at any other place than wherein they reside, not to exceed $10 per day."

The amendment was accepted, as was also another placing the same restriction on the expenses of district judges holding court outside their districts.

Mr. Culberson presented an amendment prohibiting the allowance of fees to United States District Attorneys in excess of their salaries. He said that the amendment was aimed especially at the office of the District Attorney of the southern district of New York and he quoted the report of the Attorney-General in support of a statement that in four years fees amounting to $219,000, had been paid to the District Attorney for that district, in addition to his salary.

Mr. Bacon's amendment, fixing a salary of $10,000 for the District Attorney of New York was accepted, and Mr. Culberson's amendment, as modified, agreed to. It prohibits the payment of fees to District Attorneys, except in the case of the District of Columbia. An amendment appropriating $100,000 for the purchase of a site for an Army General Hospital in Washington was agreed to. The amendment authorizing the assignment of retired revenue cutter officers to active duty went out on a point of order by Mr. Patterson.

A provision for the acceptance from the State of California of Yosemite Valley as an addition to Yosemite Park, which was presented by Mr. Perkins, was incorporated in the bill.

Mr. Patterson presented an amendment increasing from $175,000 to $200,000 the appropriation for the Geological Survey. The resolution was antagonized by Mr. Lodge, who said that notwithstanding $100,000,000 had been spent on surveys, we have not yet secured a decent survey of the country. He said the director of the Geological Survey was the most successful money-getter in Washington. The Geological Survey amendment was agreed to.

Other amendments were inserted, including one providing for marking the spots where American soldiers fell in China and Cuba, $9500; and the bill was then passed.

A conference on the Rivers and Harbors Bill was ordered, with Messrs. Gallinger, Nelson and Berry as conferees.

Mr. Heyburn immediately call up the Pure Food Bill, and addressed the Senate on its provisions. While talking, he was interrupted by many Senators desiring to pass bills. After Mr. Heyburn resumed, he was not permitted to continue long without interruption. Mr. McComas interjected a speech in support of the constitutionality of service by Senators and other Federal officeholders on commissions appointed for special work.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—HOUSE.—When the House convened today, a number of members questioned the accuracy of the record last night on the mileage question. The Rivers and Harbors Appropriation Bill was agreed to, which finally passes the measure. The conference report on the Agricultural Appropriation Bill then was taken up. The report was agreed to, which finally passed the measure.

The House insisted on its disagreement to the Senate amendments to the Panama Canal Zone Government Bill, and the bill was sent back for further conference.

Attention next was given to the conference report on the Naval Appropriation Bill, which represented only a partial agreement. Mr. Foss of Illinois explained that the proposed increase of 1200 officers and men in the Marine Corps was still in dispute. In so far as the conferees had agreed, the report was adopted.

The House also agreed to the Senate amendment to the bill amending the statutes so as to provide that writs of error and appeals may be made from the Supreme Court of Hawaii to the Supreme Court of the United States where the amount involved exceeds $5000.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill was sent to conference. Messrs. Hemenway of Indiana, Gillett of Massachusetts and Benton of Missouri were appointed conferees.

The House took up and passed, under suspension of the rules, the bill authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to establish and maintain quarantine districts in the several States and to regulate the movement of cattle. This is the bill which was urged by the President in a message to Congress yesterday.

By unanimous consent a bill was passed authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to accept the torpedo boats Stringham and Goldsborough.

The House refused to suspend the rules and pass a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate the Panama Canal and railroad, that action being taken following an objection to a unanimous consent by Mr. Southwick of New York.

SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

A man never realizes how little he knows until a kid begins to ask him questions. I ask the boss lots of hard ones, of course I think them up and he has to answer them right off the bat. I'll give him credit it's mostly impossible to stick him, but I handed one to him the other day that made him squirm and scratch his head longer than usual. This was it: "Suppose a salesman honestly thinks our three-dollar hats are as good as Stetson's at four and five dollars and a customer puts him on his honor by asking him which would you buy, what should the salesman answer?" "While I can readily see," said he, "that a question of that kind could come up occasionally, they won't happen often. The reason we sell Stetson hats is because they are without doubt the finest hats made, and the reason Silverwood hats are so popular is because we crowd so much value into them, they are really worth more than three dollars, but we have such an enormous sale on them that it pays us to keep them up to grade." The answer is a "Silverwood."

AGAINST THE TRUSTS.

Kansas Senate Unanimously Passes Bill Patterned After the Texas Law Prohibiting Attempts to Stifle Competition—Suit Against Standard.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) March 2.—The Senate today unanimously passed Senator Nofsinger's bill to prevent the operation of trusts within the State. The measure is patterned after the Texas law, and is similar in purpose to the Anti-Discrimination Act already passed by both houses of the Legislature. It provides a fine of $20,000 for each attempt to stifle competition in any business. Provision is made for the expulsion from the State of any firm that may persist in violating the law.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S SUIT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA, March 2.—It develops that the suit brought by Attorney-General Coleman, asking for the appointment of a receiver and to oust the concern from Kansas, was brought against the Standard Oil Company. It was at first erroneously stated that the action was against the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, which is the operating auxiliary of the Standard in the West. It was in fact directed against the parent organization. The petition was filed Tuesday, but it was not made public until the Sheriff had an opportunity to serve summonses on the company's agent at Kansas City, Kan.

SANTA FE ROAD INVOLVED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA, March 2.—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company is to be included in Attorney-General Coleman's suit for conspiracy against the Standard Oil Company. Coleman said tonight that the Santa Fé was left out of the original petition by an error of the stenographer. He will at once file an amended petition to include the Santa Fé. The suit will thus be brought against all the railroads in the State.

The strongest feature of the suit, according to the Attorney-General, is that relating to the failure of the Standard to pay charter fees, thus having no authority to do business in the State. To fight the Standard is the real object of the suit. The action against the railroads is brought to dissolve the freight-rate combination.

NOTICE SERVED ON STANDARD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KANSAS CITY, March 2.—The Standard Oil Company was served, through its local agent-manager, G. W. Mayer today with legal notice of the filing of the proceedings brought against it at Topeka, alleging failure to comply with the laws of the State. The notice required the company to answer Attorney-General Coleman's charges on or before March 30. Manager Mayer said: "Of course we will protect the company's interests the best we can. If the company is violating any law, I do not know it."

NEBRASKA ANTI-TRUST BILL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) March 2.—The House today passed the Anti-Trust Bill by a vote of 72 to 10. It has still to be considered by the Senate. The bill exempts domestic corporations in its provisions.

BOYCOTT OF "EAGLE" LEADS TO FIGHTING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Efforts of the Teamsters' Union to dictate to the Brooklyn Eagle management how its business should be run reached a climax late this afternoon, when the police reserves had to be called out to quell what amounted to a juvenile riot at both ends of Brooklyn and Williamsburg bridge.

Ever since Saturday last, when the teamsters declared a strike because two union men were discharged for incompetency, the Newsboys' Union has absolutely prevented the sale of Eagles in the streets of Manhattan. The newsboys have no grievance, but sympathize with the Teamsters' Union. The boys have had printed at the expense of the Teamsters' Union a cap badge declaring the Eagle to be a "scab paper" and informing the public that Eagles are not to be had.

Today the Eagle secured a large number of intelligent lads to sell Eagles and break the strike. Then the fun commenced in earnest. Five minutes after the first edition was on the street the air resounded with cries of "Scab!" "Kill the scabs!" The newsboys egged on by men sympathizers, attacked the independents and tore the Eagles to bits. In a few moments the streets looked as if they had been struck by a stage snowstorm. The independents fought fiercely, but were greatly outnumbered, and when scores had received bloody noses and black eyes, the police were called out.

Hundreds of big coppers had hard work getting order out of chaos, but vigilance did not suffice to establish the sale of Eagles, so for the sixth day, the circulation of the paper was practically stopped.

Other outrageous scenes were enacted, independent drivers being hauled off wagons and mauled. The bitterness is growing. The pressmen and stereotypers threaten to go out in a body if the Eagle persists in the refusal to recognize the Teamsters' Union.

BOUTWELL'S MEMORY.

Honors Paid by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts at Funeral Services in Groton.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

GROTON (Mass.) March 2.—The Commonwealth of Massachusetts today honored the memory of George Sewell Boutwell, once Governor and formerly United States Senator and Secretary of the Treasury. Numerous officials and townsmen attended the funeral, which was held at the Town Hall, and clergymen of all the religious denominations in Groton participated in the services. The State was represented by Gov. Douglas and Council, and by delegations from the State Senate and House of Representatives.

In addition there were present representatives of the G.A.R., the town officials, the Executive Committee of the Anti-Imperialist League, of which Mr. Boutwell was president; ten members of the United Irish League of America, and many other minor delegations. For two hours during the forenoon the body lay in state in the Town Hall. Mr. Boutwell's pastor, the Rev. Pemberton H. Cressey of the Unitarian Church, officiated at the service. No eulogy was delivered, out of respect for the desire of the Boutwell family.

As the body was borne from the hall all the church bells in Groton began tolling, and the chimes in the chapel tower at Groton School played a muffled peal. The burial was in Groton Cemetery.

ORIGIN OF UNIVERSITY.

BALTIMORE (Md.) March 3.—The American today prints a statement from Rev. F. W. Ward Denys, ex-chaplain of the American church in Florence, Italy, and now rector of St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church in this city, in which he claims to set forth the facts concerning the origin of the Leland Stanford, Jr., University of California. Rev. Denys says these facts were known to but three persons—Senator and Mrs. Stanford and himself.

One morning in 1884, Rev. Denys says, he was called to the Hotel de la Paix, in Florence, Italy, by a message stating that Senator Stanford's son had just died and that Mr. and Mrs. Stanford would like to see him. Senator Stanford said to him: "Just after my son died I sank into a chair and for a time I became unconscious. While I was in this state my son, who seemed to be standing just beside me, said: 'Father, I want you to build a university for the benefit of poor young men, so that they can have the same advantages the rich have;' after which he left me. Now tell me what you think of that, and if you think I ought to do it."

This question was addressed to Rev. Denys, who, with Mrs. Stanford, had been listening intently. Rev. Denys replied: "It seems to me more important, what you think about it; that is, are you in sympathy with the idea and is it your power to carry it out?"

"Yes," said Mr. Stanford. "I do think it would be a good thing, and we have no one to leave our money to, now."

SACRAMENTO.

HAHN'S LOAN BILL PASSES.

Practically No Opposition to Measure in Senate.

Associations Now in Existence are Made Exempt.

Lobby of Prize-fight Promoters on the Spot.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Senator Hahn's Building and Loan Bill, one of the most widely noticed committee bills of the session, was passed in the upper house tonight by a vote of 30 to 1. The measure was defended in debate by Senators Curtin, Hahn and Shortridge, and no opposition was manifested on the floor. A fight that was expected on the bill did not materialize.

The proposed new building and loan law provides that in the future associations must be organized with a paid-up capital stock of from $5000 to $100,000, according to population. Payment of premiums is prohibited, and loans cannot be made to the officers or directors of the corporations. The par value of capital stock is fixed at $100. To prevent speculation of the securities of the associations, the securities must be deposited with banks, trust companies, or with the Secretary of State.

The bill expressly exempts associations now in existence from the provisions of the act, except in regard to the regulations intended for the protection of stockholders.

DEVLIN WAS ON HAND.

STANDS OF LAND GRABBERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Through the work of Grove L. Johnson, two bills introduced by Assemblyman Devlin providing for protection of the State against land grabs were almost defeated. The bills were on the third reading file and during the absence of Mr. Devlin they were referred to the Judiciary Committee of Recodification.

This committee met last night and when Mr. Devlin appeared and insisted that the bills be codified, or whatever else was to be done with them, right away, that they would stand a show of getting through this session, Mr. Johnson protested against any haste. When the committee decided to go ahead, however, he offered a mass of amendments that practically nullified the intent of the bill.

A. B. Nye, secretary to Gov. Pardee, came to the assistance of Mr. Devlin and after it was explained that Mr. Devlin had had the assistance of Francis J. Heney, who is after the land grabbers in the North, in drawing them up, and that the bills have the approbation of President Roosevelt, the Judiciary Committee decided that the amendments were irrelevant and immaterial.

One of the bills provides that when school lands are in tracts converted into forest reserves, such school lands shall be exchanged for lieu lands, and the latter sold and the proceeds turned into the State. The other provides that when a person tries to get possession of land by unlawful means he shall lose his title to this property and the amount paid in.

MACHINES FOR WHITTIER.

JOHNSTONE'S BILL IS PASSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Assemblyman Johnstone's bill appropriating $12.00 for holding farmers' institutes throughout the State passed the Assembly tonight. The institutes will be under direction of the State University Board of Regents.

Johnstone's bill appropriating $450 for sewing machines for the Whittier Reform School also passed. The bill introduced to have the girl inmates of the Whittier school transferred to charitable institutions or placed under supervision of individuals came up and was thoroughly discussed. The bill was finally passed, by a vote of 49 to 22.

ASSEMBLY PASSES BILLS.

FOUR MEASURES APPROVED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—In the Assembly tonight the following bills were passed:

By Waste, appropriating $15,000 to complete the president's house on the State university campus.

By Johnstone, appropriating $12,000 for farmers institutes to be held under the auspices of the State university.

By Pfaeffle, appropriating $6000 for the establishment of a choir of music at the State university.

By Prescott, authorizing the Governor to appoint an expert in taxation and public finance at $250 a month to act with the special hold-over Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

STANTON VIOLATES RULES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 2.—Proceedings in the Assembly tonight were enlivened by a wordy battle between Speaker Pro Tem. Atkinson and Assemblyman Stanton of Los Angeles. In the midst of the evening session, Stanton stood near his seat and violated the rules by wearing his hat. He was promptly called to order by Atkinson, but resented the reprimand. During an angry exchange of repartee the speaker threatened Stanton with arrest. The House member took his seat and the incident was closed.

Hartman's bill prohibiting insurance companies from combining to to raise rates or for any other purpose was defeated after a spirited fight in the Assembly. The vote was 56 to 1.

RECOMMENDS ACCEPTANCE.

YOSEMITE VALLEY, BIG TREES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—The Secretary of the Interior has telegraphed Gov. Pardee that he has recommended Congress to accept the re-grant of the Yosemite Valley and the Mariposa Big Trees. He has also advised that Congress appropriate $26,000 for the care of the property this year, which is $10,000 more than has annually been given by California.

Lobby of Prize-fight Promoters.

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—A delegation of San Francisco prize fight promoters arrived here tonight to lobby against Senator Ralston's bill prohibiting ring contests. The measure was passed by the Senate and is now before the Assembly Committee on Public Morals.

TWIXT CARS BOTH WAYS.

Bewildered Woman Hurled Back and Forth.

Many Passengers See Mrs. Smith Mangled.

Distressing Accident on Long Beach Trolley.

Hesitating, undecided and bewildered, Mrs. Ira P. Smith of Scotia, Humboldt county, stood directly in front of a swiftly moving Long Beach car at Willowbrook yesterday afternoon endeavoring to flag a car traveling rapidly in the opposite direction. She was run down and almost instantly killed.

Running at high speed, car No. 602, southbound, struck the woman, hurled her directly under car No. 601, running north on the opposite track, and then buffeted and crushed out her life, when she rebounded. Motormen on both cars vainly tried to check their speed.

The accident was one of the most distressing in the history of local electric railroading. Hurled back and forth as the cars passed each other, Mrs. Smith was ground to pieces before the eyes of the horrified trainmen and passengers, who were powerless to prevent the awful accident. The body was mutilated.

Mrs. Smith was the wife of Ira P. Smith, superintent of the Pacific Lumber Company of Scotia. She came to Los Angeles about six weeks ago to pass the winter and she was staying at the Glendale Sanatorium, with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Comstock. Yesterday morning Mrs. Smith came to the city from Glendale, accompanied by Mr. Comstock, and leaving her friend she went to Willowbrook, about ten miles out on the Long Beach line, to look at a lot she had just purchased.

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Smith was ready to return to the city. As she neared the electric line she saw a northbound car approaching at full speed, only a few hundred feet away and hastened to flag it. She was on the wrong side of the car, but so intent was she upon making her presence known to the motorman that she failed to notice the southbound car approaching on the track where she stood. The northbound car began to slacken speed, but thinking probably that the woman would step from his right-of-way, the southbound motorman kept on.

In an instant Mrs. Smith appeared to realize her peril, but too late. She was bewildered by the flying trolleys bearing down upon her, from both directions, and even while the whistles sounded she hesitated on the rails, unable to decide whether to advance or retreat. Then every passenger on the two cars, who had noticed the lone figure on the track realized that nothing could prevent a shocking accident.

The pilot of the south-bound car hurled Mrs. Smith from the track just before the two cars met. Then back and forth she was buffeted, while the passengers turned their faces from the horrible sight. Both cars were stopped within a few lengths and the mangled remains were gathered up and sent to the city on a special car. At Bresee Bros.' morgue an inquest will be held today.

While all eye-witnesses of the accident do not agree concerning the exact details it appears that Mrs. Smith lost her presence of mind, when she tried to flag the city-bound car from the wrong side.

Mrs. Smith was about 35 years of age, a woman of culture and striking appearance. She was an artist of ability, and did exquisite work on brooches and china painting. Her husband is well-known in lumber circles in the northern part of the State. She came to Southern California on account of delicate health, and after living a short time at the Melrose Hotel, she moved to the Glendale Sanatorium to be with her friends.

Mr. Smith was immediately informed when the corpse of his wife was identified, and is now on the way here from Scotia. He will take the remains home for burial.

MRS. IRA P. SMITH.

TO EXPLORE UPPER AIR.

Knabenshue Will Make High Balloon Ascension Next Sunday for Scientific Purpose.

Roy Knabenshue is planning the loftiest balloon ascension ever attempted in the West.

Knabenshue has constructed a small spherical balloon at Chutes barn, and proposes to ascend on Sunday afternoon to heights which have been reached but few times in the history of aërial navigation. He said yesterday that five miles was his goal, and he expects that his new gas bag will take him at least 25,000 feet straight into the air.

The ascension is to be made for scientific research, and Knabenshue will take with him, in his regulation car of wicker work, a complete equipment of thermometers, barometers and other atmospheric testing apparatus.

The dimensions of the new balloon are not as great as those of some of its predecessors. It will be twenty-two feet in diameter, and will hold about 5000 cubic feet of gas. That gas, however, is pure hydrogen, and the aëronaut believes that the uplift of this will be so great that the first mile of his upward ascent will be done at the appalling speed of nearly a mile a minute, after momentum is once attained.

Said he yesterday afternoon: "I want this to be an ascension devoid of sensational features, for I am going up in the air to learn things—not to make any demonstrations for the delight of a multitude. My principal object is to ascertain the exact conditions which prevail in the great upper air currents which overlie Southern California, for in these Mr. Baldwin proposes to sail his new airship, and here there are many secrets which may give us a big revelation.

"Yes, I am going 'straight up,' and I am going up fast. I calculate the size of my balloon to make a rapid ascension, and when I am once up there, I expect we will look so small that we will almost disappear from the vision.

"I have a complete equipment for experimental purposes, including recording barometers and thermometers, and gauges for the wind. When I find out what I want to find out, I will come down, and not before—that is, as long as the gas in the balloon will let me stay up.

"I am going to go as high as I can, but I estimate that at 20,000 feet I will find things rather strange to me—new enough at least for me to tell a good story when I come down. I may be in the air many hours."

Grip's Ugly Sequel

Knees Stiff, Hands Helpless, Rheumatism Near Heart.

Mrs. Van Scoy Experiences Dangerous After-Effects from Grip and Learns Value of a Blood Remedy.

The danger from grip is seldom over when the characteristic symptoms, the fever, the catarrh, the headache and the depression of spirits pass away. The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and oversensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration, and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves during convalescence.

The story told by scores of victims of the grip is substantially the same. One was tortured by terrible pains at the base of the skull that made life unendurable; another was left tired, faint and in every way wretched from anaemia or scantiness of blood; another had horrible headaches, was nervous and couldn't sleep; another was left with weak lungs, difficulty in breathing and acute neuralgia. In every case relief was sought in vain until the great blood builder and nerve tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, was used. This remedy is peculiarly adapted to build up stable health after a siege of grip. For quickness of action nothing is known that will approach it, but it is also without equal for thoroughness.

Mrs. Van Scoy makes a statement that supports this claim. She says:

"I had a severe attack of grip, and before I had fully recovered rheumatism set in and tormented me for three months. I was in a badly run-down state. Soon after it began I was so lame for a weak that I could hardly walk. It kept growing steadily worse and pretty soon I actually couldn't walk. At last I had to give up completely and for three weeks I was obliged to keep my bed. My knees were so stiff I couldn't bend them, and my hands were perfectly helpless. Then the pains began to threaten my heart and thoroughly alarmed me.

"While I was suffering in this way I chanced to run across a little book that told about the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statements in it impressed me and led me to buy a box. It was fortunate for me that I did, for these pills proved the very thing I needed to cure me. Improvement set in as soon as I began to take them, and it was very marked by the time I had finished the first box. Four boxes made me a well woman. In fact, the pills proved so thoroughly adapted to my case that there is nothing further to report except that I am a very grateful woman and that I sincerely recommend Dr. William's Pink Pills to any people who are sick as I was."

Mrs. Laura M. Van Scoy lives at No. 20 Thorpe street, Danberry, Ct. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are equally well adapted for any other of the diseases that follow in the train of grip. Their great reputation is founded on the fact that they make pure, rich blood which is the basis of sound health. They are sold by all druggists.

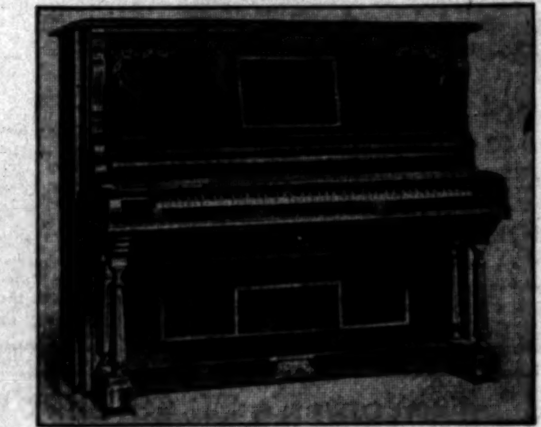
A New Department

The phenomenal demand for an artistic piano player—an instrument by which the piano can be played with precision and feeling—has at last been supplied.

The many efforts to reach perfection have culminated in the production of the

AUTOPIANO



THE AUTOPIANO AS PLAYED BY HAND.

This wonderful instrument is the combination of a high-grade piano with a perfected player, making practically one instrument, no larger than the ordinary piano.

This instrument in tone, appearance, material and workmanship occupies a place among the leading pianos of the day.

The keyboard of the piano has not been changed, and can be played at any time in the ordinary manner.

The action of the piano has not been interfered with in any way, although the player is enclosed in the piano case.

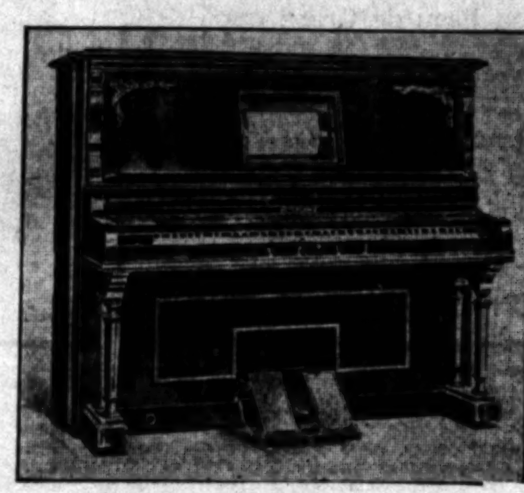
The pedals disappear when the piano is not being played with the perforated roll, so that it has the same appearance as other pianos.

The flexible fingers operated by pneumatics are equally as sensitive as the human touch, and the modulation is absolutely under the control of the performer.

If you have not heard the AUTOPIANO you have not heard the best music played in the best manner, as there exists absolutely nothing musically beyond its reach. We are sole agents for these wonderful instruments and invite you to call and inspect them.

A FREE CONCERT

will be given every evening on the AUTOPIANO which is a live, willing and always ready entertainer.



THE AUTOPIANO READY TO PLAY WITH MUSIC ROLL.

Our music catalogue contains all classes of music, and all that is necessary to play your favorite melodies or selections is to insert one of the perforated rolls of music and operate the pedals.

We have decided to give all our customers access to our absolutely free of all cost.

DO YOU KNOW OUR STORY and a half?

It is shortly told. Our plans of story and a half houses contain bed chambers upstairs, with full-height ceilings, and the house from the interior has all the appearance of a full two-story house.

And there is little difference in the expense of one of our story and a half houses and a cottage, and their interior arrangement justifies the praise we accord them.

Call and see these plans;
They will delight you.

HEARTS OPEN FOR ANIMALS.

Thousand Show Enthusiasm Toward S. P. C. A.

Remarkable Gathering in the Doheny Mansion.

Public Flocks to the Meeting Without Cards.

The greatest of the meetings yet held in the interest of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was that of last night at the magnificent home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doheny, No. 8 Chester Place. Invitations had had been issued to several hundred persons whose attendance was desired in order that their sympathy might be enlisted, but the attendance reached about 1000.

The guests were seated in rectangular form, filling six rooms of the beautiful mansion, the music-room serving as the stage for speakers and musicians. The gold piano, which has just been installed by Mrs. Doheny at a cost of $10,000, was for the first time played at a public function last night, by Miss Gertrude Cohn, the local piano prodigy who is also a protegé of Mrs. Doheny. The combination won great applause from the audience. A vocal solo by Mrs. Charles Wellington Rand was a finished production, and highly appreciated, and the last of the music numbers, a baritone solo by Harry Clifford Lott, was received with equal favor.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox was present as the guest of honor, and an opportunity was given all the guests to meet her at the close of the programme. This feature of the affair was directed by a Reception Committee composed of thirty-three prominent women.

Dr. W. A. Lamb, president of the society, in stating the purpose of the meeting, spoke of the patience and devotion of dumb animals in the hands of man, and how they are too often made to suffer unnecessarily through the ignorance as well as by the wilful conduct of their masters. He said the purpose of the society was not only to correct but to educate men in the nobility of domestic animals. "We have done something toward enforcing the law, in which we are supported by the authority of our State," he said.

THAT FAITHFUL BULLDOG.

The president introduced as the first speaker of the evening, the Rev. B. Fay Mills, who opened his address by saying:

"I count it the highest privilege to be a tongue for those who cannot speak for themselves. I am here tonight as a preacher. Sometimes on Sunday I do not preach, but tonight I am going to magnify my office and preach for all I am worth. We have you here, and you can't get away, and we're going to give it to you."

Mr. Mills took up the subject of man's relation to what he called "our weaker brothers and sisters," and enlarged upon man's inhumanity to dumb animals.

"I am proud of being related to that faithful bulldog of whom Dr. Lamb spoke tonight," said Mr. Mills; "I am proud of being related to that courageous dog that pulled the puppy out of the water at Westlake. Courage, devotion and sympathy we share with the animals not quite so highly developed as we are. Do you know that a dog is simply a wolf to whose ancestors somebody has been kind?

"We celebrate Christmas by a great slaughter of the innocents," he said, "it's no wonder our ideal is a football game."

DUCKS FOR ROGERS.

When Earl Rogers, attorney for the society, was introduced, the first thing he did was to inferentially give notice that this is not an anti-meat-eating society, but a society to protect animals from undue cruelty at the hands of their masters.

"I never expect to reach that high ideal advocated by the former speaker," said Mr. Rogers. "I confess to a love for ducks at certain seasons of the year. I have lived on rice and milk, but it was because the doctors compelled me to.

"We are engaged in preventing all kinds of cruelty, such as dogs being set upon each other to chew a leg off; dogs being set on rabbits to tear them asunder, and the driving of ill-fed, lame, sick and diseased horses. Last year we saved from their tormentors 447 such horses."

Mr. Rogers closed with some pleasantries that pleased the audience, after which the securing of new members for the society was taken up and a large number of ladies and gentlemen identified themselves with the rapidly-growing organization.

Just preceding presentation of the assemblage to Mrs. Wilcox, Mr. Rogers read a poem the authoress had written for the occasion.

VERY FEW PEOPLE

Are Free From Some Form of Indigestion.

Very few people are free from some form of indigestion, but scarcely two will have the same symptoms.

Some suffer most directly after eating, bloating from gas in stomach and bowels, others have heartburn or sour risings, still others have palpitation of heart, headaches, sleeplessness, pains in chest and under shoulder blades, some have extreme nervousness, as in nervous dyspepsia.

But whatever the symptoms may be, the cause in all cases of indigestion is the same, that is the stomach for some reason fails to properly and promptly digest what is eaten.

This is the whole story of stomach troubles in a nutshell. The stomach must have rest and assistance and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give it both by supplying those natural digestives which every weak stomach lacks, owing to the failure of the peptic glands in the stomach to secrete sufficient acid and pepsin to thoroughly digest and assimilate the food eaten.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3000 grains of meat, eggs or other wholesome food, and this claim has been proven by actual experiment, which anyone can perform for himself in the following manner: Cut a hard-boiled egg into very small pieces, as it would be if masticated; place the egg and two or three of the tablets in a bottle or jar containing warm water heated to 98 degs. (the temperature of the body) and keep it at this temperature for three and one-half hours, at the end of which time the egg will be as completely digested as it would have been in the healthy stomach of a hungry boy.

The point of this experiment is that what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do to the egg in the bottle they will do to the egg or meat in the stomach and nothing else will rest and invigorate the stomach so safely and effectually. Even a little child can take Stuart's Tablets with safety and benefit of its digestion is weak and the thousands of cures accomplished by their regular daily use are easily explained when it is understood that they are composed of vegetable essences, aseptic, pepsin, diastase and Golden Seal, which mingle with the food and digest it thoroughly, giving the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate.

Dieting never cures dyspepsia, neither do pills and cathartic medicines, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines.

When enough food is eaten and promptly digested there will be no constipation, nor in fact will there be disease of any kind because good digestion means good health in every organ.

The merit and success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are world-wide and they are sold at the moderate price of 50 cents for full-sized packages in every drug store in the United States and Canada, as well as in Europe.

SALTED MANY SUCKERS.

W. H. Orr, Quondam "Salt King," Arrested Here.

Wanted in San Francisco on Swindling Charge.

W. J. Carter Also Taken in on Felony Complaint.

Two men wanted in San Francisco on felony charges were picked up by the local police yesterday, and will be held in jail pending the arrival of an officer from the North. They are Walter H. Orr, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, and Willis J. Cartter, wanted on a burglary charge.

QUONDAM SALT KING.

An exclusive dispatch to The Times from San Francisco says Walter H. Orr, is a mining man who gathered in a small fortune in San Francisco by making picturesque promises of wealth to be gained, which failed of fruition, and which, his dupes charge, he knew to be false when made.

Fred Jacobsen, an electrician living on Minna street, is the complainant against Orr. He expresses the sentiments of a score of others who had business dealings with Orr. As soon as Orr is returned to San Francisco another charge will be lodged against him by another of his alleged victims.

The basis of the charges against Orr is that he fraudulently obtained money to locate and relocate the sale of land under the government act extending the placer mining laws to saline lands in San Bernardino county. Orr came to San Francisco in the early part of 1901, with the tale that he had discovered valuable beds of salt adjacent to Danby station. At first he said there were 400 acres of these salt lands, and later increased his find to 8000 acres. He declared the salt was 90 per cent. pure, and that it could be brought to San Francisco and sold for $4 a ton. He declared he could run the salt trust out of business in a short time, or make it pay an enormous figure for the property of desert land owners. He was willing to stake out claims for from $25 to $60, and soon staked out the entire 400 acres which he had at first mentioned. He then began adding to the area of the salt lands, and did a rushing business. Then he suddenly disappeared, ostensibly for the salt lands, and since then those whom he swindled have been worrying considerably over their investments.

A DRAPER'S DILEMMA.

Willis J. Carter, a draper employed in the Boston Store, is held on a burglary charge. Carter had worked for the Boston people several months and his employers thought well of him. He said he could not understand how a charge of burglary could have been preferred against him in the northern city. He had borrowed $300 from a man in San Francisco, but couldn't figure out how that transaction could be construed as a burglary.

A special from San Francisco to The Times says the wide-open eyes of a four-year-old child brought about the arrest of Carter on a charge of burglary. Carter is alleged to have entered the home of Mrs. Lillie Kelly on Golden Gate avenue on February 20, and to have stolen a valuable diamond stud. A man was seen leaving the house by Mrs. Carter's little boy, who told his mother of the incident. The mother swore out a warrant charging Carter with burglary.

It is alleged by the San Francisco police that when Carter made his hasty leave-taking from this city he deserted his wife and at the same time robbed her of $75.

BATTLE WITH TOUGHS.

Patrolman Has Dangerous Mix-up With Notorious Coons, Finally Treeing 'Em.

When Patrolman Bomar tried to arrest a Darktown tough on a petty larceny charge Wednesday night he had no idea that a shooting scrape and a general knock-down and drag-out fight would result.

But before the policeman realized the true situation he was knocked down and pummeled by three ruffians, one of whom grabbed the disabled officer's revolver and threatened to kill him. The timely arrival of Patrolman Teasdale saved Bomar.

Bomar arrested one George Hart, a member of a notorious gang of toughs, on a larceny charge. The policeman took Hart out of a crowd at East Seventh and Mateo streets, and started to a call box. M. H. Daley, a member of the gang, interfered, and a fist fight resulted. Both men broke and ran, and were chased down by Bomar. Just as the policeman overhauled them Daley wheeled and drew a knife.

The tough was knocked down with a club by Bomar, but Hart was still fighting, when another hoodlum, Wallace Platt, entered the ring and grappled with the officer. The three men put Bomar out, blackened his eyes and took his gun. Patrolman Teasdale hove in sight, drew his revolver and ordered the toughs to throw up their hands. They ran for dear life. Teasdale fired three shots at them, but missed.

At No. 1207 East Seventh street the toughs crawled under a house, the policemen following. After a game of hide-and-seek under the sills, with heads striking the hard beams above, Hart was recaptured, but Daley and Platt got away. Yesterday Daley was picked up by Teasdale. When Platt is arrested all will face serious charges.

DERIDES AUTOMOBILE.

Street Superintendent Hanley Balks at Repair Bill and Spurns Use of Machine.

A wraith of former Street Superintendent Werdin's red dragon automobile yesterday afternoon flitted over the transom into his sucessor's private office.

The apparition came in the guise of a bill from a local automobile repair shop for "$156.50 for repairs for one Ford machine" from January 28 to February 8.

"I haven't any use for an automobile in this department," declared Mr. Hanley. "I never rode in the infernal machine. Walking is good enough for me. Send it back and tell those people that if they will give me the $156 to flush the streets with they can have it.

"Somebody has got to take that machine. I will not waste the funds of this department on bric-a-brac like that."

For almost a month the bill has been floating about the City Hall. It had been hoped the Council would pass it on the quiet and that Hanley wouldn't know how big the bill had been.

But yesterday afternoon, like the gasoline in the old tank, it leaked out. Superintendent Hanley will O.K. the present bill only on condition that the machine be transferred to some other department.

The jury found death to have been accidental. Mrs. Ransom testified that her husband frequently boarded freight trains in order to save time.

Didn't Steal It.

Fred Zeigler, youth, arrested on a charge of stealing a laundry horse and wagon on North Spring street, proved to the satisfaction of Justice Chambers that he is innocent of wrong doing, and was discharged. Zeigler proved that he took the wagon only to turn it over to some responsible party, and had no intention of stealing it.

Death of Mrs. Oliver.

Mrs. Anna B. Oliver, aged 27, wife of William E. Oliver of the firm of Oliver & Haines, book dealers on Spring street near First, died yesterday afternoon at the family residence, No. 1043 Florida street, after a long illness. Child Burned; No Inquest.

The two-year-old daughter of Herman Reuter of No. 116 East Twenty-fifth street, burned to death Wednesday evening, was buried yesterday. Accompanied by Mr. Harshberger he will make a tour of the Coast, commencing on Monday, March 13.

Webb Passes on Special.

Dr. W. Seward Webb, whose wife is a daughter of the late W. H. Vanderbilt, reached Los Angeles yesterday afternoon with a large family party in a special train of five cars that came over the Southern Pacific from New Orleans. No stop was made here, the train being switched promptly at River Station and proceeding to Santa Barbara. Dr. Webb was president of the Wagner Palace Car Company before it was merged with the Pullman Company. He is a director in the latter corporation and of various railroads in the Vanderbilt group.

Nightly classes are held in the Montezuma Hall, which has been fitted up in one of the large rooms of the old rectory, and the rector, Rev. Juan Caballeria, is assisted in the teaching by volunteer members of the parish.

Damage Suit Likely.

A suit for damages against the Interurban Railway Company is expected to result from the accident at Twelfth and Hill streets Tuesday afternoon, in which Mrs. Huldah De La Monte was killed. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death and the company was not censured for neglect, but it was demonstrated that the car was not provided with a fender. Witnesses showed marked difference of opinion in regard to the speed of the car. Some thought the car was running at a rate of seven miles an hour, while others guessed it might have been twenty miles an hour.

BULLET FIRED THROUGH PANE.

Weird Attempt to Commit Cowardly Murder.

E. Mazy's Family Attacked While at Table.

Gun Barrel Thrust Through Window During Meal.

Snap-shot aim frustrated a dastardly attempt at murder shortly after dark last night on the high hills just north of Elysian Park Drive. Fired at through a window-pane by an unknown would-be assassin while they sat at their lamp-lighted supper table, members of the family of Emile Mazy, the artist, escaped death because a common board partition stopped the course of a bullet which if fired an inch to the left would have done bloody work, indeed.

Emile Mazy, painter of miniatures, graduate of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, mural artist of note, lives with his wife and five children in a little bungalow on the very crest of the hills that guard the western entrance to Elysian Park. It is the simplest of one-story frames, boasting but two rooms, but the view is one to delight a painter's heart; by day you can glimpse the ocean from the brow of the weed-grown terrace, and at night a thousand electric lights gleam west and north in the levels far below. A forest of baby pines surrounds the house.

Strange to say, this cosy nook belongs to a butcher—a slaughter of beefs named Smith. His shop is on Forty-second street, where he is said to live, having moved there three months ago after leasing his sky abode to the artist.

Every Sunday since he trekked down from the hills to dwell in the city, this Smith has paid a visit to his former eyrie, and usually, says Mme. Mazy, has acted after the manner of a crazy man, running about on the outside from window to window, going into extemporaneous rhapsodies over the par excellence of the views, and patiently mourning the evil day he forsook the heights for the plane.

SIX INCHES OF GUN.

At 7:30 o'clock last night the artist and his family—wife, three girls and two boys, the youngest 3 years of age, and the eldest 15—drew up their chairs and sat down to a leisurely supper. They had progressed for perhaps ten minutes when a sudden tinkle of falling glass gave them a shock.

All sprang to their feet. With a scream Mme. Mazy pointed to the west window. Six inches of rusty gun barrel protruded into the lamp-lighted room through a ragged hole in the pane.

M. Mazy rushed to a couch and seized from under a pillow a toy pistol of innocuous caliber. "Allons!" he cried, and leaped to the window. The gun barrel was gone. He fired once through the splintered pane into the night.

An answering shot rang out. The invisible villain had skirted the house and fired his weapon through a north window.

"Allons!" cried the intrepid Frenchman, and rushing into the kitchen shot his toy once more into the night. Footsteps in flight slurred over the ground. And all without was still. Within was volubility.

Detectives, summoned by telephone, took their penknives and dug a bullet of almost an ounce weight from the partition between the two rooms.

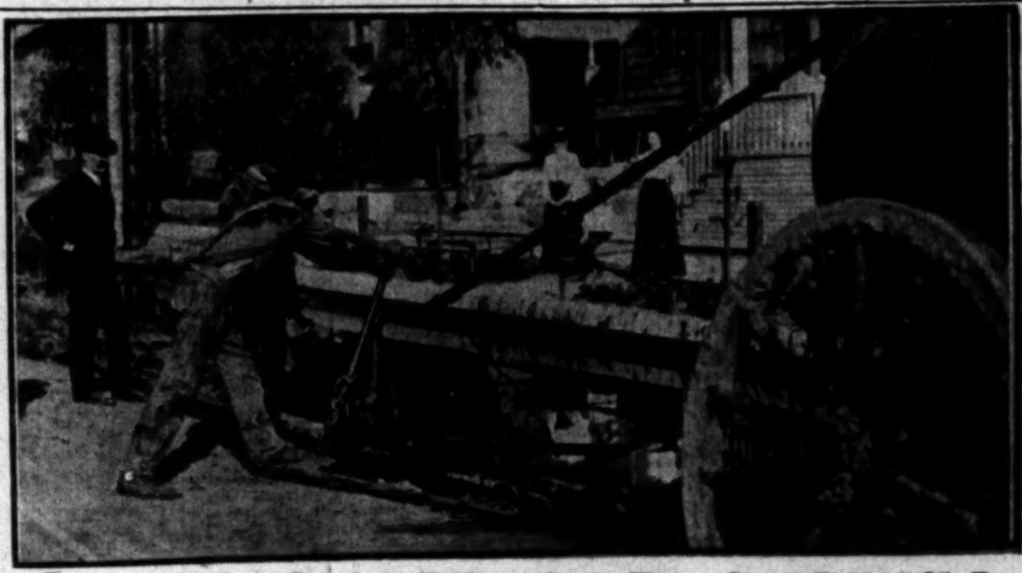
"Ah! diable!" cried M. Mazy; "I have not those enemies—what does it mean?"

As for Mme. Mazy, she sought some quieter place to spend the night.

Emile Mazy and his family, who were fired upon in their home.

PLANTATION WEDDING.

A burlesque of a southern plantation wedding was given last evening at Odd Fellows Hall for the benefit of Fraternity Rebekah Lodge. Mrs. Ada Madison, Past State President of the organization, had charge of the entertainment, in which thirty-six persons, in fantastic negro costume and with blackened faces, took part. A dance followed the "wedding."



Operations in the Great Petroleum Field on South Flower Street—Raising Oil From Pool to Tank.

STREET YIELDS PETROLEUM.

PUMPED FROM SOUTH FLOWER BY TANKFULS.

About Hundred Barrels Taken Out of Storm-drain Reservoir and Hauled Away Within a Few Days. Strange Trouble for the City Engineer's Department Result of Storm.

Pumping oil from the public streets is likely a novelty to all the world except Los Angeles.

Four tank-wagon loads, probably one hundred barrels in all, was pumped from an improvised dam on Flower street yesterday and the day before, and hauled away for the mere trouble of pumping it.

The breaking of a great hole into the old storm drain at Second street and Fremont avenue, a few weeks ago, is directly responsible for this unexpected storage of oil where it has no business to be found.

This old storm drain follows the Arroyo de los Reyes, from the old First-street Park, at First street and Lakeshore avenue, running diagonally through the city toward the river. Though this is a 32-inch drain, it is not sufficient to carry off the vast flow of surface water during a heavy storm. To add to the trouble, the break above referred to sent a lot of debris into the drain, which probably included pieces of timber, and with dirt and gravel soon formed an impassable barrier that caused all the water to flow down Figueroa and Flower streets, flooding the whole southern part of the city during the rain.

To add to the unpleasantness of the situation, several hundred barrels of oil escaped from the old park, where that which was once a lake of water has in the more recent times, when many things have fallen under the wheels of the oil juggernaut, been a lake of petroleum, or in other words a despised sump-hole for the waste from the surrounding oil wells.

This heavy oil flowed into the sewer until it filled it to the obstruction and then flowed out over the streets, and persons living in that section of the city south of Sixth street and east of Figueroa, will now understand the source of their unpleasant experiences with the oil that smeared their curbs and sidewalks during the recent storm.

As soon as the rains ceased the City Engineer's Department put a force of men at work to find the obstruction in the sewer and they have been strenuously pursuing the work for nearly two weeks. The first thing they encountered after installing a portable steam engine and pump at Fifth and Flower streets was this 32-inch pipe filled with oil and water. Dams were built of earth extending from the curb toward the middle of the street, and into these dams the mixture was pumped. Pipes were so placed in the dams as to drain the water from the bottom and leave the oil on top, and it is this that is being pumped into tanks and hauled away.

The men in charge of the work tell of their troubles in finding somebody willing to haul the oil away for it. Some of those persons approached with the proposition wanted 10 cents a barrel and the oil in addition for taking it away, but a man was finally found who was willing to take it off for what he could get out of it.

A number of openings have been dug down to the drain to find the obstruction and it has been definitely located between Fourth and Fifth streets, near the latter. A hole was put down just west of the Normal School building, where the drain runs close to the high bank of the aroyo and it was found perfectly dry. The next opening was made in Flower street, perhaps one hundred feet west of the first one and about the same distance north, and it was from this that the main body of the oil has been pumped. This definitely locates the obstruction between the two openings.

The engine and pump have been moved to Fifth and Flower and the pumping is now being done from the manhole at that point to prevent accumulation below, and it is thought that the obstruction may be reached today and removed, thus preventing a repetition of the flood experiences in case of another heavy rain.

The choking of this drain forms a good object-lesson in the matter of storm-drains. This old drain, inadequate though it be, prevents the greater part of the surface water, often with a disgusting top-dressing of oil, from flowing down over the city from the hill-section, and a few others suitably located and of greater dimensions will almost entirely prevent this source of so much complaint and dissatisfaction.

It is generally conceded that no expenditure of the city's funds can give a better return to the city at large than the sum that may be put into storm drains.

FRENCH IN SCHOOLS THROUGHOUT CITY.

THE public school pupils of Los Angeles will soon have the benefit of the best and purest instruction in the French language, for a merely nominal cost.

A proposition to furnish this rare advantage was made by the local branch of the Alliance Francaise, and awaits acceptance by the Board of Education at the next meeting of that body. The offer was made by Mrs. A. J. Chandler, president of the Alliance Francaise, and J. Auclair, the secretary and representative in this city of the general organization extending all over the world.

The school board referred the matter to a committee, of which Charles Cassat Davis is chairman, for the purpose of investigating and making a stated agreement as to conditions with the French Alliance. These have all been agreed to, and Mr. Davis stated yesterday that in his opinion it affords a fine opportunity for the children to learn this beautiful and important language, and he feels sure that the board will not allow the opportunity to slip by.

The plan is to have the teachers furnished by the Alliance Francaise give lessons to classes immediately after school hours in all the schools in the city where a sufficient number of pupils are desirous of learning the language, the price for this instruction to be $1 a month. The high standard of the French Alliance is considered by Mr. Davis a guarantee that the teaching will be of the very best and highest to be obtained, and according to the most up-to-date methods.

The Alliance already is giving this instruction for the benefit of the public schools in many of the leading cities all over the country, and it is in line with the main purpose of the organization, which is the spread of the knowledge of the French language.

The alliance is under the auspices of the French government, with organizations in America and the countries of Europe, and representatives are constantly forming new branches in various cities. The Los Angeles Alliance was started last spring by M. Auclair, and the most cultured element in the city took it up with enthusiasm. F. A. Bouelle, principal of the Castelar-street school, is treasurer. The vice-presidents are Mrs. Jules Kauffman and Mrs. Britt; Mrs. P. A. Demens is corresponding secretary. Others prominently identified with the alliance are Mrs. J. A. LeDoux, Mrs. J. S. Sartori and A. Fusenot, French Consul.

Mr. Davis stated yesterday that the plan for the instruction in the schools will probably be put into practical effect as soon as the board shall pass upon the report of his committee. Six schools will be selected for the initial efforts, and it will be given to others as the demand increases.

GIRL'S SHARP TEETH REPEL A HIGHWAYMAN.

WITH teeth for a weapon and a good strong voice used in sounding an alarm, Miss E. M. Bugbee of No. 275 East Forty-second street, repelled the attack of a highwayman last night.

Miss Bugbee had been downtown, and about 9:30 o'clock boarded a Maple-avenue car for home. She alighted at Forty-second street, and, as she stepped into the shadow of some pepper trees, a man sprang at her and demanded her money. With one arm he seized her about the waist, and with the other hand he tried to stifle her cries by placing it over her mouth.

Miss Bugbee struggled, but the robber held her fast. She could not scream because she was muzzled by the ruffian's hand. But the freedom of her jaws was not interfered with, and she made the most of the opportunity.

Miss Bugbee's teeth are not of the store variety. They are good and sharp. The morsel was not a dainty one, but it was a tempting one at the moment. With all the force she could put into her jaws she buried her ivories in the man's hand until he screamed with pain. When she released him he sprang into the street holding his injured hand with the other.

Then Miss Bugbee began calling for help. Her cries aroused the neighborhood, and men armed with such weapons as they could find in a hurry ran to her assistance, but the robber made his escape across vacant lots before he could be captured.

MRS. DEL VALLE SICK.

Señora Ysabel del Valle, mother of ex-State Senator R. F. del Valle, is reported seriously sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Forster, No. 2106 South Grand avenue. She has been ailing for several months, and little hope is now entertained for her recovery. She is 68 years old, and won wide celebrity as the hospitable mistress of Rancho Camulos, the home of Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona." The aged señora is the widow of the late Don Ygnacio del Valle, to whom she was married in 1851, six children being born as the result of the union.

STRANDED FAMILY.

Father and Children Helpless, Mother Who Should be at Home Peddling Soap.

A sad case of a stranded family came to light yesterday, through the workings of the Humane Society. It is one which appeals to the sympathies of those who encourage the poverty-stricken to become self-helpful instead of depending on charity.

W. Chadwick and wife with their five children, live at No. 617 Hewitt street, in a dilapidated cottage that, fortunately, its owner says will soon be pulled down. The head of the Chadwick household is a constant sufferer from muscular rheumatism, and claims inability to do any hard labor.

Mrs. Chadwick expects with a short time to add another member to the brood of little ones, whose ages range from 1½ years to 15 years. The eldest and youngest of these are boys.

The family came to Los Angeles from Gloucester, Mass., four months ago, in the hope of restoring Chadwick's health. Like so many other unfortunates they had barely enough money to bring them to a strange land, where they had to begin the struggle for existence with the handicap of a semi-invalid father, an over-burdened mother, and helpless little ones.

Chadwick procurd a horse and wagon and started out to gather junk. When able to work he made a living for his family; but there were too many days between without an income. A few days ago the Mayor gave Chadwick a license to drive his wagon in order to prevent him becoming an object of charity; but the next day an officer of the S.P.C.A. discovered the horse was in such a condition that he instructed Chadwick to give it two weeks' rest and plenty of feed. This cut off the family resources, and Mrs. Chadwick, who should be in the privacy of her own home, started out yesterday to sell soap, to earn bread for her little ones.

It was stated yesterday by Humane Officer Zimmer that the case will have further investigation, and likely another horse would be provided for Chadwick's temporary use.

HOW WE GROW.

The report of Postmaster M. H. Flint for the month of February shows that the postal receipts were $54,885.79, an increase of $9,705.90, or 21.48 per cent. over the same month last year. During the month, 13,324 changes of address were filed at the local postoffice, an average of nearly 500 each day, indicating that there are more tourists in Los Angeles at the present time than ever before.

HATE TO SEE GOOD WORKS.

Jimgrayites Try to Down a New Church.

Latest Farce Being Acted at San Bernardino.

Preacher and People Call It a Sputtering Fizzle.

The labor union devil of Southern California, mortally wounded by the shafts of good sense, is doing some thrashing about in his final agonies, and the latest wiggle of his tail has come at San Bernardino, where the totemizors have attempted—and with a dismal fiasco—to stop the building of a Baptist church.

Jim Gray is said to be directly responsible for the assault on religion. At least, the pastor and some of the leading members assert that a visit from Gray stirred up trouble, where trouble had never been known before, and that following his arrival from Los Angeles mutterings of discontent began to break out.

The First Baptist Church, Rev. Mark B. Shaw, presiding minister, has long contemplated the erection of a handsome new home for its congregation. The edifice now going up will cost about $12,500, but by contributions of work from the church members, the body will be enabled to have a building worth almost $20,000, if put up at the usual rates of labor.

It was precisely this gratis contribution to the glory of God that stirred the unionists to a condition of sizzling fomentation. They couldn't stand to see anybody prosper outside the union, and if religion couldn't be unionized, why that must be put down, too.

H. A. Reed, the senior deacon of the congregation, and one of the largest contractors in San Bernardino, undertook the foremanship of the whole job at a price that was nominal for an employer, and the foundation walls rose rapidly. Many men of the church who knew merely enough about carpentry to drive a nail straight, asked to be allowed to help; professional carpenters gave such time as they could spare, at low prices.

Jim Gray went over from Los Angeles on a visit.

The first indication of trouble was when it broke out suddenly in the family of one Gowell, president of the San Bernardino local of the Carpenters' Union. Mrs. Gowell is the Sunday-school visitor of the First Baptist Church, and a deaconess of the flock whose hand is in every good work.

Mrs. Gowell began to look regretfully at the rising walls of the new church, and the pastor understood that the man of the family had issued a typical unionite "ultitomatum" that the wife of his bosom should not put her foot inside the "scab" building at its completion.

Then the workmen began to hear whispered taunts of "scab!" thrown at them as they toiled.

One man was seen about the cement work wearing a carpenter's apron, the subject was taken note of in "official" union action, and a formal note was sent the builders. It mattered not that he had merely picked it up to save his trousers—as no other protecting garment was handy—this made no difference; it was not a mason's apron, and the offense was great.

The churchmen now fear that had anyone used a stonemason's hammer to drive nails with, an insurrection would have broken out in the town.

Yet, according to the pastor and others, the work is progressing at a rapid rate, the church is gaining in membership, and the finished structure will be even finer than that which was originally planned.

This nothwithstanding the taunts, jibes, hinderings and repeated insults of the "labor council" allies and camp-followers of San Bernardino county.

NOTED BANKER HERE.

Paine of New York, President of Consolidated National Comes for a Visit.

Willis S. Paine, president of the Consolidated National Bank of New York City, and a cousin of J. Pierpont Morgan, is at the Angelus with Mrs. Paine. They will pass a month in Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Mr. Paine was superintendent of the banking department of New York State during the administration of Gov. Grover Cleveland, later President of the United States, and held the position seven years. Later he became president of the State Trust Company, now the Morton Trust Company. He is the author of several books on banking and allied subjects, the best known of which is "Paine's Banking Law."

This is the first visit of Mr. Paine to Southern California. He expresses surprise at finding Los Angeles so large and prosperous, saying the city in many respects is far in advance of many eastern communities.

WIRES BOGGED.

"Sunspots" Cause Electrical Disturbance That Affects the Overland Telegraph Service.

Overland telegraph service to and from Los Angeles was interrupted seriously yesterday and last night by a peculiar electrical disturbance in the atmosphere, supposed to be due to "sun spots."

Nearly every heavy circuit from here to Chicago, on which press or other matter is handled practically was out of commission a good share of the time. Operators were obliged to work slowly in order to get matter through at all.

Telegraph men at Chicago reported that the disturbance was severe in that vicinity and on eastern lines.

At times the instruments on the best copper circuits from Los Angeles to the East gave forth only faint sounds.

Telegraph officials say they have been expecting trouble, the recent hot spell that has extended over this section indicating to them that the air was strongly charged with electricity.

One peculiarity noted is that only the wires running east and west are affected. Those that extend from north to south seem to work as well as ever.

MAY REDUCE CITY TAX RATE.

MAYOR AND COUNCIL COMBINE FOR RETRENCHMENT.

If City Assessor Makes Good His Estimates on First Assessment a Substantial Reduction in the Tax Rate Will Follow—Knockout Blow for Place Hunters.

Results of the business administration inaugurated the first of the year are making themselves manifest in a general movement all along the line for a reduction of the city tax rate.

Property holders who have seen this same tax rate advancing steadily for the last ten years are likely to be a bit skeptical about the outcome; but the fiat has gone forth from the Mayor and from hte Finance Committee of the Council that this year the rate must come down.

City Assessor Lewis has given an advanced estimate that his first assessment will show an increase of $35,000,000 in the assessed valuation of Los Angeles real and personal property. This at the present tax rate would mean an increase of $350,000 in the city's revenue. During the year the city's legitimate expenses have not increased half that amount.

Of course there are places where the extra money could be used. Place hunters have already disposed of the greater portion of it, in anticipation. But they have not reckoned with a hard-headed Mayor and a close-fisted Finance Committee.

Estimates already prepared show that the value of Los Angeles property has advanced so rapidly that it is no longer necessary to follow the time honored precedent of fixing the rate every year at the maximum limit provided by the charter.

For the last two years the tax rate has been $1.40 on each $100 of assessed valuation. Of this amount $1 is devoted to paying for the running expenses of the municipal government and 40 cents for interest and sinking fund on municipal bonds.

It is claimed that the additional revenue from the $35,000,000 increased property valuation will this year permit the reduction of the tax rate to 90 cents in the old city limits for the running expenses of the city government. There are no additional bonds to be added this year to the city's burden of unredeemed pledges and, as a few have matured during the year, the tax rate for the bonded indebtedness may be reduced to 38 cents on the $100. This will mean a tax rate of $1.28 in the old city limits. In the Vernon and University additions the rate will be about 15 cents lower.

At high noon Monday the field workers in the Assessor's office will be turned loose on unwilling householders for the purpose of collecting data for the new assessment. They will be armed with badges and identification cards galore, that they may be distinguished from the fake deputies who generally take to the suburbs about the time a new assessment starts. These fakers generally reap a rich harvest for the first few days collecting personal property tax from credulous housewives.

JAPANESE NIGHT. ON BRILLIANT BROADWAY.

The directorate of the Broadway Improvement Association yesterday afternoon signed an agreement to pay half the expense of lighting Broadway during the remainder of the present fiscal year, thereby removing the last barrier to "Broadway Brilliant." Mayor McAleer will sign the contract for lighting the new street lamps this morning and on the night of May 1 the boulevard will blossom forth in electrical splendor.

The Executive Committee of the association are planning to celebrate the inauguration of the new system with a Japanese carnival night. Their plan reads like a page from the chronicling of the splendor of the time-haloed fiestas. A contract is to be let at once for supplying 20,000 Japanese lanterns; there will be floats telling in pictured story the evolution of Broadway from a sheep trail to one of the handsomest business streets in the country, and all the customary accessories.

President Blanchard yesterday afternoon disclaimed any connection with this Japanese night with the present unpleasantness in the Orient. He said that it would be made Japanese instead of Cossack for the reason that the climate here is not conducive to the success of a Cossack pageant.

BONDS ALL SOLD. WATCHMEN GUARD THE GOLD.

Delivery was yesterday afternoon made of $150,000 impounding reservoir bonds to the Los Angeles Trust Company. The City Treasurer received in exchange $154,250 in gold, and promptly transferred it to the guarded vault in the American National Bank. There it will be under the eyes of city watchmen until it is paid out on demands for the construction of the new reservoir in the San Fernando Valley.

The impounding reservoir bonds were voted at a special election held a year ago. They bear interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum, and are redeemable in forty equal annual installments. They were the last to go of over $2,000,000 bonds voted for municipal improvements. The water department has pledged itself to pay the money for the redemption of the bonds out of the water revenue.

Visit Griffith Park.

A tallyho and three automobiles yesterday carried the Mayor, Park Commission, six members of the Council and a dozen guests on a junketing trip to Griffith Park. It was the first visit of the new commission to this mammoth pleasure ground. The Councilmen were taken along in order that they might learn from personal observation the necessity for an increase in the appropriation for the park in the next municipal budget. Being outside the city limits, this park has no Councilman to watch over it and guide its destinies. It is a sort of municipal foundling.

Hydrants Off Duty.

Flushers in the street department Wednesday night found all the fire hydrants on South Broadway between Sixth and Eighth streets out of repair. Even with the assistance of the fire department, they were unable to get water from any of them.

"It was fortunate that water was wanted for flushing the street instead of putting out a fire," said Street Superintendent Hanley yesterday afternoon. "It would have been a sorry night for South Broadway had fire broken out."

Frequent complaint has been made of late that fire hydrants in different sections of the city are out of order. It is claimed that faulty work was done last fall in fitting up a number of hydrants with new valves. The discovery that so large a section in the business district was without fire protection will probably result in an immediate inspection of fire hydrants all over the city.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

GRIFFITH NOT DONE FIGHTING.

STILL HOPES TO STAVE OFF HIS PRISON SENTENCE.

Supreme Court Decision Was Disappointing to the Culprit, but He Will Make One More Effort to Avoid the Inevitable—Will Ask Rehearing en Banc.

Griffith J. Griffith, sentenced to two years' imprisonment at San Quentin and to pay a fine of $5000 for his murderous attack upon his wife at the Arcadia Hotel, Santa Monica, in September, 1903, has not abandoned hope of being able to stave off the penalty of his crime.

The news that the Supreme Court had confirmed the judgment of the trial court was conveyed to Griffith yesterday morning in the County Jail. He was disappointed, but not altogether discouraged.

It is understood that Earl Rogers, senior counsel for Griffith, will apply to the Supreme Court for a rehearing. The matter was heard by the court of last resort in department; now application will be made that it be heard before the justices sitting en banc.

There is one point which the defense considers important, and which was not raised at the previous hearing. It will be contended that if the decision of the Supreme Court be accepted as final at this stage, and Griffith should be sent North to begin his term of sentence, the fact that he was an inmate of the State penitentiary would be highly prejudicial to him in the suit now pending wherein he is being sued for $20,000 attorney's fees.

The finding of the jury in the case wherein Messrs. Silent & Works sued Griffith for $20,000 was overturned, and a new trial ordered. When the case comes again to trial it will not be possible for the defendant to be present in court, if he is serving a State's prison sentence at the time. The law does not permit a convict in a State prison to pass the walls for the purpose of testifying in a civil matter. The only thing left to do would be to take Griffith's deposition and read it to the jury. But that would be a weak way of putting in a defense in such a case, made all the weaker when counsel would be compelled to preface the reading with the remark that deponent was a felon incarcerated in the State's prison. After such a statement the deposition might as well be laid aside for all the confidence an average jury would have in its disclosures. This is the strong point that will be made in applying for a rehearing before the Supreme Court en banc, and whether it avails anything or not, the delay, it is believed, will enable Griffith to be present at the second trial of the fee case, and personally testify in his own behalf.

HIS ARDOR COOLED. DIVORCE ENDS ROMANCE.

Mrs. Presha Van Santen, a dashing and handsome young woman, appeared before Judge Trask yesterday, asking for a divorce from her faithless boy husband, Nanseta Van Santen.

Her father is an Arizona cattle king and sent her to the university at Salt Lake City to be educated. There Van Santen appeared upon the scene and captivated the college girl. In 1903 she met him at Ogden and eloped with him to San Francisco, where they tarried for a few days while she visited friends in Oakland. Then they came on to Los Angeles and registered at the Angelus, and were married by Rev. W. Irwin.

After her marriage she discovered for the first time that Van Santen was a traveling lecturer for the Oriental Remedy Company. About the same time she received a telegram from her home, telling her of her mother's serious illness, and she at once started for Arizona.

When she returned to Los Angeles to rejoin her husband he would have nothing more to do with her. He assigned no reason for casting her off.

Mrs. Van Santen could not throw any light upon the matter herself, beyond saying that she believed that he fibbed when he persuaded her to elope with him. She believes now that he was under age when they got married. Van Santen is not his true name, but that his real name is Dias.

E. M. Davies, a traveling lecturer for the Oriental Remedy Company, testified that he and Van Santen had traveled about the country together, and that he had heard him refuse to send money to his wife and say that he would under no circumstances live with her.

Another witness testified to the same effect, and then Judge Trask took the case under advisement.

STRENUOUS JUSTICE. DISPENSED AT DOWNEY.

William Morrow, a well-to-do rancher of the Downey district, drove his three daughters in the family buggy to a dance at the town hall, on the eve of Washington's birthday. He tied his horse to a tree and escorted his daughters into the hall. About midnight Morrow went outside to look after his horse and buggy, and make ready for the drive home, but the horse had disappeared. Some unruly boys had played a practical joke upon the rancher, by unhitching the horse and hiding it in a secluded place close by. Exasperated by the trick, Morrow split the air with "cuss" words. The constable saw the chance to make a fee, and arrested the rancher for disturbing the peace. Justice of the Peace Phillips was routed out, and Morrow pleaded guilty to using naughty language in great chunks. Justice Phillips gave the farmer ninety days in the County Jail. The old man protested, but the constable got a buggy and shoved Morrow into it, and with all speed set off for Los Angeles, where he delivered his prisoner in the early morning hours. Against this strenuous specimen of justice, Morrow appealed, and yesterday the matter was submitted to Judge Smith, who will pass upon it most likely this morning.

DRESSED DOWN. AND THEN ACQUITTED.

Before Justice Pierce yesterday was heard the case of Orville Seeley, charged by his wife with threats to murder. Seeley is the young man who created a disturbance one day two weeks ago in the People's Store, where the wife from whom he had separated was employed at the ribbon counter. Suspicion having been aroused in the husband's mind that an elevator hand named Myers, also employed by the Hamburgers, was unduly attentive to Mrs. Seeley, he paid a visit to the store and the trouble followed.

On the stand yesterday the wife testified that he had approached her at the ribbon counter and threatened to "blow her d—d head off."

Mis Pauline Gold, a fellow shop girl, gave testimony in corroboration, then fell in a faint from the witness chair, bruising her cheek severely. She was revived by attendants.

Seeley himself took the stand and entered a sweeping denial. He claimed that whatever harsh words he had used were applied to Myers—not to his wife.

John M. Budge, assistant general manager of the People's Store, was sworn. His testimony was clear, quiet and decided. He had been attracted by hearing Seeley talking in a hysterical way to Myers, and had taken the former into his office and inquired of him the trouble. Having listened to the story, he told Seeley that if he found it to be true both Mrs. Seeley and Myers would be discharged. Subsequently, after an investigation, they were discharged, after which the wife swore to a complaint charging her husband with threats to murder.

Justice Pierce, after several other witnesses had been heard, gave the defendant a dressing down, reprimanding him for having gone to the store with the evident intention of hunting trouble; but the facts brought out were held to be insufficient to establish the guilt charged, and the case was dismissed. The courtroom was crowded throughout the trial.

COURTHOUSE NOTES. BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

MINIMUM SENTENCE. Irwin Nelmeyer yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary before Judge Smith, and was sentenced to one year at Folsom.

TO CONDUCT HOTELS. The Pasadena Hotel Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $85,000, fully subscribed. The directors are D. M. Linnard, J. D. Laing, W. G. Johnson, C. J. Willett, Pasadena, and G. Hall, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

CUNNINGHAM DIVORCE. Pearl Cunningham was yesterday granted a divorce from Harian J. Cunningham, on the grounds of desertion, non-support and habitual intemperance.

IMAGINARY JACK RABBITS. Albert Kym was ordered committed to the State Asylum at Patton by Judge Wilbur yesterday. Kym was arrested and confined at the city prison, and while there he imagined that jack rabbits were chasing one another around the cell.

RELIGIOUS MANIAC. Judge Wilbur yesterday committed Joseph Budleman to the Patton State Hospital. Budleman is suffering from religious mania, and while laboring under intense excitement in a street car arose and proclaimed his intention of killing all the passengers at the command of the Lord. After a hard struggle he was overcome and handcuffed.

MARRIAGE AFFRIGHTED HIM. Harry D. Mercer is a gardner and driver who has been in the employ of Dr. Anderson for a year or two, and who has gone crazy through the voice of a girl. About a year ago Mercer began to imagine that the voice of a girl followed him about, inviting him to marry her. He was not inclined to matrimony, and particularly with a girl whose voice he could hear, but whose form he could not get a glimpse of. As time went on the voices multiplied until lately Mercer has stated that every person he meets on the street answers his thoughts as they flit through his mind. Judge Wilbur ordered him committed to Patton.

CAR STARTED TOO SOON. Mrs. Parilee Jones has begun suit against the Pacific Electric Railway Cocpany to recover $20,000 as damages. It is alleged that while Mrs. Jones was in the act of alighting from a car it started, suddenly and she was thrown to the ground, incurring severe injuries.

DAMAGE SUIT. The suit of D. L. Sherburne, as administrator of the estate of A. W. Etter, deceased, to recover $20,000 as damages and $225 for funeral expenses from the Los Angeles Railway Company, came to trial yesterday before Judge Conrey. On February 6, 1903, while Etter was engaged in loading a piano onto a transfer wagon standing in front of a house on Second street near Hill, he was struck by a car and killed.

BRUISES BY FALLS. Relative to the treatment of Mrs. Mary Hale as a patient at the sanatorium at Sixth and Beaudry avenue, of which institution Mrs. Talbot is matron, it is stated there that instead of coming to herself, Mrs. Hale became a raving maniac and continued so as long as she remained at the place. It is explained that when she was there the institution was not prepared for acute cases of insanity, such as those needing strait-jackets, and great difficulty was experienced in restraining the patient. She received a few bruises, it is claimed, by throwing herself from the bed and by other such insane acts.

COLORED BRETHREN DISAGREE. The trouble in the Friendship Baptist Church at Pasadena has culminated in a suit against Reuben B. Scott and a number of other defendants. The suit is brought to restrain the defendants from interfering with the church property, and particularly with $354.74 on deposit in the First National Bank. It is alleged that the case is being prosecuted for the benefit of 111 members of the church, out of a total of 153. The minister in charge is Rev. J. D. Bushell ,and it is alleged that he has only forty-three adherents, but they stand together, and have defied all attempts to oust them. It is charged that they are fraudulently planning to convert the church from the true Baptist belief into a Holiness church.

MINES AND MINING.

PIOCHE COMING TO FRONT AGAIN.

BOSTON CAPITALISTS TAKE OVER OLD MINES AND MILL.

Searchlight District Sharing in the Southern Nevada Boom—New Town Started in El Dorado Canyon. Goldfield and Tonopah the Mecca of Thousands of Goldseekers.

Attention of mining men is being turned to the district of Pioche in Lincoln county, Nev., near the line of the Salt Lake Railroad and largely tributary to Los Angeles. The district is an old one with a high past reputation as a producer, but has long been greatly hindered in development by the great distance from railroad transportation. The Abe Lincoln mines and mill have just been purchased by A. W. Scott and C. S. Miller of Boston, who have also taken a bond on the famous Mendah property. It is understood that it is the intention of the purchasers to spend over $200,000 in the camp, including purchase price and improvements.

SOUTHERN NEVADA BOOM.

In the Searchlight mine of the Duplex Mining and Milling Company over 6000 linear feet of work have been done, exclusive of stoping, and there is no sign of a wall found in any direction. Drifting to the west has been done for 150 feet on the 100-foot level. To the east the drift has gone 200 feet and the vein is from three to eight feet, a large body of good-grade milling ore being exposed. More ore is being taken from all parts of the mine than can be conveniently handled. The ore is said to average higher than $20 per ton.

The Parallel has just shipped thirty tons of $100 gold ore to San Francisco for smelting. The ore came from the fifty and 100-foot levels.

The Searchlight Mining and Milling Company of this city is still shipping high values here. During half of last month the amount of gold bullion handled was over $12,000. The prospects are for a continuation of this output with improvements.

BULLFROG DISTRICT.

M. T. Newman of this city has accepted the position of assistant secretary of the Amargosa Townsite Company and of the telephone company whose line connects Tonopah, Goldfield, Amargosa and Bullfrog. Mr. Newman will have headquarters at Tonopah. He was formerly paymaster of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company at Cananea, Mex. Judge Albert D. Elliott, former secretary of the Territory of Alaska, will be general manager for these two companies at Amargosa.

NEW MINING TOWN.

A town to be known as Nelson has just been laid out in El Dorado Cañon at the junction of the Searchlight and Las Vegas wagon roads. The locators are Messrs. Kennedy and Price, mining men who have taken up properties there. An effort is being made to get a postoffice established. H. J. Humphreys, well known in this city, has made a rich strike in the El Dorado district and is sacking ore at the surface that is said to run several hundred dollars to the ton.

GOLDFIELD AND TONOPAH.

Eight thousand tickets are reported to have been sold at Chicago, St. Louis and Missouri and Mississippi River points on the first day that the railroads put on the rate of $29 to Tonopah good after April 29 for sixty days, thus showing the world-wide interest aroused by the wonderful finds on the desert.

Howard Vernon, engineer for the Goldfield Mining, Brokerage and Investment Company of this city, recently reported the striking of a blind vein of ore on the Tin Cup group owned by this company. At the point of discovery the ore was running but $7.50 a ton in gold, but the prospects of a strike that will be a duplicate of the Quartsite and Black Butte strikes, the two mines which adjoin the Tin Cup group, is exceedingly good.

A Chamber of Commerce has been organized at Goldfield.

The Goldfield Exploitation Company of this city, of which George Polens is president, has an eight-foot ledge of $15 to $20 ore on an eighty-foot crosscut on its properties, the Grasshopper and Frances claims. Two fifty-foot shafts have been sunk and a third started on a heavily mineralized vein.

A conference between representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen was held at New York yesterday to adjust, if possible, the conflicting claims of engineers and firemen employed on the New York, New Haevn and Hartford Railroad.

SHERIFF GOES AFTER CONDEE.

TO BRING FUGITIVE POULTRYMAN FROM PORTLAND.

Local Business Men Whose Confidence He Abused Will Follow V. Price Brown's Lead and Prosecute. Writes Letter Begging Leniency for Wife's and Boy's Sake.

Sheriff White started last night for Sacramento, where he will apply for extradition papers to the Governor of Oregon, for the return of Robert A. Condee, the fugitive poultry publisher, who is now in jail in Portland, on a warrant from Los Angeles, charging him with obtaining money by false pretense. From Sacramento Sheriff White will proceed to Portland, and, unless extradition is fought, will return directly to Los Angeles with his prisoner.

The warrant of arrest is sworn to by V. Price Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Cass-Damarel Hardware Company, and was issued four weeks ago. Since that time the police of a number of cities have been on the lookout for Condee, but he evaded arrest until the day before yesterday. Condee, while publishing in this city the Western Fancier, a monthly magazine, devoted to poultry and pet-stock raising, fraudulently obtained $300 from Brown by selling him one-half interest in a bogus real estate option, agreeing to place the money in escrow, but pocketing it instead. He worked the same and similar tricks on various other local business men; it is understood that $5000 would not fully reimburse his many creditors, though the sums obtained from each were comparatively small.

The Sheriff took with him, for use at Sacramento, a letter received from Condee by V. Price Brown, two weeks ago. In it the fugitive (evidently having heard of the warrant for his arrest,) begs Brown to spare him from imprisonment and prosecution for the sake of his (Condee's) wife and little boy, and humbly protests that he will work and save until every dollar of the dishonest debt has been repaid. This letter was undated, but the envelope bore the Riverside postmark, evidently having been sent by Condee to Riverside for remailing.

The understanding is that other men whose confidence Condee abused will now follow Brown's initiative and prosecute him.

In his letter practical confession is made by Condee of his shortcomings, and many pitiful appeals are made for mercy, out of consideration for his innocent wife and child. This letter Sheriff White takes with him, and it may proce useful. It is quite long, but the writer ascribes his downfall to following the races at Ascot Park.

"I know that you have the greatest disrespect and contempt for me," he writes, "for the way in which I have acted. I know that you are fully justified in these feelings, for I have most grievously wronged you and others of my best and truest friends, and I feel that I must make an appeal to you for the sake of my wife and child.

"I did wrong—terribly wrong, but, Brown, I never intended to cheat you or any one else out of one nickel. I, fool that I was, expected to make a turn and return every cent to you with the best of interest. . . . I promise you by all that a man can pledge to another that I will starve before I would get another cent wrongfully. By putting me in jail you will gain nothing, and you will make be bring more disgrace on my innocent wife and lit'' boy.

"I have always been square in my dealings before, but someway I drifted into this by making a pile at a time at those blood-sucking races, and the further I went the worse I got and—there you are. I know I should have stopped, but I was a fool and went on from day to day, expecting to get out, and then quit forever.

"All I ask is a chance to retrieve the wrongs I have done, and I will do it if I am given by life to live.

"Oh, Brown, for old friendship's sake have mercy on my family and let me prove that I am not as bad as my acts make me appear."

Thousands of women of every age and condition break down and are brought to the very verge of utter collapse because they have kidney trouble and do not know it. It saps vitality—shatters nerves—makes work or rest or sleep impossible.

Many a sufferer takes medicine for imaginary "female complaints" until she is utterly discouraged and much worse. And yet it is so easy to tell when the kidneys are sick, and so easy to cure them with the right sort of treatment.

Prolonged neglect means diabetes or Bright's Disease.

How many apparently healthy women there are who begin to find household work a burden; who are constantly "all tired out," irritable and depressed, and who suffer often from sick, dizzy headaches, pain in the back and sides, rheumatism and irregular flow of the urine.

They are always ailing, but not sick enough to go to bed, and they wait for the spells to pass away.

But the cause is still there. The kidneys are sick, and work only aggravates the trouble.

The kidneys have in some way become congested, irritated, or inflamed, and are failing to remove the uric acid and other poisons from the blood. These poisons are attacking the nerves, muscles, and vital organs.

Get at the root of the trouble and cure the kidneys. Use a medicine intended for the kidneys only—Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy quickly relieves the tired-out kidneys—gives them new life and energy. The poisons disappear from the blood, and pains, aches, and nervousness vanish.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills in your own city prove this. Read the testimony of a resident, perhaps your neighbor.

LOS ANGELES PROOF.

Mrs. Mary Brown of 205 Rose street says: "It is so long ago since I had my first attack of backache and kidney complain that I have actually forgotten when it took place. For five years the aching, if not constant, was always in evidence, if I overtaxed myself, contracted a cold or did anything which brought a strain on the muscles of the back. I was continually using medicine or rubbing on liniments and wearing plasters, but I never received any lasting benefit. I never used a preparation which brought as undoubted results as Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Dean's Drug Store."

If you wish to try Doan's Kidney Pills free of expense, write to Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial box.

BIG MONEY FOR NELSON.

He Got Odds of Ten to Nine on Himself.

And He Also Got His Ten Free Pasteboards.

Boston Declares Boxing Illegal—Eastern Races.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Battling" Nelson cleared up a nice piece of money betting on himself Tuesday night. He wagered $1900 that he would beat Corbett, and he got 10 to 9 for most of the money. That was rather surprising considering how much money was bet on Corbett. One poolroom on Ellis street handled $27,000 on the fight and the manager reported that it was one of the best betting affairs that had been held here in a long time.

Those who were at Woodward's Pavilion Tuesday night will recall that Nelson did not enter the ring for several minutes after Corbett, and many wondered what detained him. The reason was that the management would not give him enough complimentaries to admit his friends, and he wouldn't fight until accommodated.

When Nelson signed with the Hayes Valley Club to fight Corbett, he had no idea the contest would draw $14,000, or he would never have accepted a guarantee of $3500, win, lose or a draw. Nelson lost $1500 by agreeing to this, as the winner's share would have reached $5000. The club, of course, is a handsome winner on the fight. Nelson figured that the sports would not be as anxious to patronize his second fight with Corbett as they were the first, and therefore $3500 looked sweet to him. With what he bet, Nelson made $5000, which was not a poor night's work for the young Dane.

JEFF AND THE PRESIDENT.

LATTER A HARD HITTER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RICHMOND (Va.) March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Heavyweight champion Jeffries, who "acted" Davy Crockett here tonight, is a great admirer of the President. He declared that the President is the finest amateur boxer in the country, and the hardest hitter he ever saw outside the ring. He said that he knows the President well, and had sparred with him several times, and that his pluck made it a pleasure to stand before him.

"He is a man," said the champion, "and invites you to come at him. He not only knows how to defend himself, but takes punishment without a murmur."

"What do you think of Dr. Osler's dictum about a man being no good after he is 40?" he was asked.

"Osler is half right. A man don't get any better physically after he's 40. He goes back then, but men don't really get intelligent until past 40. A man gets experience after that. Physically, Osler is right; mentally, he is wrong."

RED DAMSEL HURTS SPORTS.

FIRST AGAIN YESTERDAY AT USUAL LONG PRICE.

Can't Get Near the Front Unless the Betting Price is Twenty—Only One Favorite Gets in Ahead—Fireball Runs Impressive Race—Dr. Hollis Wins Big Stake.

Red Damsel is about the biggest joke out at Ascot Park.

She is such a peculiar beast that she will win only at 20 to 1 in the betting, and if she is any other price she won't run within ten lengths of the winner. These are facts that are proven by the records, and the sports who play the ponies will do well to remember these things in the future.

Just to show what kind of an in-and-out beast this one is, it is stated that she started first on December 22 at 5 to 1, and was beaten about thirteen lengths by the winner. Then, December 27, at 10 to 1, she was beaten about nine lengths. On December 29, at 20 to 1, she won from Varro by almost four lengths. On January 23 she was beaten eight lengths at 12 to 1, and two days later was beaten almost thirteen lengths at 15 to 1, being seventh in a field of eight horses. On February 28, her last start before yesterday, she was beaten twenty-four lengths. Yesterday she came out at her winning price of 20 to 1, and won, of course.

EASY FOR DR. HOLLIS.

The feature on the card was the fourth race, which was the Woodlawn Stakes for two-year-olds, and, thanks to an awful start by Dwyer, Dr. Hollis won by lengths of daylight, the favorite, Ala Russell, being left standing at the post, and only Dr. Hollis, Father Catcham and Sun Fire getting a start. As a natural consequence, these were the only three in the race. Ala Russell carried a ton of wise money, and it was all left with the books.

La Londe, the supposed sprinter, shocked many people by setting the pace and winning all the way in a mile race, the fifth on the card. She was the favorite, but a large amount of money was played on McGrathiana Prince, and he rewarded his backers by running absolutely last in a field of six, although five horses finished necks apart, with La Londe ahead of all of them.

FIREBALL'S FAST RACE.

The best race of the day was the third, wherein Fireball, second favorite, beat the favorite, Pasadena, at the Slauson course, running the distance in the Gold Rose track record time of 1:09. The outsider, Cutter, was third. Fireball got away second to Cutter, was soon first, and finished that way.

The only favorite to win during the day was Lurene, in the second, and she won all the way easily. Dixelle grabbed the first race at 9 to 1, with Merces second, and the favorite, Sweet Kittie Bellairs, third.

CHICAGO TEAM HARD TO BEAT.

Selee's Squad Surely Seems a Record-breaker.

Promising Young Players Plenty on Rolls.

Men All Fall in Love With Pretty Santa Monica.

Frank Selee may not win the National League pennant this summer, but he has already broken one record.

The Chicago National League Baseball Club, which is now here ready for business on the diamond, is, in point of numbers at least, the greatest aggregation of bat swingers and ball basters that ever visited the Pacific Coast on a training trip.

On its roster appear twenty-five names, including all of last year's favorites, reinforced by a brigade of young talent which the manager frankly declares cannot be beaten in the world. The team of last season is kept practically intact and from the ranks of the recruits, Manager Selee expects to develop enough embryo stars to more than fill every possible vacancy. He from the first has been a warm believer in young ball players when directed by older heads, and has made that policy a success through twenty hard campaigns.

Of the men known to local fans from last spring, Capt. Frank Chance, Second Baseman Johnny Evers, Shortstop Joe Tinker and Third Baseman Dr. Jim Casey make up the regular infield. Veterans Jack Barry, formerly with Philadelphia; Jimmy Slagle, who is regarded as a Chicago fixture, and Jack McCarthy, who broke into fast company a year ago, are likely to have plenty to do in standing off the work of a quartette of young outer gardeners, graduates from the minors, whom Selee means to give a thorough tryout this spring. Mike Mitchell and Frank Schulte, center and left fielder of last summer's Syracuse New York Club, and a cracking pair both at trapping flies and whacking out liners; Billy Maloney, right fielder and change catcher for Minneapolis, and Al. Pennell, who held down left garden for Milwaukee, are beyond any doubt as good a lot of youngsters as ever tried to break into fast company, and their manager thinks well of every one. Each is fast, and all batted close to the .300 mark. With such a world of talent to pick from, it seems hard to understand how Chicago cannot better its outfield this summer. Weakness with the stick in the outer gardens probably cost the Windy City aggregation the pennant, as its infielders, catchers and pitchers were decidedly above the average. Davy Jones, who played center last spring, has been released, but plenty more are ready to take his place if given a chance.

"I have seven really high-class pitchers and feel no further cause for worry in that respect," said Manager Selee yesterday. "Wicker, Weimer, Briggs and Lundgren are all seasoned men; beside them I have Fred Pfeffer from the same college as Lundgren—the University of Illinois—Ernest Grothe, a promising Milwaukee amateur, and Reulbach, a husky lad now finishing his course in Notre Dame College. He is heralded to me as another Matthewson; is said to be just as big and every bit as promising as was the New York star when he broke into the game. Beyond doubt Pfeffer has the making of a great pitcher, and I feel well satisfied that the Chicago box corps will take care of itself."

The old reliable catchers, Johnny Kling and Jack O'Neil, with Maloney to help out, are relied upon for the receiving end of the Chicago battery.

To tide over the rough places of accident or illness, the star utility performers of last year, Mordecai Brown and Otto Williams, are still with the team. Arthur Hoffman, shortstop, and Harry McChesney, both of last summer's Des Moines Club in the Western League, are also on the waiting list.

Two teams will be made out of the plenitude of material at hand. Separate games will be scheduled for each. Next Sunday when the regulars are trying out Morley's men at Chutes Park the Chicago Yanigans will be taking on Russ Hall's Seattle Colts at Santa Barbara.

Trainnig for the Chicago squad be-

Training for the Chicago squad began yesterday at Southern Pacific Park, Santa Monica.

The men are all in love with their new spring resort and Manager Selee cannot say too much in praise for it.

"This is the best place for a ball club I ever saw, and I have been in the business twenty-one years. It is quiet; the influences are all good, and we can have the grounds all to ourselves, to say nothing of the ocean near at hand, the pretty surroundings and a thousand other things. I think Santa Monica will be a fixture for my club hereafter; I only wish we could stay here the whole time instead of going off up north to San Francisco and elsewhere." A sentiment in which, by the way, all the players within hearing heartily seconded.

Capt. Frank Chance joined the team at the beach Wednesday, and Catcher John Kling, who had a pool match to play that night, is now on hand. Both have been in the city some time, and they practically complete the team.

Jake Weimer, the crack southpaw pitcher, has become a Benedict and has brought his bride with him.

Manager Selee has scheduled a game with Occidental College at Pasadena March 15. The team will not leave for the north until two days later. The college boys expect to die game, at least. They are flying high in taking on a club that gave the best in the National League more than a run for its money last summer.

WORKING HARD FOR DUAL MEET.

ST. VINCENT'S STRONG MEN DOING STRENUOUS STUNTS.

Catholic Collegians Expect to Make Creditable Showing in Field Meet Against U.S.C.—Some of the Men Who Will be Competitors—Prospects.

St. Vincent College athletes are preparing for the struggle on Saturday with the crack U.S.C. team and their careful training has resulted in a creditable bunch of men who are expected to give a good account of themselves.

Coach Haggerty has developed some fair distance runners, and Wilhoit in the hurdles and pole vault is picked as a sure winner. Samples, Thiel and Stewart are the weight men, though it is said that Wilhoit is an all-round athlete and is expected to win many points for his school. The "Saints" have good material for most of the events and expect to take first places in the hurdles, the pole vault and the broad jump.

Parsons will be the sprinter for the Methodists, with Wilson, who made such a showing against Occidental, as his team mate. Dunn, who is out of form, will probably only enter the 220 and 440-yard dashes. Fergusson is the strong man for U.S.C. in the weights.

An interesting meet is anticipated from the fact that the "Saints" have developed a stronger team than it was at first thought possible for the management to put into the field. The St. Vincent boys wil go into the meet with U.S.C. determined to win.

The entries for St. Vincent are: 120-yard hurdles, Wilhoit, Peck; 100-yard dash, Murietta, McDonald; mile run, Shea, Irvine, Bernard; 440-yard dash, Bristol, Bernard; two-mile run, Irvine, Bernard; 220-yard hurdles, Wilhoit, Peck; 880-yard run, Bristol, Curran; pole vault, Wilhoit; 220-yard dash, Murietta, McDonald; high jump, Wilhoit, Talty; shot put, Samples, Stewart, Thiel; hammer throw, Wilhoit, Stewart, Samples; broad jump, Talty, Peck, Wilhoit; relay race, Bristol, Murietta, McDonald, Irvine, Bernard, Curran.

For U.S.C. the following men will compete: 120-yard hurdles, Elliot, Hamilton, Miller; 100-yard dash, Parsons, Wilson, Bovard; mile run, Klitten, Curl, Rundell; 440-yard dash, Parsons, Nordahl, Dunn; two-mile run, Hubbard, Starr, Weaver; pole vault, Comstock, Montgomery; 20-yard hurdles; Elliott, Hamilton, Bridwell; 880-yard run, Bovard, Higgins, Adkinson; hammer throw, Fergusson, Broderson, Webb; 220-yard dash, Parsons, Dunn, Wilson; high jump, Miller, Broderson; shot-put, Fergusson, Broderson, Black; broad jump, Fergusson, Butler, Cooper; relay race, Parsons, Nordahl, Fergusson, Wilson, Bovard, Dunn.

First place will score five points, second three and third one. Trophy cups will be given, one for the winning team in the field day sports, and a separate cup for the relay race. The meet is scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

The High School meet to be held at the University of Southern California April 19 will be styled a championship affair, as it will be open to all High Schools, preparatory schools and athletes attending the same, provided they have a passing grade in fifteen hours of recitations per week.

All schools within a radius of 100 miles sending a full team of ten men will be guaranteed their railroad fare. Those more than a hundred miles away will be refunded half their fare, as will schools sending less than a full team.

Instead of medals, the first, second and third contestants in each event will be presented with cups of various values. A fine cup is offered for the relay race and a handsome banner for the championship is hung up.

The U.S.C. track team will leave next Wednesday for its meet with Stanford up North. This will give the young men a chance to see their opponents in action before tackling them. Coach Holmes and a few of the contestants will probably remain over in San Francisco until Monday morning.

NO MORE PRIZE FIGHTS.

BAY STATE AGAINST THEM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There will be no more prize fights in Massachusetts, nor will there be any further boxing exhibitions in the State before clubs organized for the purpose of conducting bouts. The Supreme Court today decided that such exhibition were prize fights under law.

Today's decision was given in the case of the Commonwealth against the Tammany Social and Athletic Club of Boston. Under the bylaws of the club, one member of the board of directors could act upon applications for membership, and it happened that the director was always at the box office with application blanks handy when a bout was on. Instead of selling tickets, the blank was filled out and paid for, and the new member walked in. The commonwealth claimed that the plan was simply a subterfuge to evade the law, and this contention was upheld.

FLAUNT IN THE FOURTH.

RUBY IN THE MAIDENS'.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Flaunt, at odds of 10 to 1, won the fourth race at Oakland today by a neck from a field of ten. Ruby had all she could do to beat Celeres in the maidens' race. The weather was clear and track fast. Summary:

Three and a half furlongs: St. Francis, 97 (McBride,) 4 to 1, won; Achelita, 105 (Bonner,) 13 to 5, second; Chief Wittman, 103 (E. Walsh,) 6 to 1, third; time 0:41½. Bellona, Ramona, Waterga, Captain Burnett and Ebel Thatcher also ran.

Six furlongs: Ruby, 95 (Knapp,) 9 to 20, won; Celeres, 103 (E. Walsh,) 7 to 1, second; Phalanx, 99 (Jones,) 11 to 2, third; time 1:14. Neva Lee, Morello R., Dundreary, Chablis, Brown Patsy and Identical also ran.

Futurity course: Mogregor, 105 (Bonner,) 16 to 5, won; Grenore, 97 (Wright,) 9 to 1, second; A Lady, 97 (Knapp,) 16 to 1, third; time 1:11¾. Golden Buck, Andvari, Edrodun, Baker, Chestnut, Artillery Star and Rice Chief also ran.

Mile and seventy yards: Flaunt, 106 (Birkenruth,) 10 to 1, won; Montana Peeress 99 (Jones,) 5 to 1, second; Budd Wade, 106 (Bonner,) 2 to 1, third; time 1:45¾. Profitable, Silurian, Serenity, George Berry, Suburban Queen, Langford James, Dr. Shorb and Rim Rock also ran.

Six furlongs: Best Man, 110 (Travers,) 14 to 5, won; Toupee, 107 (Larsen,) 2 to 1, second; Ocyrohe, 105 (McBride,) 7 to 1, third; time 1:13. Hulford, Berendos, Sterling Towers, Mocorito and County Down also ran.

One mile and fifty yards: Downpatrick, 106 (Birkenruth,) 13 to 5, won; Big Beach, 106 (Bonner,) 11 to 5, second; Fisher Boy, 106 (Travers,) 16 to 5, third; time 1:44. Hooligan, Rossbourne and Lady Goodrich also ran.

PHENOMENAL RECEIPTS.

FIGHT YIELDED ABOUT $14,208.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Considering the prices charged, the returns received from last night's fight were phenomenal, almost $15,000 being taken in at the box office. The total receipts were $14,208; the club's share, $7104; Nelson's share, $4262.40; Corbett's share, $2841.60.

It was a disappointing battle after the first four rounds, disappointing because one-sided. Corbett continued to fade under the rough jolting he received, and there was never a time after the fourth period when the result was in doubt.

Corbett was much downcast today. In talking about the fight he said: "I thought I was the winner until one of Nelson's swings caught me on the chin. I was strong when the gong sounded for the ninth, but he got one of those lucky punches to the mark and it stopped me. I do not regard myself as a back number yet. If I ever get him in a third fight, it is likely I will have luck and put home the finishing blow. I lost all I could raise in bets I made on myself. I even staked some of the loser's share on my chance to beat the Dane. A bookmaker holds my marker for $1500."

Nelson already has his eye on the future. Today he said: "Britt knows I have posted money for a meeting with him. Let Jimmy put up his coin and get into the ring with me, and he'll be sent into the 'has-been' class."

RIVERSIDE RACING.

MATINEE IN TWO WEEKS.

In honor of the initial meeting of the Riverside Driving Club, which will have a harness horse matinée on St. Patrick's Day—March 17—the proposed matinée of the Los Angeles Driving Club scheduled for that day will probably be postponed so the local horsemen can go to Riverside. Nothing definite has been determined in regard to local action along this line as yet, but it is more than likely that the local reinsmen will go to Riverside for the holiday.

The people down at the orange city are anxious that the local club be represented there, and in compliance with the request it is stated that at least a dozen local horses will be sent down from here. Those whom rumor states will go are W. A. Clarke, Jr., with Master Delmar and Daniel J.; Bob Smith, with Rita H.; Joe Desmond, with Ole; J. H. McGinnis, with Atheo; L. C. Pounder, with Glen; W. H. Berry, with Willie Jib, and possibly Briney K.; C. A. Canfield, with Chloe; Dr. Dodge, with his pacer; Fred Brock, with Hailstorm, and probably A. W. Bruner with Stanton Wilkes, and William Garland with Black Arrow. A special car will be sent down with the horses the day before the races. W. A. Clarke, Jr., who is one of the prominent members of the local club will be master of ceremonies, and with the addition of the local horses an interesting day is assured for the first race matinée of the new club at Riverside.

CONTINUOUS POOL.

WALSH THE WINNER.

Paddy Walsh of New York captured the sweepstakes of $150 hung up by Henry Berry for the trio pool tournament by defeating Upton last night by the score of 150 to 74. Walsh was simply invincible, and Upton did not get a sufficient number of shots to be dangerous at any stage of the game. Walsh made four frames of 15 balls and a high run of 49, while Upton's best run was 26. An interested crowd of sports watched the play, and warmly applauded the many good shots.

During the play, Kling, the Chicago player who was defeated by Walsh on Monday night, challenged Walsh for a game for any number of balls for any part of $500, but Walsh said there would be nothing stirring for him in this line until about Saturday, when it is expected that he will have time to talk the matter over with his backers. If an answer is not given Kling by Saturday he will pass up any match game, for next week he will begin to practice with the Chicago ball team.

MINOR BALL.

POLYTECHNIC WINS.

The Polytechnic High School team turned an apparent defeat into a victory Wednesday, defeating the Woodbury Business College club, the score being 11 to 3 at the end of the ninth. The game was played at Prager Park and a fair sized crowd was present. Woodbury was in the lead by a 3-to-1 score up to the end of the seventh inning, but in the eighth Polytechnic developed a batting streak and won easily. The first Polytechnic man in the eighth was passed, the second was hit by a pitched ball, the next three made singles and then Coover came with a home run, all this netting six runs and four more were made in the ninth. The batteries were Lee and Colbath for Polytechnic and Ganahl and White for Woodbury. Two weeks ago Polytechnic defeated Woodbury by a 1-to-0 score.

BOWLING.

CLOSE LADIES' MATCH.

At Mackenzie's alleys last night, Mrs. Quirk won a close match from Mrs. Knox at tenpins, the scores being 743 to 742, Mrs. Quirk's average being 148 3-5 and Mrs. Knox's 148 2-5.

In the regular tournament match on the men's alleys the Mercantiles defeated the T.H.P. team by the score of 2790 to 2748. In this, Tupper of the losing team had high average of 208 4-5 and rolled two games of 248 and 244. Pennrich had a high roll of 223 for the Mercantile team.

A GOOD BILL VOTED DOWN.

In the Senate at Sacramento, on Wednesday afternoon, after a spirited debate, the Senate voted down Assemblyman Gans's bill making it a misdemeanor for a person willfully to deprive a member of the National Guard of employment because of his membership in the militia. The vote was 13 to 11—a light vote. As Senator Simpson of Alameda gave notice that he should move for reconsideration of the bill, there is some hope that when brought up again it will pass.

This measure, it is hardly necessary to say, is both wise and necessary. Since trades-unionism, in its unpatriotic fanaticism, has taken to discriminating against the militia in the several States, it is necessary that there shall be some defense and protection of militiamen against these assaults upon them as men and citizens. It is honorable and altogether praiseworthy for men to enter the service of the State, subject to call for the service of their country. Trades-unionists seek to cast upon this honorable and necessary service a stigma of dishonor. They discriminate against the militiaman by refusing him admission to their organization if he is a member of the militia before making application to join the union, and by expelling him if he join the militia after becoming a member of a union.

In either case the action of the union is unpatriotic and reprehensible in the last degree. The necessity for a law to put a stop to the nefarious practice is apparent to every man possessed of patriotic impulses and sound sense. Not only should the Legislature of California enact such a law, but the Legislature of every State in the Union would do well to pass a similar law if it has not one already in force.

The shamelessness of trades-union discriminations against the militia should serve to brand all those who practice it with indelible infamy. In times of trouble and turmoil, when the mob spirit is in the air, the militia is a bulwark of strength in the preservation of the public peace and the protection of the guaranteed rights of all citizens—the rights of rioters as well as the rights of peaceably-disposed persons. The hostility of trades-unionists to the militia is a confession on the part of the unionists that they are opposed to the public peace; that they do not believe in nor desire the protection of citizenship rights; that they prefer the reign of mob law to the preservation of orderly peace, under the law and in concord with its authority.

The Legislature of California, at its present session, has done many things which it should not have done, and has left undone many things which it should have done. It can add a good, long credit mark to the record of its doings by enacting the bill of Assemblyman Gans, above referred to.

While we do not in the least doubt the ability of the Rough Riders to take care of themselves under all circumstances, yet we think it would be wise of them to see that at least their broncos' shoes are well corked when they enter next Saturday's inaugural parade.

Happy Kansas! Mortgages wiped out, banks filled with farmers' money, and an octopus to fight. If that combination doesn't stop the "bleed," the case is hopeless.

Another difference between Los Angeles and New York, besides the distance, is that Los Angeles is not advertising for snow shovelers.

Hail the Hoosiers! The Indiana Legislature has made a law preventing the manufacture and sale of cigarettes

NEUTRAL TRADE IN WAR TIME.

If there must be war in the world, let its evils be confined within the narrowest possible limits. This is a humanitarian precept to which every civilized nation is willing to subscribe. It may be in the nature of a compromise, but most great reforms are accomplished by a succession of compromises. We fight fire or a pestilence by preventing it from spreading; then comes the chance of mastering the conflagration or the epidemic. Similarly, when war has broken out, every effort should be concentrated toward keeping neutral powers from being involved in the quarrel. By localizing the conflict, it all the sooner reaches a termination.

During the present unhappy struggle in the Far East we have more than once seen the imminent danger of neutrals being dragged in because of rash and vexatious interference with peaceful commerce on the high seas. Prompted by the seriousness of the risk thus made manifest, the Massachusetts State Board of Trade has addressed a memorial to similar commercial organizations throughout the world, calling for a combined effort to secure the establishment by international agreement of neutral zones within which in time of war vessels engaged in the conduct of lawful trade shall be free to pass without seizure or interruption. The question is a difficult one, but for that reason it is not to be lightly dismissed.

The weaker naval powers may be expected to accept the principle laid down with alacrity, for their right to search at sea is in any case restricted by their inability. But for this very reason the strong navies will be all the more reluctant to relinquish any part of the advantage which their strength confers. We have a case in point at the present moment. Russia is now virtually powerless to prevent or hinder contraband of war being shipped into Japan from almost every point of the compass; Japan on the other hand, within her sphere of operations in eastern waters, can hold up and examine every vessel to which the slightest suspicion of aiding her enemy attaches. The right of might is hers. War is a test of might. Will any nation strong on the seas voluntarily dispossess herself of any part of her superiority? Even the effective power to search puts a check to the attempts to run contraband. For when the insurance brokers decline the risk, the shippers have little stomach for the dangerous enterprise, however tempting may be its possible profits.

Furthermore, there are practical difficulties attaching to the proposal as formulated by the men of Massachusetts. So long as the neutral zones were far removed from the area of hostilities, we might expect their neutrality to be respected. But in effect this result is attained under present conditions. The patroling of the seas is necessarily confined to the zones of danger. During the present war there has, for example, been no attempt to hold up vessels engaged in the North Atlantic trade. But the Red Sea has been an admitted zone of danger, although 10,000 miles away from the actual scene of hostilities. Could Russia have been expected to debar herself from the right of searching for contraband in that convenient highway of communication? She had the initial advantage over Japan in this quarter, because of greater proximity to her naval bases. Although her methods of search provoked bitterness, her right to search was never disputed, least of all by the great naval powers whose position of strength would have been impaired by the establishment of any such precedent.

The whole question, therefore, becomes a much wider one—the rights of peaceful commerce in time of war whether under neutral flags or the flags of the belligerents. An international agreement is required strictly defining the classes of goods that are contraband of war and the classes that are not contraband. Russia started out with a classification that was not in conformance with the views held by other nations. The pressure of international opinion compelled her to recede from her original claims. A clearly defined international agreement on the nature of contraband, and the methods of searching for it, would have avoided the friction her early acts in the Red Sea engendered. The neutral zones, as the conflict has shown, naturally adjust themselves. The crux of the question is the contraband itself, and this is the subject to which, at the close of the war, The Hague tribunal will in all likelihood turn its first attention.

There is a growing suspicion that Senator Bunkers's real name is Bunco.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

The Minister of State and Public Works of Prussia, Gen. von Budde, made comparison, a few days ago, between railway accidents in the United States and in Prussia. The comparison was hardly such as could truthfully be called favorable to the United States. Gen. von Budde showed that derailments occur with three times greater frequency in the United States than in Prussia and that collisions are three and a half times as numerous; also that "the persons injured and killed are thirty-six times greater in number." Presumably these comparisons are made upon the basis of the aggregate miles of railroad in the respective countries, as otherwise the figures would be without significance or value.

Unfotunately, what is true as to the comparison here made between the United States and Prussia is also true, in greater or less degree, as between railroads in the United States and some other countries, including Great Britain. The yearly record of railway acidents in the United States including the great loss of life, is something appalling. It is equaled, probably, in no other nation on earth.

While it is true that the great majority of persons killed and injured on the railways of the United States are railway employés, this fact does not lessen the reproach implied in the summary of statistics. A human life is a human life, whether it be that of a passenger or a railway employé, a millionaire or a pauper, a child or a person of mature years.

It cannot well be regarded in any other light than as disgraceful to the United States that the annual list of persons slaughtered and maimed by railroad accidents is so large. A great proportion of the accidents which occur are of the preventable kind—which means that they are mostly due to carelessness. Many are the results of hasty, cheap and imperfect railroad construction, which is in itself a form of carelessness of a most censurable kind.

In mechanical skill we surpass the people of other nations. It would seem that we ought ere this to have devised ways and means for the prevention of all preventable accidents on our great railroad systems. That other nations have far surpassed us in this respect is proof that the excessive loss of life and limb on our own railroads is unnecessary and therefore inexcusable.

That the comparative safety of travel on Prussian railroads is not secured by reason of low speeds is evident from the statement of the official above quoted, that "recent experiments with high-speed locomotives have yielded a maximum of eighty-two miles an hour, but locomotives are unable to maintain this rate," and that "seventy-four miles an hour is possible, but the government recommends that the speed do not exceed sixty-eight miles an hour."

Under present conditions the occupation of a railroad employé in the United States is more hazardous than that of a soldier in ordinary field service, while travel by rail is more hazardous for the passenger than travel by sea, considering the ordinary facilities for travel as they exist. Surely, this is a state of affairs which ought to be remedied.

Perhaps if our railroad companies would set aside some of the funds employed to control elections and to influence legislative bodies, and would use the same for the better building, equipment and management of their roads, a considerable saving might be effected in the large number of persons annually killed or injured through the operation of this great modern Juggernaut, the useful, the indispensable but terrible locomotive.

Thank heaven, there is one spot on the earth from which the little white death sticks known as cigarettes have been banished. Throughout the length and breadth of the glorious State of Indiana it is henceforth the lex scripta that any man, woman or child caught smoking a cigarette shall be clapped into the body of the jail—dudes not excepted. Hurray!

A good mother in Israel who recently gave birth to twins in a Chicago apartment-house was immediately served with notice of ejectment. In the great game of life, however, this is merely an episode, or, as Artemus Ward said on a similar occasion, it was "two episodes."

The Czar still shows signs of a growing disposition to give the grand dukes the throw-down and to stand with the people. If he will just go right in and make a bold play of that kind he'll be the wisest Little Father that ever sat on the purple and gold throne of Muscovy.

Senator Bunkers, being haled into court, pleads "not guilty." The final settlement of the question, however, will be in the hands of twelve men who will go into a jury box and be forced to acknowledge themselves as Bunkers's peers.

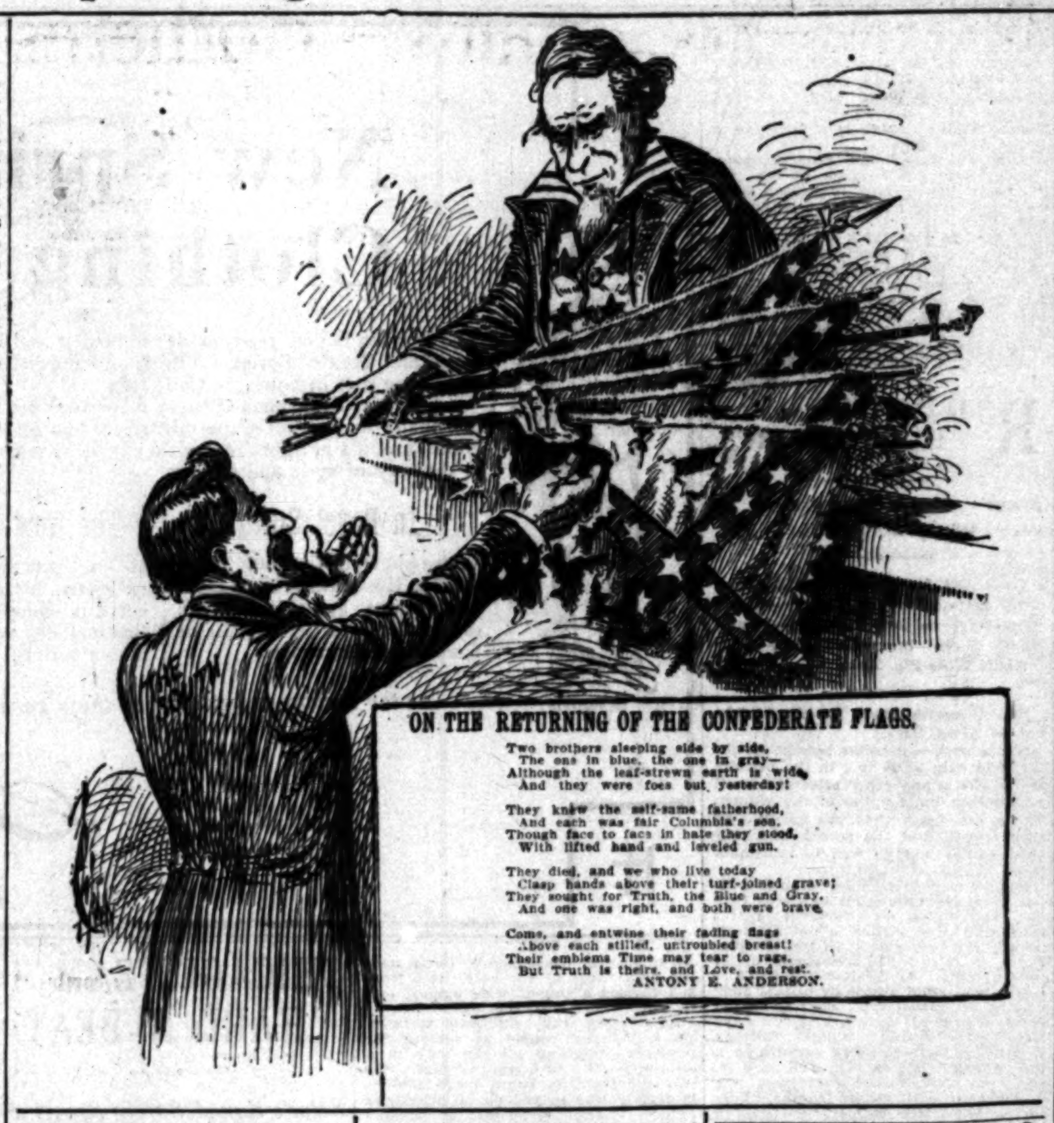
Doubtless the action of a Minnesota preacher who fiddled for a young folks' dance will not meet with the approval of his brethren of the cloth, but he certainly made a play for the favor of the dancers.

When the Rough Riders clatter down Pennsylvania avenue, it is to be hoped they will refrain from shooting up the members of Congress, even though the provocation to do so is admittedly very great.

Although Mayor McAleer is a machinist by trade, it appears that he has now turned his hand to cabinet making.

A National Anthem Then.

Some day, when the nation is really getting old, and we know where we are at,—as the southern Congressman said,—there may arise a great singer and a great musician—all the better if he be both,—who shall then match our ripened purpose with a comprehensive hymn and song of the freedom of the world—which is what this nation ought to mean. So far, nothing nearer to that than "America" has been produced.—[Springfield Republican.



ON THE RETURNING OF THE CONFEDERATE FLAGS.

Two brothers sleeping side by side,
The one in blue, the one in gray—
Although the leaf-strewn earth is wide,
And they were foes but yesterday!

They knew the self-same fatherhood,
And each was fair Columbia's son,
Though face to face in hate they stood,
With lifted hand and leveled gun.

They died, and we who live today
Clasp hands above their turf-joined grave!
They sought for Truth, the Blue and Gray,
And one was right, and both were brave.

Come, and entwine their fading flags
Above each stilled, untroubled breast!
Their emblems Time may tear to rags,
But Truth is theirs, and Love, and rest.

ANTONY E. ANDERSON.

ACROSS THE WIDE SEA.

While British army reform seems to be in a constant state of change and chaos, navy reform is carried out with admirable promptitude and certitude. The recent readjustmenut of stations was no sooner announced than completed, the result being greatly to increase the effective strength of the navy by withdrawing squadrons from places where no danger is ever likely to threaten, and concentrating them at the points whence, in the event of hostilities, the quickest and most effective blows can be struck.

WARSHIPS IN RESERVE.

But a second reform has been even more important—the reorganization of the reserve fleet. Formerly the vessels in reserve lay in the dockyards, with only a few men in charge to keep guns and machinery in order. Now they have all been manned, a large proportion with full crews, so that they can proceed to sea at once on an emergency, the others with nucleus crews, enabling them to follow with the briefest possible delay. Thus ready for action, the reserve fleet is grouped in three divisions at the three great naval arsenals of Portsmouth, Devonport and Chatham, under the command of the admirals, who will be responsible for their efficiency, will take them to sea for training, and who will command them if war occurs. To show the magnitude of the change, it may be mentioned that 12,000 officers and men were required, and 116 warships were involved, nine of them battleships, twenty cruisers, the balance torpedo boats and torpedo-boat destroyers.

THE FLEET IN COMMISSION.

In addition to this immense reserve, Great Britain's fighting forces on the seas, kept permanently in commission, are massed in the three fleets, the Channel, the Mediterranean, and the Atlantic, and the three cruiser squadrons, together aggregating twenty-eight battleships and eighteen armored cruisers, with the proper complement of smaller vessels. Besides these are the five battleships of the China squadron, and the various groups of protected cruisers on patrol or station duty all over the world. Disregarding the torpedo and destroyer classes, we find that the British naval strength is now 158 warships, of which fifty-two are battleships and thirty-six armored cruisers of the first class, which have been happily described as "battleships in disguise." These, be it noted, are only vessels on "the war list," and this special list itself marks the latest reform of all carried through by the British Admiralty.

BANISHING THE "DUMMIES."

There are other ships not on the war list, sixty-two of them, including thirteen battleships and fifteen large cruisers. They have their value, but, in compiling the list that shows the real fighting strength, only veritable modern men-of-war of full utility for action are taken into the calculation. Every unit counts; there is not a "dummy" in the bunch of the 158 selected vessels. This, as we have said, is quite a new departure, and for the present no other navy shows its real strength, as compared with its nominal strength, thus clearly to all the world. Only experts can eliminate the doubtfuls, sometimes the absolute derelicts, that figure largely in the navy lists of other nations.

WATER POWER IN NEW ZEALAND

New Zealand at the present time is mainly an agricultural country. It raises fine wool and sends every year shiploads of prime mutton to England, also many thousands of tons of butter and cheese. In addition to the products of the field, New Zealand mines for gold and for coal, both in considerable amounts, and exports several valuable timbers. Then she has a magnificent national asset in her scenery, of mountain, lake and fiord, among the finest in all the world, drawing to her shores a constant stream of tourists. But recent developments in the utilization of electricity have attracted attention to the fact that New Zealand possesses more waterfalls to the acre than any other country, Switzerland not excepted. She has potential motive power in her tumbling rivers that might make her one of the leading manufacturing nations. The world sees many changes in these swiftly-moving days. Within another generation those beautiful islands of the antipodes may have grown to be a great industrial center.

X-RAYS FOR OYSTERS.

Science has become the ready handmaiden of commerce. Very soon after each new flutter in the laboratories of the world's great men of research, there follows the practical adaptation of their discoveries. Up to the present time the getting of each single pearl has cost the lives of perhaps a thousand innocent and pearl-less oysters. Some beds have been so ruthlessly destroyed that the fisheries have had to be abandoned. Years ago the Ceylon government took the matter in hand and restricted the fishing to close seasons, sometimes to alternate seasons, also reguiating the size of the bivalve which it was lawful to capture. For, from remote ages, the pearl fisheries of the Gulf of Manaar, to the north of the island, have made Ceylon famous, and brought unnumbered lakhs of rupees to her merchants. So the fisheries were well worth this measure of governmental solicitude. But now the German savant, Prof. Roentgen, is proving still a better friend to the pearl oyster. The Ceylon pearling fleet now carries an X-ray apparatus, and it is only necessary to examine by its aid the living bivalves so as to discriminate between the one that contains a pearl and the many others that hold no lustrous globule within their shell-encased anatomy. Only the valuable oysters are retained. The others are dropped gently back into the ocean, to enjoy life again, perchance some future day to yield a rich spoil to the treasure-hunters.

THE RIDGEWAY ROAD.

From the blinking surf where the Lizard sprawls
To the iron fangs of the North,
There is many a road to stir the blood
Of him who fareth forth;
All roads seem good to the wise of mood,
But of all the roads that be,
My chosen way is the broad Ridgeway,
That is home and friend to me.

Now, new-made roads are ruts for toads,
Girl's ribbons, coilful things;
But the Roman wrought, as a Roman ought,
A street for the cars of kings.
He hurled his chain o'er the breast-broad plain
Sheer forthright to its bent,
Like a fetter forged on the giant flank
Of a captive continent.

He passed; his legionaries tread
A dimmer, grayer plain
Than Ashdown field, where, shield to shield,
Clashed Wessex man and Dane.
But folk who travel Lambourn way
At eve from Wantage town,
Still hear a Latin watchword ring
Across the drowsy down;

And sentinels with falcon face
Beneath a ghostly moon,
Clank starkly round the thymy mound
Where shepherds lolled at noon;
The gates divide, and like a tide
The whispering legion swings,
With tarnished eagles, down the slope
To tame the Briton kings.

But I am a man of the common kind.
I see no fiercer sight
Than the old hawthorn at sentry go
And the glowworm's cresset alight;
The wonderful breath of the sleeping earth
Drifts from the land below,
And the big and little stars of God
They watch me as I go.

Let the valley lanes seem good to those
Who love a guarded way;
The place of my soul in the wind-scoured down
Where the red sun burns all day;
And O! the road, the gallant road
Let me follow and touch my friend—
The great green snake of turf that glides
With never a coil nor bend.

Fetid and foul are the city streets;
Oh, let me once more feel
The ample wind in my shoulder parts
And the leaping turf at my heel!
Oh, let me fly from the tunneled ways
And the ant-heap towns of toil,
To breast the brow of Wantage hill,
And smell the ancient soil.

Now, some love women, and these are wise;
And some love ale and wine;
And the poet's art is life to the heart,
But a road is a thing divine.
There are roads of the best 'twixt East and West,
But of all the roads that be,
O, the royal way, the broad Ridgeway,
Is the king of roads for me!
—[St. John Lucas, in The Spectator.

We Can't Stop Now.

We may not be content with building a considerable fleet of battleships and cruisers, and a complement of other naval craft, and then closing the shipyards and stopping appropriations of public money. We must "keep up our lick." We cannot stop, or even slacken in our operations, without undergoing great humiliation.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

Less Wrecks, Fewer Medals.

Now that Congress has gone so far as to order medals struck to persons saving lives in railroad wrecks it is possible some effort will be taken by the government to make such wrecks less frequent, otherwise the medals might become too common.—[Baltimore American.

PROMINENT MEN AND WOMEN.

Emory Speer of Macon, Ga., has been appointed Storrs lecturer in the Yale Law School for next year.

It is proposed to erect a statue of Oliver P. Morton, War Governor of Indiana, in the State House yard in Indianapolis.

Ex-Gov. Horace Boies of Iowa, who served four years in that office, is seriously ill at Hot Springs, Ark. A farm of 3000 acres in Iowa belongs to him.

Lewis Boss, the astronomer, director of Dudley Observatory, Albany, N. Y., since 1876, has been awarded the gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Society.

Pulaski, the Polish hero of the Revolutionary War, is to be perpetuated in a bronze equestrian statue which will be placed in a conspicuous triangle in Washington.

Miss Katherine E. Conway has succeeded James Jeffrey Roche as editor of the Boston Pilot. Mr. Roche is about to take up his duties as United States Consul at Genoa.

Mrs. Sophia Westover, who has just died at Wyocena, Wis., was the daughter of a soldier who fought under Ethan Allen and assisted in the capture of Fort Ticonderoga.

Abraham Rosenburg of New York has been elected Grand Master of the Sons of Benjamin, which has a membership of 50,000 in the United States and 20,000 in Manhattan and the Bronx.

"Fiddling Bob" Taylor, not long ago Governor of Tennessee, is appearing in vaudeville at a music hall in New York City, in a monologue of his own, called "The Fiddle and the Bow."

It is said of the late Charles Hackley, lumberman and philanthropist of Muskegon, Mich., who from a poor man became worth $15,000,000, that he never attended a church or a theatrical performance.

No finer professional compliment could be paid to a lawyer than Joseph H. Choate's remark concerning the late James C. Carter of New York: "When he retires he will make room for a thousand lawyers."

Miss Helen Framsworth Mears, who modeled the statue of Miss Frances E. Willard that has just been placed in the Capitol at Washington, began to model when she was a child, and before she was 9 years old her work was exhibited and admired.

An Aid to Arbitration.

Peace talk is to the fore just now, but there are still chances of complications which would make a strong navy of vital benefit to the United States. We talk and work for arbitration, but we need an efficient navy and army as an aid to it. While the rest of the nations are adding to their naval strength, it would be suicidal for the United States to stop naval construction where it is.—[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Pertinent Editorial

Written by One of the Firm Explaining the Reasons for this Great Sale.

It has always been the aim of the Bartlett Music Co. to be abreast of the times—sometimes we have been in advance. For more than 30 years we have furnished the best in music to the citizens of Los Angeles and the adjacent territory. Our store has always been headquarters for the musically inclined, and a great many thousand families are today using the pianos and playing the music furnished by us. We have not one dissatisfied customer. Our motto has always been to give satisfaction. We never ask a customer to keep an instrument that is not satisfactory. The growth of our business has been phenomenal. Every year has shown a satisfactory increase, and our business has enlarged so that we have now nearly fifty employees. One branch of our business, especially, has assumed such proportions that it is necessary for us to have two more large rooms in order to properly represent our agencies. We refer to the Self-playing Instrument Department. We have found the demand for the ANGELUS and for the AUTOPIANO so great that we are unable to wait on our customers with satisfaction. It will be less than a month, however,

THE PLAYHOUSES.

Wilcox Play.

At last the town may see what an impressionist play by the princess of impressionists—Ella Wheeler Wilcox—can do to the public imagination.

Such an one is to be produced shortly at the Burbank Theater. It is a poetic drama, entitled "Mizpah," and narrates the story of Esther.

It will be given its local premiere in about one week, with the regular Burbank cast, and between Ella Wheeler and the actors, some new lights will doubtless be shed on Biblical history.

MASON OPERAHOUSE. "The Earl of Pawtucket" is a rather amusing comedy of errors by Augustus Thomas. It is not a comedy of realism, but contains, rather, in large measure, the elements of unreality and improbability, not to say impossibility. Though the plot is rather barren, it is worked out with much ingenuity—a sort of working out for which Mr. Thomas is somewhat noted.

The principal character about whom the interest revolves is Lord Cardington, an English nobleman, to whom is given the sobriquet of "The Earl of Pawtucket." He falls in love with a young American divorcee, and follows her across the Atlantic, passing under the alias of Putnam, which was the name of her former husband. He gets mixed up in the family affairs of the Putnams, and wins the lady of his choice after a series of adventures which are extremely amusing, though the points are often far fetched.

Lawrance D'Orsay, in the role of Lord Carrington (or Putnam,) presents a character study which is worth the observation of eye and ear. It is typically English, you know—perhaps rather too much so to be acceptable as a type of the English lord. However, the exaggerated mannerisms of Mr. D'Orsay's Cardington are in a sense necessary to bring out the character in high relief. They certainly have that effect, and in so thorough a manner that we can forgive the appearance of affectation which runs through the portrayal, because Mr. D'Orsay makes of his "Earl of Pawtucket" a character thoroughly agreeable, and even lovable.

The spectacle of an Englishman striving to fathom the intricacies of American colloquialisms is always amusing to Americans; as much so, perhaps, as was the spectacle, to Svengali, of "an Englander trying to get himself clean."

Mr. D'Orsay's portrayal is complete and entertaining to a degree seldom seen upon the stage, fully meriting the decided hit which it made last evening. Everybody will be glad to know that "Sarah's better."

The company is well selected, and the supporting roles are adequately rendered. Especially charming is Miss Peyton's rendering of the role of Harriet Fordyce, divorce of Putnam. To the interpretation of this role, Miss Peyton brings a beautiful and expressive face, a pleasing voice, a good conception of the role, and the art requisite to make that conception intelligible.

Other excellent character interpretations are those of Mr. Fordyce, by Charles Hallock; Senator Barker, by Herbert Fortier; Miss Jane Putnam, by Florence Robinson; Ella Seaford, by Mary Elizabeth Forbes; Arthur Weatherbee, by Stokes Sullivan; Wilkins, by Ernest Elton, and Silas Hooper, by A. P. Thomas.

A wait of half an hour between the caused by some unavoidable accident. marred an othewise good performance. Such waits are unpardonable, unless caused by some unavailable accident.

This engagement will close tomorrow night. A matinée will be given tomorrow afternoon.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Lott-Rogers Concert.

A large and appreciative audience gathered in the ballroom of Dobinson School last night at the fourth chamber concert of the Lott-Rogers series.

A programme of exceptional brilliance was presented, the artists including Misses Elizabeth Jordon and Blanche Rogers, pianists; Mrs. C. E. Richards, contralto; Jackson S. Gregg, tenor; Harry Clifford Lott, baritone, and Mrs. C. G. Stivers, soprano.

The list of numbers included "Down in a Flow'ry Vale" (Festa,) "When Flow'ry Meadows" (Palestrina,) "Matona, Lovely Maiden" (Lassus,) two Cornelius duets for soprano and baritone, a Moszkowski pianoforte concerto, and two part-songs.

The next concert will be given April 13, by Blanche Rogers, Arnold Krauss, Ludwik Opid and F. R. Wismer.

St. Vincent's Play.

The St. Vincent's Dramatic Club will enter the field of play-production this evening, giving "The Fool's Revenge," at College Hall. The play has been staged under the direction of Father McCabe. Albert Forthman will be seen in the title role, while other principals are Phil Kear, Miss Estrella LeSage, Miss Mamie Sheedy and Miss Grace DuCass. This will be the first production of the club, and Father McCabe hopes to have it the best of its kind ever seen at the college.

"LINER" CONTEST.

Only two days remain to get in guesses as to the number of "liners" that will appear in next Sunday's Times. Guesses already range from 2800 to 8500. It is pretty safe to guess that neither of these two extremes will be the first prize winner. The highest number of "liners" printed by The Times on any Sunday since January 1 was 5022; the lowest number was 4545. Next Sunday's run is not likely to vary much from either of these two extremes. A good way to approximate the number of "liners" in any issue of The Times is to multiply by three the number contained in the two other Los Angeles morning papers of the same date, for that is about the usual ratio between the volume of classified advertisements carried by The Times and the combined showing made by its futile contemporaries. Three dollars will be paid for the best guess, $2 for the second and $1 for the third. All guesses must be in by 12 o'clock Saturday night. When two or more guesses are the same, precedence will be given to the one received first at The Times office. Only one guess will be allowed to each individual guesser.

STARVING BABE.

A pretty blue-eyed boy, seven months old, starving while his mother, Mrs. E. M. Tyler, and grandfather, L. L. Gates, groveled in a state of intoxication, was found by Humane Officer Webb at No. 2728 Hyams street yesterday. Neighbors complained to the officer, and Webb found the house neglected and strewn with bottles. Almost too weak to cry, the child lay alone in a room. Gates and Mrs. Tyler were locked up on charges of drunkenness. The child was sent to the Salvation Army home.

Six children were killed yesterday by an avalanche which overwhelmed the house of a peasant near Auszer, Villepranten, Austria.

ONE DEAD, ONE DYING.

Mexican Killed at Pacific Electric Material Yards, Another Fatally Injured Same Way.

Antonio Montez, Mexican, aged 42, died at the Sisters' Hospital yesterday morning from injuries sustained the day before while working in the Pacific Electric Railway Company's material yards near the Downey-avenue bridge. A pile of timbers fell on him, crushing him. He lingered all night in agony. The body was removed to Pierce Bros.' morgue. The inquest will be held today. He leaves a family.

Yesterday afternoon a similar accident happened in the same yards, the victim being Julian Airago, also Mexican. He was lowering a pile of ties and in removing the key-tie, the whole pile fell on him, pinning him to the ground. Other workmen took the heavy timbers off him and he was sent to Dr. Cates's office in the Huntington building, and later to the Sisters' Hospital. He is reported dying.

positive limit, and the company is ou for offers from anyone.

The holdings offered are 436,000 share of Associated of the par value of $1
now selling in small blocks in Los Angeles and San Francisco at 27 to 30 cents, and 121 bonds of the combine of the par value of $1000 each, which are selling in the market at 87 to 90.
If a sale is made the money will be paid to the stockholders in dividends as was done when the sale of 2,200,000 shares was made to the Southern Pacific.

The sale would not terminate the company's connection with the combine as it has contracts which it turned over when the latter was formed and which have still about two years to run.

IS RAILROAD SHORT?

Indirectly, but through channels apparently reliable, come further reports emanating from high sources that the Southern Pacific is not as well supplied with oil as some seem anxious to make producers believe. According to these statements the company, which operates now 646 oil-burning locomotives, less than half of its total number, is not hurrying the converting of the others because of the delay in getting its oil. Being the largest consumer of fuel petroleum on the Coast the railroad does not want to raise prices by buying outside oil. To what this rumored delay is due is not stated. It is perhaps not impossible that it has been caused in some degree by delay in getting the necessary connections with the wells of the Independents, from which much of the oil now comes. It is of course impossible to confirm or deny the reports from official sources.

PRODUCERS TO MEET.

A very important meeting of the Los Angeles Oil Producers' Association will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the office of the British-California Oil Company, 213 Stimson Block.

EXPLOITING CARISA.

The Recruit, a corporation believed to be a branch of the Associated, is building a road to its new holdings in the Carisa Valley from McKittrick, a distance of eight miles. The lands, which it is expected to be exploited, lie on the east side. Two water wells just drilled to 700 feet on the west side failed to develop any oil indications.

COMPETITION WITHDRAWN.

Since the completion of its Coalinga-Monterey pipe line the Pacific Oil and Transportation Company has almost entirely ceased its purchases of Kern River oil, formerly amounting to 70,000 barrels a month. The cost of transportation from Fresno county by pipe is said to be about 6 cents, while from Kern by rail is is 25 cents to San Francisco.

SANTA FE AT SUNSET.

NO IMMEDIATE EXTENSION.

Assistant-General Manager Shepard of the Santa Fé yesterday entered a general denial that any immediate extension of the Sunset Railroad into the Midway district had been determined upon as reported from Bakersfield.

"The matter has been under discussion at different times," said he, "but there is nothing in sight at present. We made one extension sometime ago and sooner or later we may build further."

The talk of a probable extension in the near future is accompanied by a revival of the reports of a probable oil deal between the Santa Fé and the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company for fuel from the latter's wells at Midway. The extension a year ago was followed by a contract with the Monarch and its affiliated companies at Sunset. The reports of negotiations with the Chanslor-Canfield company have been circulated for more than a year past. The Midway oil is excellent fuel and almost entirely undeveloped.

The Santa Fé is using oil today in California and Arizona on the heaviest grades with entire success, as admitted by the highest officials, which is of interest in view of the ridiculous story of its failure on the Southern Pacific's mountain lines in Nevada and Utah.

IMPROVEMENT AT KERN.

Mr. Shepard stated that the situation on the Santa Fé's property at Kern River has greatly improved, the production has gradually increased, and there is far less water trouble than was the case a few months ago, when the wells were so flooded that the entire property was threatened with ruin.

PUMPING FROM KERN TO SEA.

STANDARD REPORTED TO HAVE RESUMED FORCING.

Operation Believed by Oil Men to be Expensive—Petroleum Should Prove Godsend to This Coast, Says Pittsburgh Man—Reed Crude Ready to Sell Associated.

The Standard, it is reported, has resumed pumping Kern River oil from Bakersfield to Point Richmond, through its great pipe line. Whether this, after a shutdown covering nearly eighteen months, is permanent is not stated.

The method employed to make the heavy Kern crude flow is to lighten it with Coalinga light oil, a large quantity of which has been pumped to Bakersfield for this purpose. About 40 per cent. of Fresno county product is to be used with the thick, heavy mass of Kern

The cost of handling in this way is believed by oil men to be very great, and it is doubtful if the pipe line can ever be considered under the circumstances of perfect success, despite the enormous sums spent upon it. About five thousand barrels a day is reported pumped.

EASTERN OIL MAN'S VIEWS.

U. G. Hubley, a director of the Oil Well Supply Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., one of the largest concerns of its kind in the world, has been visiting the fields throughout this State.

"The fuel oil of California," said he yesterday, "should prove a veritable godsend to the Pacific Coast. You have no coal to speak of and without fuel little can be done to build up a community. There should be an opening for it all and if there is an overproduction it should be only temporary. A market must be built up, as was done in the East, where at one time our high-grade refining oils were down to 60 cents. Then a great foreign market was opened and oil went to over $2, and has never fallen to $1 since. Once an export market is built up there will be no more talk of overproduction"

REED CRUDE WILL SELL.

Considerable interest has been aroused as to the probable outcome of the official announcement made a few days since that the Reed Crude has definitely decided upon selling its holdings of Associated stocks and bonds, in whole or in part, provided a purchaser is found at a satisfactory price. A notice to this effect was sent out by Secretary Fuller with the request that bids be sent in by March 1. This, however, was not intended to set any positive limit, and the company is out for offers from anyone.

The holdings offered are 426,000 shares of Associated of the par value of $1, now selling in small blocks in Los Angeles and San Francisco at 27 to 30 cents, and 121 bonds of the combine of the par value of $1000 each, which are selling in the market at $7 to 90. If a sale is made the money will be paid to the stockholders in dividends as was done when the sale of 2,260,000 shares was made to the Southern Pacific.

The sale would not terminate the company's connection with the combine as it has contracts which it turned over when the latter was formed and which have still about two years to run.

The sale of the properties of the Alameda Oil Company and Petroleum Oil Fields of Kern county at Sunset, reported some time ago, was consummated and recorded a few days ago at Bakersfield. The purchaser was John F. Lucey, a well-known oil operator at Kern River, and a director of the Independent Agency. The price was not stated, but it is said to have been only a small part of the capitalization of £300,000 placed on it when the company was organized by British and French capital.

"IT SAVED MY LIFE"

PRAISE FOR A FAMOUS MEDICINE

Mrs. Willadsen Tells How She Tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Just In Time.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you, telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money on medicines besides, but it all failed to help me. My monthly periods had ceased and I suffered much pain, with fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing-down pains, and I was so weak I could hardly keep around. As a last resort I decided to write you and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful that I did, for after following your instructions, which you sent me free of all charge, my monthly periods started; I am regular and in perfect health. Had it not been for you I would be in my grave to-day.

"I sincerely trust that this letter may lead every suffering woman in the country to write you for help as I did."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse all substitutes.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

Students from Southern Counties to Appear in Play to be Put on by Juniors.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 28.—The cast of "The Princess Enone," which will be presented by the junior class on the evening of March 31, was selected at the first try-out held Saturday morning. Rehearsals will begin at once. The leading man is to be Roy S. Kellogg of Pasadena, who recently played the part of Bob Acres in "The Rivals" with success. Victor E. Stork of Sierra Madre also has a prominent part in the cast. In the chorus will be the Misses Clara Vickers, Julia Derby and Beatrice Phillippi of Los Angeles and Miss Edith Moore of Pasadena, and Messrs. H. M. Haver of Redlands and Earl Hazard of Whittier.

The University of California on Saturday submitted the following question to the University Debating Club of Stanford for discussion in the intercollegiate debate: "Resolved, that the Interstate Commerce Commission should be given power to fix and enforce railroad rates. Note A.—It is understood that the commission may be so enlarged and equipped as to enable it to meet new conditions. Note B.—The question of constitutionality may be disregarded." Stanford has until next Saturday to decide which side to defend in the contest, which is to be held April 15.

Thomas K. Niedringhaus said yesterday: "If Maj. William Warner of Kansas City secures 47 votes in the caucus I shall do all in my power to help him."

Leading Specialist

Dr. O. C. Joslen, The Leading Specialist.

SEVENTEEN years of successful practice in men's diseases, with hardly an instance where I have not effected a complete cure in all the cases I have treated. This would be sufficient reason for me laying claim to the title of "Leading Specialist." But I have done more. I have discovered method of treating men's diseases which are practiced by no physician other than myself—distinctive local methods that never fail.

Weak Men

And men who are afflicted with contracted ailments should not experiment or delay. Consult me and I will be frank and honest with you. If I can't cure you I will say so at the start. My knowledge, gained by my long practice, enables me to distinguish the incurable cases, and these I utterly refuse to treat. But any case I accept, so sure am I of securing a complete and radical cure that is the title of my copyrighted pamphlet. Every man should send for one; it contains valuable information of men's diseases, their cause, cure, etc.

I Am Always Willing to Wait for My Fee Until Cure is Effected

I cure "Weakness," Contracted Disorders, Organic Weakness, Lost Vigor, Varicocele, Stricture, Piles, Specific Blood Poison and Reflex Ailments.

"Live All Your Years a Man"

Every Case Is Thoroughly and Completely CURED!

Have You Been Treated by Mail or Guess?

Experimenting is not successful. Experience is absolutely necessary to effect cures, and a thorough examination is most essential. I remove the EXACT CAUSE, and in so doing effect cures more frequently than those of less experience. CONTRACTED DISEASES become chronic through neglect and improper treatment; every case now chronic should have been cured in one week to ten days, if properly treated. Some try to force nature by harsh measures, contrary to natural laws and the science of medical treatment, which is a poor way to get quick results.

Functional Weakness

My treatment for functional decline or "Weakness," as termed by some, is the result of twenty years' special work in functional disorders; the results I obtain are by direct methods and are not in common use. They are more satisfactory, more lasting and more certain than those obtained by common methods. My treatment is best given in person for I can see and know that each application has the desired effect.

I cure Rectal, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Varicocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula and Blood Diseases, Wasting Nervous and Chronic Conditions and Prostatic Disorders.

DAILY REPORT OF ORANGE MARKET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A great many poor-quality California oranges are arriving, some showing as much as 25 per cent. decay and all but a few as high as 10 per cent. This condition has weakened the market for all grades; and, while no reduction in quotations from stores have been made, auction prices have declined somewhat. Buyers are finding some difficulty in filling their requirements for perfect fruit, and on those qualities, the tendency is sharply upward. Retailers are doing a good business. Bright, sunny weather is increasing demand materially.

Lemons are sharing in the weakness and prices tend downward.

The market is firm on good stock. Twenty-four cars sold at auction today. The weather is fine and pleasant.

EXCHANGE NOTES. Bidding on the Stock Exchange yesterday was spasmodic and limited, with a bullish tendency, excepting in oils and the miscellaneous list.

Associated Oil was in much request, transactions amounting to 1000 shares at 28, and 5000 shares in a street sale at the same price, the stock closing at 27½@28. Fullerton went off 1½ in the buyers' terms and advanced one-half point in the holders', closing at 32@34½.

In the mining list, New Era gained a point on the bid and declined 2½ points in the sellers' price, but resulted in no trading, unless it were on the street, the stock closing at 12@12½.

The bond market maintained its strong position, though some buyers were disposed to shave the price. Associated gained 1½ points on the bid, and one bond was sold at 90 and another on the street at 88½, closing at 88½@90. Home Telephone declined fractionally on the bid, closing at 89¼@90, the trading being two bonds at 89½.

Edison Electric, in the miscellaneous list, lost ½ point in the buyer's terms, closing at 71, but there were no offerings. Home Telephone lost ¼ on the bid, and advanced fractionally in the seller's price, closing at 49@50.

The Stock and Grain Exchange held its second auction sale yesterday at noon, resulting in transactions as follows: One thousand shares of Fullerton Consolidated at 20; 6000 shares of North American Nitrate Co. at 8; 200 shares of Corotoman Mining Co. at $1; 10 shares of Emergency Hospital at $30; 1000 of Central Oil at 65; 10 shares of Home Telephone at 49⅞, and 10 at 50; 5000 shares of Central Oil at 65; 5000 shares of Bisbee West at 4½; 2 Edison bonds, one at 98, the other at 97⅞; 20 shares of Home Telephone at 49½; 2 Home bonds at 88½; 1200 shares of Reed Crude at $2; and 2 bonds of Pacific Light and Power Co., one at $970, the other at $972.50.

There is an assessment of 7 cents on Wabash Oil on the California Stock and Oil Exchange of San Francisco.

Extra dividends, the first of the month, have been declared on Claremont Oil and Kern River on the California Stock and Oil Exchange of San Francisco of 1 and 15 cents, respectively.

The Los Angeles Trust Co. has purchased $150,000 City of Los Angeles Water Reservoir bonds, bearing 3¾ per cent. interest. They were bought at par and accrued interest, the bonds being delivered yesterday afternoon.

E. H. Groenendyke, secretary of the Los Angeles Trust Co., has resigned to take the cashiership of the Union Savings Bank of Pasadena, in which he has acquired a heavy interest, as recorded in these columns some time ago.

New York Central stocks closed on the New York Stock Saturday with a gain of 7¼ points on transactions of 108,000 shares. Union Pacific soared simultaneously 5⅛ points on dealings of 265,000 shares; that is, the two stocks accounted for one-third of the aggregate market transactions. Naturally it was rumor's day, but nothing could be confirmed.

THE MONEY MARKET. The local money market is in fair supply, with a fair demand.

There is no change in rates for time money. For sixty to ninety days 6 per cent., and for four, five and six months, 6½ per cent.

Commercial paper was in good demand, with no change in rates. Sixty to ninety days, indorsed bills, 6 per cent.; single names, 6@6½ per cent.

There is considerable activity in real estate, but operators are dealing with their own money, banks being very conservative in lending money on real estate.

FOREIGN BONDS TAXABLE. The assessment of taxes on bonds deposited with the State by foreign insurance companies doing business in Ohio has been upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States in a decision handed down in the case of The Scottish Union Insurance Company vs. Franklin County. The insurance company at the time it disputed the right of the State to tax withdrew $100,000 in municipal bonds on deposit and substituted government bonds. Justice Day held that bonds so deposited were part of the capital of insurance companies and when within the State's dominion were subject to tax. He also held that the government bonds could be forfeited in sufficient amount by the State to pay taxes previously accrued on the municipal bonds when they had been withdrawn.

TO TAX STOCK SALES. A bill has been introduced at Albany, N. Y., to tax stock sales at the rate of $2 per 100 shares. Commenting on it, the Wall Street Journal says:

"If the Legislature could impose this tax equally upon the stock exchanges of Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and other cities of the country, and if such tax was necessary for the support of the government, especially in a time of common peril, like a war with a foreign country, there could be no objection to it. But, unfortunately, the Legislature of New York can impose taxation only upon the stock exchanges within the State of New York. Practically this bill is an act to reduce transactions in stocks in the city of New York for the benefit of other cities, for while we cannot measure the full effect of such a law, it is plain to be seen that it must injure the business of this city.

"It is the opinion of those who are responsible for the management of the New York Stock Exchange that the enactment of this bill into law would surely divert much business from this city to Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago. This diversion might be at first slow, inasmuch as adequate machinery needed to finance large transactions would have to be created in those cities, and their exchanges would have to list the manifold securities which are now traded in only on the New York Stock Exchange."

COMMERCIAL.

CITRUS MOVEMENT. The shipments of citrus fruits Wednesday were 211 carloads of oranges and 17 carloads of lemons; grand total of shipments 10,597, of which 819 were lemons.

RECEIVED AT NEW YORK. Following is a statement of the arrivals of Pacific Coast products at the port of New York Feb. 24:

	Rail.
Apples, boxes	649
Oranges, boxes	10,027

ORANGES IN NEW YORK. New York advices touching the orange situation say that the market winds up this week in elegant shape, with every prospect of a good market right along. One prominent handler writes that he sold 30 cars on Monday which included all the stock on the track and in sight at the time of writing. This week's arrivals are comparatively light.

IMPURE FOOD PRODUCTS. The manufacturing grocers of New York city, as well as the representatives there of the outside concerns, denounce as absolutely without foundation in fact the charges made by State Commissioner of Agriculture Weiting to the effect that many large manufacturers now employ skillful chemists who take pains to leave no "earmarks" by which the government chemists may detect impure ingredients in preserved food products.

The charge was made by Commissioner Weiting in a report to the Senate on the operation of the pure food law. With the appropriation of $10,000 voted in 1904 the department has examined 780 samples of food and discovered 134 violations of the statute, sixty-four of which have been referred to the Attorney-General for prosecution.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—Dealings on the New York Stock Exchange today expanded again, and speculation showed great variety and animation, but the digestive processes made themselves evident in the movement. The start was very generally upward, owing to the impression caused by the decided upward movement with which the dealings ended yesterday. Speculative liquidation being apparently completed, the position of the market was thus strengthened by the clearing-out of wheat accounts and by the attraction offered in the lower level of prices, confidence was quite general that the upward movement was to be deemed to be in force. It was this sentiment that induced the spurt at the opening on accumulation of buying orders. But there developed an apprehension that there might be large speculative liquidations still watching for an opportunity. This impression was not entirely eliminated during the day, although there were plenty of strong features in the market in influential stocks. The accumulation of Erie, especially, was of large influence on sentiment, owing to the mystery in it and to vagueness of intimations that important announcement affecting a railroad deal was to be expected and the company would figure therein. There is nothing which impresses the speculative mind in the current stock market to the same extent as the idea of a railroad deal or merger. The new form of the rumor was of more importance in its influences, owing to the waning of the effects of recent developments coupling New York Central and Union Pacific. With the exception of the opening bulge, these two stocks were rather distinctly under pressure throughout the day. On account of the very large speculation for the advance which has followed these evidences of their reaction are of widespread effect. The United States Steel stocks were heavily absorbed as a result of the reports of buoyant conditions in the iron and steel market, and their strength was an important sustaining influence in the whole market. The stir in the New York public utilities was attributed to legislative considerations. The weather bureau's report showing good snow protection for winter wheat was a favorable element in the market. Foreign markets were rather disappointed that the official rate of the Bank of England was not reduced, but the large current demands upon that institution's credit facilities shown by the weekly statement was regarded as the fair explanation of the retention of the rate. The foreign exchange market in New York recovered in consequence. Operations in the stock market showed clearly the activities of two opposing parties to the speculation, and the irregular tone was continued to the closing, some stocks receding to the lowest and others rising buoyantly upward in the final dealings. Bonds were firm. Total sales, $4,350,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, March 2.—The wheat opened rather easy. May was off ⅛ to ¼c at 1.14⅝@1.14⅞. July was also down ⅛ to ¼c at 98⅛@98⅜. At the start offerings were somewhat in excess of the demand, a small decline at Liverpool being partly responsible for the bearish sentiment. Liberal receipts in the Northwest formed an additional factor at the opening. Later the demand improved somewhat. The moderate decline brought out covering by shorts and purchasing by commission houses. The market soon rallied from the weakness, May advancing to 1.15⅝. July stood up to 99¼c. Some reaction followed on realizing. Trading during the remainder of the day was extremely quiet. No news of importance was received that would tend to stimulate activity. The market closed firm, with May up ⅛ to ¼c at 1.15¼@1.15⅜. Final quotations on July were 98⅞@99.

A firm undertone was manifested in the corn market throughout the entire session. The market closed almost at the highest point of the day, with May ⅝c higher, at 48c. Trading in oats was moderately active, and the market had a firm undertone. May closed 31⅛@31⅜. Provisions were rather weak early, as a result of an over-abundance of live hogs, but later steadied on a good demand for lard. At the close, May pork was off a shade at 12.52½@12.55; lard and ribs were each up a shade.

The leading futures closed as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

GRAIN, FRUIT AND PRODUCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Los Angeles oranges continued in good request today, and market conditions strongly favored the selling interest. Receipts were comparatively light and quick clearances of desirable-quality navels were readily affected at full values, 150's, 176's and 200's being favored sizes and commanding an outside figure. Cheap priced sorts sold freely in a shipping way and for local accounts, exporters taking some large lines of big sizes at inside rates for shipment to Hawaii, while local jobbers and peddlers kept available stocks cleaned up. Some four carloads are to be auctioned at tomorrow's sale, and lively bidding is anticipated. There was good movement in other descriptions of citrus fruits, lemons, limes and grapefruit finding lively sale at maintained figures. Tangerines were extremely scarce and purely nominal in price. Apples met with sluggish routine sale, only the best selections out of cold storage bringing top rate. The market for potatoes showed no change and previous prices were maintained with marked firmness. Sweet potatoes were purely nominal in price, stock offerings being of low grade. Onions were entirely cleaned out of first hands, and the market was in excellent shape for holders. Two carloads are about due, and will doubtless bring an advanced rate. In jobbing as high as 1.25 was obtained. Receipts of vegetables from the South were extremely light and prices for most descriptions were nominal. Peas brought better rates and scant offerings of beans sold quickly at improved figures. Tomatoes were abundant, the market being heavily stocked with Mexicans, which were offered freely at quoted figures. Asparagus arrived less liberally, and was steadier in price, although no higher. Rhubarb was weak, and prices were irregular.

The topic to be discussed at the following meeting usually is selected by the hostess of the meeting, the parts being assigned by the hostess of the occasion. At times special subjects are discussed. At one meeting a member who had recently returned from abroad spent the afternoon telling of places she had visited. Another a reception was tendered to the Hanfords, who were then playing in "Much Ado About Nothing," and Mrs. Hanford gave an interesting address. A club of fourteen young women meets on Saturday afternoon of every week at the home of some member. It has no officers, and no regulations or dues. The topic to be discussed at the following meeting usually is selected by the hostess of the meeting, the parts being assigned by the hostess of the occasion. At times special subjects are discussed. At one meeting a member who had recently returned from abroad spent the afternoon telling of places she had visited. Another a reception was tendered to the Hanfords, who were then playing in "Much Ado About Nothing," and Mrs. Hanford gave an interesting address. The last meeting was held at the home of Miss Nannie Snow Longley, and in honor of Miss Ludema Sayre, who has recently returned from Europe. Luncheon was served, and the table was particularly attractive and suggestive of Miss Sayre's trip home. In the center was a bowl of pink geraniums, and surrounding it was a toy railroad track and train. At intervals tiny flags were set, denoting New York, London, Berlin, Rome, Dijon, Paris and Los Angeles. Places were marked with postals, addressed and dated, with pictures on the reverse side to denote some personal interest. Covers were laid for Misses Neeta Marquis, Annesly Sayre, Mabel Guinn, Mabel Longley, Stella Knight, Winifred Keese, Janie Moat, Alice Butler, Frances Barber and Mabel Barnes.

BRADBURY BUCKS TUCSON TIGER.

SO EIGHT HUNDRED IS TAKEN FROM COLONEL'S WAD.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 28.—It is well that gambling has been abolished in the ancient pueblo of Tucson. Otherwise Col. John Bradbury of Los Angeles might have gotten into a bit of trouble. He had stopped over for a few hours, to make connection with the Tucson-Guaymas train. To while away the time he wandered around looking for the tiger that had been driven out of the pueblo just two weeks ago. Its disappearance seemed to fill him with grief and he confided to the barroom walls at the Santa Rita Hotel the observation that there was nothing in Tucson that approximated sport, nor, indeed, a man worthy of the honorable title of "sport."

He had some money that needed exercising and there was no track for it to get action upon. City pride stirred up a local saloonkeeper, who, gambling being forbidden by city ordinance, flipped a coin with Colonel John for a matter of $100 a flip. The Los Angeles man, losing, proposed to double the stakes. The flip went wrong again and again the stakes were doubled, Col. John concluding himself satisfied with the sporty character of the village he had maligned when his losings had totaled up $800.

He might have lost more had he not have been compelled to depart to catch his train for Mexico. And then the saloonkeeper, because of the lack of gambling games, had to betake himself to a poker game, at which he lost all he had gained of Bradbury.

POCKET ARTILLERY BARRED.

It cost John C. Merry, a Los Angeles mining man, $25 to learn that Tucson had passed beyond the Wild West period and that cannon no longer are considered as necessary or even ornamental in good society. Merry came in from Sonora, possessed of a large revolver, which he proudly wore at his hip while he picked his way along the trails through the muddy streets. He met with two Arizona Rangers who, mistaking him for some outlaw, "covered" him with their guns, disarmed him and took him off to jail. Justice of the Peace Gildea, beside imposing the fine, confiscated the revolver and told the Angeleño that he might consider himself fortunate that the cost was not $100. Merry has not become reconciled to that view of the case, however.

TONTO DAM TIDINGS.

Late advices from the Tonto Basin Dam, near Globe, are that the cement mill will begin operations this week and will be run at full capacity as soon as the shipments of Bakersfield oil commence to arrive. The upper ten miles of the power canal are practically complete. The remaining stretch of nine miles will be done in four months. The most serious engineering obstacle to speedy completion will be the construction of two five-foot pressure pipes, of concrete, 2400 feet long, under Pinto Creek. Excavations are being made for the power-houses below the dam, that will house machinery for the development of 7500-horsepower. The total horsepower generated at the dam and in the secondary works below will be 17,500. Work at and around the dam has been much impeded by the high water in Salt River. The main road out of Roosevelt has been ten feet under water, while the road to Globe has been too soft to permit the hauling of oil.

TERRITORIAL BRIEFS.

John F. Harcourt is out of jail. He has given bond in the sum of $2000, with the Spires brothers as sureties. Harcourt is still debonair, despite his two months in jail.

W. E. Beck, best known as "Cyclone Bill," who went to Solomonville to be made a justice of the peace for his home town of Clifton and managed to get into jail for 100 days instead, has been released on a writ of habeas corpus. Beck has spent his time in jail in writing an autobiography, covering his twenty years of exciting life in the Southwest.

Special Agent Watson of the Interior Department is investigating a number of timber depredation cases in the Huachuca Mountains of Cochise. It is alleged that serious land frauds have been committed at the instance of mining companies.

Santa Teresa did not make good in her prophecy that a greater flood than ever was to come to Clifton last Friday. The Mexican population took to the hills, but no considerable rise of the San Francisco River materialized. The Gila is up, however, to the highest point ever known, taking away every bridge along its course. Clifton, Globe and Phoenix are cut off from southern connection.

A Paris dispatch says the Council of Ministers has decided to accept the proposed change in the bill providing for the separation of church and state whereby religious processions hereafter will be prohibited. It has been decided not to accept the proposition whereby pensions for the aged clergy were to be cut off after the separation.

Cures Catarrhal Deafness.

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment by Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness which is often a result of catarrh Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane and the hearing begins to return at once. A few days' treatment will bring relief, and in thre or four weeks, according to the severity of the case, a cure will be accomplished.

Miss Weeks of Mattewan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly, and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath, which was so offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."

A complete outfit costs only $1, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime and weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists.

Druggists everywhere are authorized to refund the money should a Hyomei outfit and one extra bottle fail to afford relief. If the druggist from whom you bought does not care to do this, mail the inhaler to the R. T. Booth Co., Ithaca, N. Y., and they will refund the money at once. Mail orders for Hyomei promptly filled on receipt of price.

I have been treated by Dr. Schiffman for years. I have tried all his different methods, and can say unhesitatingly no dentist or physician has ever operated with such success or skill. In extracting my teeth he did it without any pain to me. It is a great pleasure to me to recommend him and his method of treatment. MILO M. POTTER, Prop. Van Nuys Hotel, L. A., and Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara.

Ten years ago a reputable dentist of Virginia told me that a certain molar tooth could not be satisfactorily saved, and that it would probably not be of service for one year. It has served me for ten years, as Dr. Schiffman saved and crowned it, and comparatively speaking, without pain. I sing his praise.
OWEN M. ANDREWS,
Pastor M. E. Church, South, Cor. 8th and Mateo sts.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth I became a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain. D. K. TRASK,
Judge Superior Court, Los Angeles.

Several years ago Dr. Schiffman did some crown work for me which has proven entirely satisfactory. The work was done painlessly and with great skill. It gives me great pleasure to recommend him. IRVING R. SMITH,
L. A. Times.

It is with great pleasure that I state that I have had several teeth filled by Dr. Schiffman and that he killed and extracted the nerve and filled the root of one of my teeth and put on a porcelain crown, which cannot be distinguished from a natural tooth, all of which was done without pain.

THOMAS FLEES FROM SHERIFF.

BODY OF DOYLE IS EXHUMED FOR AN AUTOPSY.

Alleged Will of Doyle, Which Disappeared from Public Administrator's, Declared to be in Thomas's Handwriting — Mother Threatens to Shoot Prisoner.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sheriff Ralphs is looking for M. F. Thomas, for whom a warrant has been issued charging him with the murder of Col. John N. Doyle, the aged pioneer who was found shot through the abdomen in his lonely cabin in Cajon Pass four weeks ago.

Thomas made the grewsome discovery, notifying a neighbor named Parker, who immediately suspected foul play, notwithstanding the verdict of the Coroner's jury that death was accidental.

When the Public Administrator took charge of Doyle's ranch Thomas gave him a document purporting to be an alleged will entirely executed by Doyle, in which he cut off his natural heirs with $1 each, bequeathing his estate to Thomas. This document was carefully compared by a ranchman named Parker with specimens of Thomas's and Doyle's handwriting, and Parker states that the Public Administrator and his attorney agreed with him (Parker) and his wife that the body of the will was in Thomas's handwriting, although the signature was Doyle's.

The Sheriff then ascertained that Doyle had notified his bankers not to cash any check that might bear his signature, as he had signed something the nature of which he did not know, Thomas having secured his signature, claiming he was signing simply a letter to Thomas's sister. This "letter" is supposed to be the alleged will. The Sheriff demanded of the Public Administrator that he produce the will, but was informed it had been lost, and is still missing.

Sunday the Sheriff went to Doyle's cabin after Thomas, who was heard to be chopping wood in the kitchen. He was apprised of the Sheriff's approach by the barking of a small dog, and took to the brush, coatless, and has not been near the cabin since. His flight and other strong circumstantial evidence led the Sheriff to exhume the body of Doyle this afternoon, and an autopsy will be held tomorrow morning.

In the meantime a warrant for Thomas is out, and every effort is being made to apprehend him. He comes of a good family here. Formerly he was City Marshal here, and has until now borne a fairly good reputation.

WOMAN THREATENS PRISONER.

"I'll kill that man the first opportunity I get," exclaimed Mrs. Mae Sheehan as she left the Courthouse late last night. It was after a star chamber session of court, during which her little daughter was placed under a severe cross-examination. The proceedings were the wind-up of the preliminary examination of J. W. Rector, charged with criminal assault. The prisoner was held for trial with bonds fixed at $2500.

Several times in the course of the hearing Mrs. Sheehan cast threatening glances toward the prisoner, who stands in constant dread of her, but the officers were careful to give her no opportunity to carry her threat into execution.

It is reported that she has secured another revolver, and there is strong likelihood that she will attempt to use it when the case is called for trial in the Superior Court.

Her last attempt was frustrated by the Sheriff, who disarmed her as she was making for the courtroom where Rector had just been taken.

RIVERSIDE.

PENPHRASE A PUZZLE.

RIVERSIDE, March 2.—Two physicians are unable to determine whether John S. Penprase is insane or merely afflicted with a rather severe attack of general cussedness. Penprase is 70, and his wife is about twenty-five years his junior. On her complaint, Penprase was arrested on an insanity charge, and Drs. Holland and Curl examined him this morning. The old man was wily, and gave small tokens of a disordered mind. His case was thereupon continued until next Tuesday. Mrs. Penprase complains that her husband is singularly virile in the matter of profanity, but is not disposed to do manual labor, compelling her to milk a dozen cows very day while he figures in a merely administrative capacity.

PRIZE RECIPE CONTEST.

The voting in the cooking contest this week is the most spirited of any week since the contest commenced. The recipes most in favor, judged by the number of coupons voted up to last night, are No. 8, banana and nut salad; No. 38, Japanese salad, and No. 40, lobster salad. The votes received today may give the prizes to some others than the three named. Five dollars cash will be paid for the one receiving the most votes, $3 for the second highest, and $1 for the third. Cut the coupon from last Sunday's Times, page 6, part VI, and vote it for your favorite among the recipes printed last Sunday. All votes must be in by tonight. Another installment of delicious salad recipes will appear in next Sunday's Times. Cash prizes will be paid for the best three as before.

MT. LOWE SOUVENIR.

Unique among advertising novelties is a Mt. Lowe souvenir just issued by the Pacific Electric Railway. Printed on thin cardboard, that folds like a coupon ticket, it bears on one side photographic reproductions of views along the line of the mountain railroad from Los Angeles to the summit, while on the reverse side is a description of the route. The novelty was designed by H. S. Knedler, advertising and industrial agent of the line.

BURGLARY AT HOTEL.

Guest of the Netherlands Reports Loss of Money, but Management Makes Denial.

The room of one of the guests at Hotel Netherlands, No. 1253 West Seventh street, was visited by a burglar last night during the temporary absence of the tenant, who reported the loss of a considerable sum of money. At least a message to that effect was sent to the detectives' office, police headquarters, and Detective Steele was sent out on the case.

Steele did not return to the Police Station, but reported by telephone that there had been a burglary and that a considerable amount of money had been stolen.

Despite this official report, those in charge of the hotel denied later that there had been any loss of money or other thing of value; stated that there was nothing to be made public, and that until the matter had been fully investigated they would refuse to make any statement. In the next breath the person who had been asked for information stated that a certain sum of money had been lost, but insisted that it might have been misplaced and therefore there was nothing to be said until a search had been made.

From another source the information was obtained that one of the rooms in the hotel had been entered by a sneak thief and that a sum of money amounting to more than $100 had been stolen.

ENDEAVOR WORK GIVEN A BOOM.

CITY UNION INSTALLS OFFICERS AT BIG MEETING.

Young Christians Hold Final Local Meeting Prior to County Convention Today at Long Beach—Debt Lifted. Programme of Gathering at Seaside This Afternoon and Evening.

An enthusiastic gathering of earnest, active young Christians was that of the Los Angeles City Union of Christian Endeavor Societies, held last night in the Immanuel Presbyterian Church. The Sunday-school assembly room was filled with representatives from forty-seven local societies, and the city Endeavor work was given a decided impetus, while the county convention, which assembles today at Long Beach, doubtless will feel the uplift of the enthusiasm manifested last night.

The Endeavorers represented a constituency of nearly 2000 members, in which nearly all the Protestant denominations had part. The occasion was the installation of the officers of the City Union for the ensuing year.

The installation services were conducted by the State Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, Rev. W. T. Patchell of San José, who also gave an inspiring talk.

The officers installed are as follows: President, Arthur C. Brown; first vice-president, George R. Hamilton; second vice-president, Kelso R. Glover; recording secretary, Miss Flora Sherman; corresponding secretary, Miss Clara P. Hassler; treasurer, George R. Wood.

The meeting opened with the singing of gospel hymns and an invocation by Rev. Mr. Hanna. Paul C. Brown then took charge of the financial affairs, and raised a debt which long has been hanging over the union.

Short addresses were made by Rev. W. T. Patchell, D. A. Schweitzer, president of the County Union, and others, and the detailing of plans for securing the national Christian Endeavor convention for Los Angeles in 1907 evoked interest. R. R. Patterson of San Francisco, State statistical secretary, and W. N. Jenkins of Oakland, State general secretary, spoke of the good prospects of securing this gathering for the Coast.

During the evening Mrs. Paul C. Brown gave a solo, and Mr. Parker rendered a violin selection. After the installtaion there was an informal reception by the new officers.

This afternoon at 3:25 o'clock the County Endeavor convention will open in the Christian Church at Long Beach. It is expected there will be a large attendance from all parts of the county, as ninety-five Endeavor societies are interested in this work. The programme for today is as follows:

AFTERNOON.

Prayer and praise service, led by Rev. Lindley A. Wells, Long Beach; opening of convention, president D. A. Schweitzer, Los Angeles; address of welcome, Rev. Grant K. Lewis, Long Beach; response for county, Rev. Josiah Sibley, Azusa; solo, "Like as the Heart Desireth," Miss Ione Garfield, Long Beach; address, "Pro Christo et Ecclesia," Rev. Wm. Horace Day, Los Angeles; reports of county Christian Endeavor officers and superintendents.

Song service, led by Dr. A. T. Covert, Long Beach; devotional service, Leon V. Shaw, State president; solo, "King of Kings," Miss Marie E. Paine; floating "stereopticon talk," O. D. Conrey, Los Angeles; address, "The Coffee Club Association," Paul C. Brown, president Los Angeles Coffee Club Association, Los Angeles; Santa Barbara and Baltimore conventions, Leon V. Shaw; song, "Abide with Me" (J. A. Parks,) Treble Clef Club, Long Beach; solo, "Fear Not Ye, O Israel" (Dudley Buck,) Mrs. Maude Lyons, Boston; address, "Why I Like Christian Endeavor," Rev. Malcolm McLeod, Pasadena.

NO UNION ON STATEHOOD.

Conferees Again Fail to Agree on the Bill and There is No Prospect of It.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Numerous conferences on the Statehood Bill today again failed to bring about an agreement by which legislation for either one or two States may be held at the present session. The conferees adjourned until tomorrow at 11 a.m., without any proposition having been advised during the day that even approaches promise of ultimately compromising the difficulties.

For several days the Senate conferees have been proceeding on the idea that it might be possible to get an agreement for the acceptance of the House bill for two States, with the amendment by Senator Foraker, making it possible for either Arizona or New Mexico to reject the Constitution. Now this plan has been practically abandoned, because of opposition in both houses.

BEER BOYCOTT.

Union Labor Soaks Place Ban on Output of Local Brewery That Would Not Wear Yoke.

The union-labor beer soaks of Los Angeles have declared a boycott against the output of the Maier & Zobelein brewery of this city.

Failing in their efforts to have the "totem" blown into the feathery froth that forms part of their daily life, the guzzlers have branded that particular brew of amber fluid "unfair."

This action against Maier & Zobelein was taken by the Central Labor Council because the brewers employed unfettered non-union men in the erection of additions to their plant.

Threats of dire vengeance from the union ranks failed to move the brewers, who would hear to no dictation in the conduct of their business.

Frantic pleas and the bludgeon of a contemplated boycott were equally ineffective and the aggregation of booze fighters finally played its last card by declaring the boycott.

The ukase has gone out to all union boozers to bathe their noses and wet their throats only with "fair" beer and to hold their meetings only at such saloons as do not handle the product of the Maier & Zobelein brewery.

It is said that a movement is under way to prevent union bartenders from handling the beer that has been declared objectionable.

If the soaks can hold off long enough from their daily potions of beer they may take temporary interest in the anti-saloon campaign that is being waged.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

ASSAULT AGAIN ON J. H. HALL.

JEWELER SUFFERS A SECOND ATTACK FROM M'KELVEY.

Victim So Seriously Hurt That He is Sent Home in a Carriage—Prof. E. M. Rugby, Former Choirmaster, Charged With Bigamy, Brought Back from Pennsylvania.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 26 South Raymond avenue, March 2.—J. Herbert Hall, the East Colorado-street jeweler, president of the Merchants' Protective Association, director of the Y.M.C.A. and prominent church member, was assaulted yesterday evening and severely beaten by another jeweler, A. B. McKelvey, and it is stated by bystanders that the assault was a most dastardly, cowardly and uncalled-for one. Following as it does closely upon the heels of another case of fisticuffs between the two men in which Hall was vindicated, the case has aroused a great deal of indignation among Hall's friends, who urged that a warrant be sworn out for McKelvey's arrest. The victim was so seriously hurt that he had to be sent home in a carriage and his assailant is reported to have been so vicious and tenacious that he had to be pulled off by several men and held by them.

Hall was coming through Library Park from his home at No. 493 East Walnut street. McKelvey, who lives at the corner of Raymond avenue and Walnut street, happened to be coming along at the same time and overtook Hall in front of the undertaking parlor of Adams, Turner & Stevens at Holly street. Hall was on his way to attend a meeting of the directors of the Y.M.C.A., and was reading a paper as he walked along. It was dark, but the electric lights were on. As he neared the undertaking parlor, the president of the Merchants' Association was suddenly borne to the ground by his fellow-watchmaker, who made a spring from behind like an Indian tiger on an unwily native.

Not knowing what was happening to him, Hall tried to defend himself and his assailant rained blows thick and fast and finally got one of Hall's fingers in his mouth and nearly chewed it off. At this juncture several men jumped onto McKelvey in hopes of saving some remnant of the other fellow.

They came pretty near having to apply a match to the frenzied watchmaker's nose or bump his head against the pavement before he would realize that the round was over.

The trouble between Hall and McKelvey is of several weeks' standing. A short time ago McKelvey went to Hall's store and demanded that he apologize for something he had said to a certain customer. McKelvey alleged that Hall had accused him of altering the movement of a watch from fifteen jewels to eleven jewels and of having done this to create the impression that Hall misrepresented the watch in the first place. Hall endeavored to pacify his visitor, but to no avail evidently, for a little while later the two jewelers met by accident in the rear of Hall's store and McKelvey renewed the quarrel. Hall being a man of peace, and seeing that trouble was coming, stepped into his store and started to close the door. McKelvey followed him and kicked him and then Hall picked up a hatchet and ordered the belligerent away. McKelvey immediately, to the surprise of Hall and several witnesses of the affair, had his antagonist arrested on the charge of battery. In the meantime Hall's friends urged him to swear out a warrant, but he steadfastly declined, saying that he was a church member and an official of the merchants' organization, and he did not think it would look well for him to take a leading part in such an affair.

The case was set for trial and McKelvey got up a petition among the jewelers in an attempt to vindicate his proceedings. Several jewelers signed it, but afterward said they were sorry they did so. The upshot of the matter was that on the hour set for the trial McKelvey failed to appear and his attorney telephoned, asking that the case be dismissed. It is supposed that the incident was closed then and so it was until the interesting chapter added last evening.

BRILLIANT FUNCTION.

The largest and one of the most delightful functions of the winter was the dance which was given at the Valley Hunt Club yesterday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Hampton L. Story in honor of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Ripley, whose home is in Riverside, a suburb of Chicago.

No requisite of a perfect ball was lacking; the music, furnished by an orchestra of six pieces, was of the best; the floor was all that could be desired; there were more than enough men for every woman who wished to dance.

The large ballroom of the clubhouse was decorated with trailing vines of asparagus plumosus, ferns and potted plants, and at intervals were hung from the ceilings great baskets of ferns and white carnations. The refreshment room was similarly treated, and an elaborate collation was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Story were assisted by receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Ripley. Mrs. Story wore black velvet with a garniture of point lace and Mrs. Ripley was charming in a delicate blue chiffon gown made over silk and daintily trimmed in lace.

All the dancing people of Pasadena's four hundred were included in the invitation list, and many from Los Angeles.

LESSER BITS.

Mrs. C. H. Hobart, wife of the Prohibition nominee for Mayor, says that she does not believe her husband will accept the honor. At present Rev. Mr. Hobart is out of town. Luckily the Prohibitionists have provided a committee to fill vancancies.

Benjamin C. Brown, the artist, has issued invitations to his exhibitions of oil paintings at No. 49 South Raymond avenue. There will be a press view today from 2:30 to 5 p.m., and a public exhibition during March and April.

In answer to the unfounded rumor that Senator Hahn is a candidate for the Superior Judgeship, Hahn telegraphed yesterday: "Not candidate; my business affairs will not permit of accepting any appointments."

Ralph Parlette will lecture in the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium tonight on "Weighed in the Balance," under the auspices of the Throop Athletic Association.

Editor Baker of the Engineering News recently visited the Pasadena sewer farm and closely inspected it.

City Assessor Hopkins has estimated the assessed valuation of city property at between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000. It was only $12,000,000 last year.

In the Throop tennis tournament yesterday Parish Barker defeated Claude Braden 6-2, Fred Listikow beat Ed Kraft 6-0, 6-0.

The "Inaugural Market" is to be presented in the parlors of the Presbyterian Church tonight under the auspices of the King's Daughters.

PROF. RUGBY COMES BACK.

Chief of Police Freeman returned tonight from Scranton, Pa., with Prof. E. M. Rugby, accused of bigamy. Rugby was formerly choirmaster of the Christian church here, and married Loretta Campbell. Afterward Rugby disappeared, and it was learned that he was living in Scranton, Pa., under the name of J. S. McMurray with a wife he had married there. His Pasadena wife swore out a warrant, on which he was arrested and brought back.

Rugby is morose and non-communicative. His Pasadena wife declares it is her purpose to prosecute the case vigorously. The preliminary examination has been set for Saturday.

ATHLETES ARE READY.

Elaborate preparations are being made by local athletes for the field meet which is to be held at Tournament Park Saturday afternoon between Occidental College and Pasadena Y.M.C.A. track teams. The boys expect to have a brass band on the grounds to enliven things. Most of the local entries are Throop and High School boys.

WILL TALK WATER.

The directors of the Board of Trade will meet this morning at 9 o'clock to receive the report of their committee, Harry Gohegan, H. R. Hertel and J. B. Baumgartner, on the municipal water question. It is said that the report will show that the Council's bid for the property of the two leading water companies is considerably below the figures and estimates furnished by the engineers and approved by the Appraisal Committee. The report will also present an unqualified indorsement of the city's proposition to the water companies, viz., the offer of $1,000,000, approximately.

Plans for the proposed septic tank and pumping station to be used by the city of Ocean Park embrace a tank 28x164 feet, constructed of reënforced concrete and sunk thirteen feet below the surface. ANTELOPE VALLEY

ALKALI LAKE FILLS.

LANCASTER, March 2.—Just over the mountains north of Los Angeles and high up in the next range is situated a lake, one and a half miles in length and a mile in width, and when full of water thirty-two feet in depth. For four years it has been dry. Its bottom was covered with snow-white alkali dust previous to the wet season which began in January, but it is again a real lake.

Numerous springs on the hillsides have kept the lake supplied during several droughts of two or three years, but a seven-year dry spell such as the last one has been was too much even for the springs.

The lake drains an area of about ten square miles, and round about are farms, fruit orchards and large pasture fields of cienega. The inhabitants are Spanish, principally. White settlers are not welcomed. The rich pastures are priced too high for purchase.

Fish cannot live in this lake, owing to the strong alkali, but wild ducks are numerous in winter and spring, making their nests in the tule swamps. Los Angeles gun clubs are familiar with the abundance of game, and reach the lake by wagon from Newhall, going up San Francisquito Cañon.

TWENTY INCHES OF RAIN.

The rainfall in this vicinity has been 20 inches since January 1.

CATALINA ISLAND.

GOLF HANDICAP NARROWS.

AVALON, March 2.—The men's open handicap competition has narrowed to De Witt, McAfee, Dwyer and G. Cox. Two of these willl be eliminated this afternoon, and tomorrow the remaining two two will compete in eighteen-hole match for the championship.

The fish are not biting so well the past day or two, but the prospects are that this warm weather will coax the yellowtail and white sea bass from their winter lairs into the shallow waters of the bays. One of the latter, weighing 55 pounds, was taken yesterday at the point of Avalon Bay.

Travel to Avalon now is heavier than in any previous year at this date. The increase is attributed in part to faster steamer service.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Taggart, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Peck, Mrs. Charles H. Getman, F. H. Getman, Henry Phipps Ross, Mrs. Ross and maid, is a party of Boston people at the Metropole.

Mrs. C. J. Beggs of San José and Miss Anna B. Douglas of Los Angeles are at the Grand View.

These were accompanied by Past Grand Matron Chloe Routzahn of Los Angeles, Past Grand Patron Heard of Nebraska and a number of other grand and past grand officers and delegations from various chapters. SANTA MONICA.

SAY GAS ISN'T HOT AIR.

SANTA MONICA, March 2.—It looked for a few days as if the projected new gas company was a hot air concern, but those doubts were removed today when the promoters of the enterprise deposited a certified check of $300 with the City Clerk. This is construed as an earnest that the new company means business. It permits the city to go ahead and advertise the franchise. The date of the sale of the franchise has been fixed for April 10. The company is coninuing the solicitation of contracts from prospective users of gas and promises to have a plant in operation here by July 1, prepared to serve gas for light and fuel. The laying of the mains it is promised will ve commenced with no delay.

MOLOKANES STRANDED.

Small Party of Russian Quakers Arrives With Indefinite Idea as to Destination.

Tired and worn with travel, a party of Molokanes, the Russian Quakers or "milk drinkers," who already are represented here in large numbers, was stranded last night at Arcade Station.

Five men, two women and two small children comprise the party. Not one spoke English, and the leader had but an indefinite idea as to their destination.

Simply through chance, the Russians met a countryman, who was able to act as interpreter. This man at first supposed the party had come to join the local colony, but could gain no clear understanding of the aims of the travelers.

The leader of the little group said his party had traveled for forty days over land and sea from the Caucasus to escape conditions in Russia that were intolerable to them.

Members of the party said they understood they were to stop at Los Angeles, but they held tickets indicating their destination to be Redding.

Late at night the interpreter and the leader set out for the local headquarters of the Russians in quest of enlightenment, while the remainder of the men, in heavy overcoats, caps, and top boots, and the women in queer waists and short woolen skirts awaited their return.
